

OUR FRIENDS,
Subscribers and Advertisers,
Meet Through To-Day's Paper

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

THE WANT MEDIUM
Of St. Louis Is
The Post-Dispatch—
THE PEOPLE'S PAPER.

VOL. 48. NO. 98.

ST. LOUIS, SUNDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 15, 1896—THIRTY-SIX PAGES.

PRICE FIVE CENTS.

Do Your Shopping This Week With Advertisers in To-Day's Post-Dispatch.

GIANT OF TRADE AT LAST AWAKE.

ST. LOUIS THE CHOSEN HOME OF THE BRODIGNAGIAN.

AN EMPIRE IS TRIBUTARY.

Under the Impulse of Present Conditions the Mound City Will Be Queen of the West.

The smoke of the great political battle of 1896 is clearing away. The bitter animosities aroused by the intensity of the conflict are yielding to the softening influences of common sense. Time is making the victor generous, the vanquished reconciled, and a mighty people are settling down once more to the steady, earnest routine of business and social life.

The battle is over. The policy of the Government has been determined in its general outlines. From the cities and manufacturing towns the hum of reviving trade is heard. The dinner pail well filled again, is seen once more in the morning march to factories awaiting the eager hands of labor to supply the people's wants.

Few will deny the brightness of the prospect which is opening out before the country. Aside from the financial question in politics, settled for the nonce, there are other conditions obtaining which justify the optimism so rampant among business men from Maine to California, from Minnesota to the mouth of the Mississippi. They see not only a restored confidence among the moneyed men of the world, but the timid little lenders are bolding their heads, but that golden stream of dollars pouring across the broad Atlantic from our European neighbors to pay us for our wheat, our corn, our cotton.

Europe's loss is our gain. The balance of trade is strongly in our favor. No nation will long see hard times that can keep England and Europe as debtors.

In this general wave of prosperity which is just beginning to sweep the country St. Louis is bound to reap a greater benefit than any other city. It is necessary for the people and the press of any town, no matter how large or small it may be or where it may be situated, to speak of the especial chances for success of their own community and descent upon the glorious opportunities afforded it. Sometimes what is said is true, but often it is but the clap-trap of advertising, with no more basis of fact than have the gaudy posters of a one-ring circus.

But the position of St. Louis in the next few years is assured. It requires but a plain statement of facts to show just wherein lie her strength and the possibilities of her future growth.

Prosperity is at her very door. She has but to bring it and it is here.

Leaving for the moment the business methods which have obtained among the men of this city it is well to look at the geographical location of St. Louis. Herein lies a great potential secret.

To the South is the land of cotton, a staple rising now in price. Arkansas, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Texas are feeling the thrill of a revival. Cotton mills are jumping up all over these States so that the cotton commerce of New England is badly shaken and even England's supremacy in this line in South America is not without its dangers.

To the Southwest in Oklahoma, Indian Territory, in the Texas Panhandle, millions of cattle are grazing and the prices of meat and hides are going up.

To the West and all about us the great wheat-raising States are lifting their heads eagerly with the heavy advance in their staple. Corn and oats, too, have jumped a little. The export demand for these three cereals is heavier than in years.

Cotton, corn, wheat, oats, the commodities which have thrown the balance of trade in favor of America, are products of the States tributary to St. Louis. Their prosperity is St. Louis' prosperity for this is the wholesale point of distribution for all that territory.

Look for a moment at the St. Louis exports of wheat, corn and oats for 1896 as compared with 1895. In all of 1895 438,614 bushels of wheat were sent abroad from this port; in the first ten months of 1896 the total was 1,658,531. Of corn in 1895 St. Louis exported 1,251,903 bushels; in the first ten months of 1896 the total reached 4,977,401. Or we not a bushel was sent abroad in all of 1895 in the first ten months of 1896 438,533 bushels.

The grain men of this city insist that with the deepening of the Mississippi River channel so that boats may run all the year round, this export trade will increase, and the Government is now at work building dredge boats with a view to answering these demands.

The Southwest is to-day the least developed section of America. Its natural resources are tremendous, and just now thousands of energetic workers are pouring in upon it, eager to build up fortunes for them-selves.

The statistics of the United States Post Office Department show that the Southwest is growing more rapidly than any other part of the country. Especially is this true of the Indian Territory, Oklahoma and Texas.

There are room and resources here for a great commercial empire. Its building up is now in progress with St. Louis as its heart to keep its business life blood throb- ing just as Chicago has been for the great Northwest, whose rapid development in advance of the Southwest was the secret of the Windy City's victory over St. Louis in the race for the supremacy of this West.

The possibilities of St. Louis' growth as the result of trade with Mexico should not be overlooked. The Southern Republic has developed with remarkable rapidity under the strong government of President Diaz. Business with the United States has been steadily on the increase and St. Louis merchants have not been slow in recognizing the ### ST. LOUIS ALWAYS TO THE FRONT.

Uncle Sam's Most Substantial City Is First to Start the Wheels of Commerce and Usher in the Coming Prosperity.

JOB FOR CARLISLE.

He Has Been Offered the Position of President of a Loan and Trust Company.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Secretary Carlisle has been offered, it is said on excellent authority, the position of President of one of the largest trust companies in the country. He has accepted the offer, and will take charge of his new office in this city on his retirement from the Treasury Department. The identity of the company cannot be ascertained, and Logan Carlisle is said to be the man who has not heard of the proposal.

Another great factor which will contribute to this city's growth is the change toward it in the disposition of the railroads.

For many years St. Louis was discriminated against in the matter of freight rates.

Chicago was the favored city. Any favors that were distributed by the railroads went to the Illinois city. Even now the charge is made that Chicago still has a little of the best of it, but St. Louis is being treated better year by year, and there is every reason to believe that there is still more to hope for.

The report is true. It is known that Mr. Carlisle does not want to remain in public life and that he is looking forward to a release from his public duties in order to devote his time to his private affairs. The salary attached to the new office that he can assume, he is said to be considerably larger than that of his old office, and this alone, it is thought, will be a weighty inducement for him to accept.

The talk about his possible return to the Senate is not given much weight by his friends in Washington. They point out that even if the way was clear for the Secretary to return to the Senate, his desire to retire to private life is so strong that unless it could be made to appear that a free silver man would be chosen Senator if he did not accept, he would not countenance any move on the part of his friends to secure his election. But the Republicans have a majority of one in the Kentucky Legislature and there is no reason to believe that they will not improve their advantage and elect a Republican to succeed Senator Blackburn.

However, that conservatism which has been the basic guiding principle in St. Louis trade prevented any collapse. The depression found the interests here in such shape that all but a few weathered the storm. With many it was a hard struggle, but the reward of their carefulness was victory.

But the test of time has proven the wisdom of St. Louis methods. There have been no booms here, but there has been a steady growth in all the lines of trade. The stringency of 1893, perhaps, presented an over-confidence which, if let run on, might have brought the same disaster here which worked the sooner in other cities.

There is reason, however, to believe that the report is true. It is known that Mr. Carlisle does not want to remain in public life and that he is looking forward to a release from his public duties in order to devote his time to his private affairs. The salary attached to the new office that he can assume, he is said to be considerably larger than that of his old office, and this alone, it is thought, will be a weighty inducement for him to accept.

The talk about his possible return to the Senate is not given much weight by his friends in Washington. They point out that even if the way was clear for the Secretary to return to the Senate, his desire to retire to private life is so strong that unless it could be made to appear that a free silver man would be chosen Senator if he did not accept, he would not countenance any move on the part of his friends to secure his election. But the Republicans have a majority of one in the Kentucky Legislature and there is no reason to believe that they will not improve their advantage and elect a Republican to succeed Senator Blackburn.

However, that conservatism which has been the basic guiding principle in St. Louis trade prevented any collapse. The depression found the interests here in such shape that all but a few weathered the storm. With many it was a hard struggle, but the reward of their carefulness was victory.

But the test of time has proven the wisdom of St. Louis methods. There have been no booms here, but there has been a steady growth in all the lines of trade. The stringency of 1893, perhaps, presented an over-confidence which, if let run on, might have brought the same disaster here which worked the sooner in other cities.

There is reason, however, to believe that the report is true. It is known that Mr. Carlisle does not want to remain in public life and that he is looking forward to a release from his public duties in order to devote his time to his private affairs. The salary attached to the new office that he can assume, he is said to be considerably larger than that of his old office, and this alone, it is thought, will be a weighty inducement for him to accept.

The talk about his possible return to the Senate is not given much weight by his friends in Washington. They point out that even if the way was clear for the Secretary to return to the Senate, his desire to retire to private life is so strong that unless it could be made to appear that a free silver man would be chosen Senator if he did not accept, he would not countenance any move on the part of his friends to secure his election. But the Republicans have a majority of one in the Kentucky Legislature and there is no reason to believe that they will not improve their advantage and elect a Republican to succeed Senator Blackburn.

However, that conservatism which has been the basic guiding principle in St. Louis trade prevented any collapse. The depression found the interests here in such shape that all but a few weathered the storm. With many it was a hard struggle, but the reward of their carefulness was victory.

But the test of time has proven the wisdom of St. Louis methods. There have been no booms here, but there has been a steady growth in all the lines of trade. The stringency of 1893, perhaps, presented an over-confidence which, if let run on, might have brought the same disaster here which worked the sooner in other cities.

There is reason, however, to believe that the report is true. It is known that Mr. Carlisle does not want to remain in public life and that he is looking forward to a release from his public duties in order to devote his time to his private affairs. The salary attached to the new office that he can assume, he is said to be considerably larger than that of his old office, and this alone, it is thought, will be a weighty inducement for him to accept.

The talk about his possible return to the Senate is not given much weight by his friends in Washington. They point out that even if the way was clear for the Secretary to return to the Senate, his desire to retire to private life is so strong that unless it could be made to appear that a free silver man would be chosen Senator if he did not accept, he would not countenance any move on the part of his friends to secure his election. But the Republicans have a majority of one in the Kentucky Legislature and there is no reason to believe that they will not improve their advantage and elect a Republican to succeed Senator Blackburn.

However, that conservatism which has been the basic guiding principle in St. Louis trade prevented any collapse. The depression found the interests here in such shape that all but a few weathered the storm. With many it was a hard struggle, but the reward of their carefulness was victory.

But the test of time has proven the wisdom of St. Louis methods. There have been no booms here, but there has been a steady growth in all the lines of trade. The stringency of 1893, perhaps, presented an over-confidence which, if let run on, might have brought the same disaster here which worked the sooner in other cities.

There is reason, however, to believe that the report is true. It is known that Mr. Carlisle does not want to remain in public life and that he is looking forward to a release from his public duties in order to devote his time to his private affairs. The salary attached to the new office that he can assume, he is said to be considerably larger than that of his old office, and this alone, it is thought, will be a weighty inducement for him to accept.

The talk about his possible return to the Senate is not given much weight by his friends in Washington. They point out that even if the way was clear for the Secretary to return to the Senate, his desire to retire to private life is so strong that unless it could be made to appear that a free silver man would be chosen Senator if he did not accept, he would not countenance any move on the part of his friends to secure his election. But the Republicans have a majority of one in the Kentucky Legislature and there is no reason to believe that they will not improve their advantage and elect a Republican to succeed Senator Blackburn.

However, that conservatism which has been the basic guiding principle in St. Louis trade prevented any collapse. The depression found the interests here in such shape that all but a few weathered the storm. With many it was a hard struggle, but the reward of their carefulness was victory.

But the test of time has proven the wisdom of St. Louis methods. There have been no booms here, but there has been a steady growth in all the lines of trade. The stringency of 1893, perhaps, presented an over-confidence which, if let run on, might have brought the same disaster here which worked the sooner in other cities.

There is reason, however, to believe that the report is true. It is known that Mr. Carlisle does not want to remain in public life and that he is looking forward to a release from his public duties in order to devote his time to his private affairs. The salary attached to the new office that he can assume, he is said to be considerably larger than that of his old office, and this alone, it is thought, will be a weighty inducement for him to accept.

The talk about his possible return to the Senate is not given much weight by his friends in Washington. They point out that even if the way was clear for the Secretary to return to the Senate, his desire to retire to private life is so strong that unless it could be made to appear that a free silver man would be chosen Senator if he did not accept, he would not countenance any move on the part of his friends to secure his election. But the Republicans have a majority of one in the Kentucky Legislature and there is no reason to believe that they will not improve their advantage and elect a Republican to succeed Senator Blackburn.

However, that conservatism which has been the basic guiding principle in St. Louis trade prevented any collapse. The depression found the interests here in such shape that all but a few weathered the storm. With many it was a hard struggle, but the reward of their carefulness was victory.

But the test of time has proven the wisdom of St. Louis methods. There have been no booms here, but there has been a steady growth in all the lines of trade. The stringency of 1893, perhaps, presented an over-confidence which, if let run on, might have brought the same disaster here which worked the sooner in other cities.

There is reason, however, to believe that the report is true. It is known that Mr. Carlisle does not want to remain in public life and that he is looking forward to a release from his public duties in order to devote his time to his private affairs. The salary attached to the new office that he can assume, he is said to be considerably larger than that of his old office, and this alone, it is thought, will be a weighty inducement for him to accept.

The talk about his possible return to the Senate is not given much weight by his friends in Washington. They point out that even if the way was clear for the Secretary to return to the Senate, his desire to retire to private life is so strong that unless it could be made to appear that a free silver man would be chosen Senator if he did not accept, he would not countenance any move on the part of his friends to secure his election. But the Republicans have a majority of one in the Kentucky Legislature and there is no reason to believe that they will not improve their advantage and elect a Republican to succeed Senator Blackburn.

However, that conservatism which has been the basic guiding principle in St. Louis trade prevented any collapse. The depression found the interests here in such shape that all but a few weathered the storm. With many it was a hard struggle, but the reward of their carefulness was victory.

But the test of time has proven the wisdom of St. Louis methods. There have been no booms here, but there has been a steady growth in all the lines of trade. The stringency of 1893, perhaps, presented an over-confidence which, if let run on, might have brought the same disaster here which worked the sooner in other cities.

There is reason, however, to believe that the report is true. It is known that Mr. Carlisle does not want to remain in public life and that he is looking forward to a release from his public duties in order to devote his time to his private affairs. The salary attached to the new office that he can assume, he is said to be considerably larger than that of his old office, and this alone, it is thought, will be a weighty inducement for him to accept.

The talk about his possible return to the Senate is not given much weight by his friends in Washington. They point out that even if the way was clear for the Secretary to return to the Senate, his desire to retire to private life is so strong that unless it could be made to appear that a free silver man would be chosen Senator if he did not accept, he would not countenance any move on the part of his friends to secure his election. But the Republicans have a majority of one in the Kentucky Legislature and there is no reason to believe that they will not improve their advantage and elect a Republican to succeed Senator Blackburn.

However, that conservatism which has been the basic guiding principle in St. Louis trade prevented any collapse. The depression found the interests here in such shape that all but a few weathered the storm. With many it was a hard struggle, but the reward of their carefulness was victory.

But the test of time has proven the wisdom of St. Louis methods. There have been no booms here, but there has been a steady growth in all the lines of trade. The stringency of 1893, perhaps, presented an over-confidence which, if let run on, might have brought the same disaster here which worked the sooner in other cities.

There is reason, however, to believe that the report is true. It is known that Mr. Carlisle does not want to remain in public life and that he is looking forward to a release from his public duties in order to devote his time to his private affairs. The salary attached to the new office that he can assume, he is said to be considerably larger than that of his old office, and this alone, it is thought, will be a weighty inducement for him to accept.

The talk about his possible return to the Senate is not given much weight by his friends in Washington. They point out that even if the way was clear for the Secretary to return to the Senate, his desire to retire to private life is so strong that unless it could be made to appear that a free silver man would be chosen Senator if he did not accept, he would not countenance any move on the part of his friends to secure his election. But the Republicans have a majority of one in the Kentucky Legislature and there is no reason to believe that they will not improve their advantage and elect a Republican to succeed Senator Blackburn.

However, that conservatism which has been the basic guiding principle in St. Louis trade prevented any collapse. The depression found the interests here in such shape that all but a few weathered the storm. With many it was a hard struggle, but the reward of their carefulness was victory.

But the test of

REST FOR BRYAN IN THE OZARKS.

DEMOCRACY'S LEADER WILL HUNT AND FISH AND SLEEP.

POLITICAL TALK IS BARRED.

Names of the Men Who Will Spend the Days Far From the Madding Crowd's Ignoble Strife.

Hon. William J. Bryan will be in St. Louis to-morrow night.

His visit will be as unostentatious as those other visits which endeared him to the people during the campaign.

He will come alone and will remain in the city a very short time.

Mr. Bryan will board a Missouri Pacific train at Lincoln, Neb., at 9:15 to-night and a few minutes later he will be speeded toward St. Louis.

There will be a short stop at Kansas City en route, the train will reach St. Louis at 6:15 o'clock to-morrow night.

The people's champion will endeavor to keep himself as secluded as possible, but there is no doubt that many of his admirers will be at the big station, satisfied if they can only catch a glimpse of him who was their leader, and is their leader still.

If the present plans are carried out, Mr. Bryan will not leave Union Station during his brief stay. He will probably take supper there before continuing his journey.

When last here Mr. Bryan was in the midst of the greatest campaign ever made by mortal man and terribly in earnest.

This time he comes on pleasure bent.

If any man ever needed relaxation that man is Mr. William J. Bryan, and it is evidently fitting that he and that relaxation in grand old Missouri, the State which gave him the biggest majority she ever rolled up for a Presidential candidate.

From St. Louis Mr. Bryan will go to the heart of the Ozarks for a two weeks' hunting and fishing outing.

On election night Gov. Stone and Col. M. C. Wetmore sent a telegram to Mr. Bryan at Lincoln, Neb. They reminded Mr. Bryan that, whatever the result of the election, he would need rest, and invited him to join them in a hunting and fishing expedition to Taney County, Mo.

Engrossed as he was, Mr. Bryan wired back his acceptance of the invitation.

The spot which Mr. Bryan and his party will visit is the most picturesque in Missouri.

The two weeks will be spent on a 1,000-acre game reserve in the country.

It is owned by Col. M. C. Wetmore, C. E. Hallwell and J. P. Litten of St. Louis, and George H. McCann of Springfield, Mo. There is a magnificent hunting lodge in the mountains forty miles from the nearest railroad station, Chadwick, on the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf Railway.

The preserve is splendidly stocked with deer, bear, turkey and quail. There is a herd of 500 elk and squirrels, coons and opossums innumerable. The White River, famous the country over as a fishing place, passes through the preserve.

The party will leave on the Frisco at 8:30 to-morrow night. At Springfield, Mo., the party will take the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf Railroad. From there the trip to the lodges will be made in wagons.

The party will be made up as follows:

Hon. William J. Bryan, Gov. William J. Stone, Senator James K. Jones of Arkansas, Congressman Daniel W. Carpenter of Michigan, George H. McCann, Springfield, Mo.; Hon. Sam R. Cook of Mexico, Mo.; Major Harvey W. Salmon of Clinton, Mo., and Col. M. C. Wetmore of St. Louis.

The party will travel in a Pullman car engaged by Col. Wetmore.

Col. Wetmore said last night that the first man who mentioned politics while on the trip would be put on a diet of bread and water during the entire stay in the Ozarks.

The party will not be hampered by impediments, as there is a splendid hunting and fishing outfit on the grounds.

ARKANSAS BAPTISTS.

Dr. Whitwell Came In for Reproof for Heretical Expressions.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 14.—The second day's session of the Arkansas Baptist Association began this morning at 8 o'clock.

A stir in the convention was created by the introduction of a resolution condemnatory of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary of Louisville, Ky., for utterances in the press at variance with the principles of scriptural truth. Dr. Whitwell again pointed out that the convention would discontinue further material co-operation with such teaching or receive his entire connection with the seminary.

Anticipating such antagonism on the part of the association, Dr. Whitwell had written to the seminary to defend him, who will be granted a hearing to-morrow.

New A. E. Burton, Assistant Secretary of Foreign Missions of Richmond, Va., delivered an elaborate address on foreign missions.

After much business of minor importance, the convention adjourned until to-morrow morning.

Candidate for Enrolling Clerk.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 14.—The Republicans are determined to hold a meeting of thinking men in the house of extricating themselves from the dangerous factional fight into which they are being forced by the Blackburn men in the preliminary Senatorial skirmishing.

Although Senator Blackburn has a majority

SALVAGE SALE

SALVAGE SALE

SALVAGE SALE

THE GREATEST SALVAGE SALE YET!

An exciting day in a big New York Auction House marks the sacrifice of the STOCK of G. WEISER, PITTSBURG, PA., which was sold on account of SALVAGE at the Auction Room of I. Cohen & Sons. On Nov. 6th, our Mr. Gentles (now in New York) bought heavily, the lots being next to given away. Only the cream of this sale would be touch and the showing we make on MONDAY proves how well he bought.

Union Suits.

100 dozen Children's Crean and Natural Gray Pieced Lined Union Suits, size 5 to 12, $25c. Salvage Sale Price ..... 25c

Gents' and Ladies' Furnishings

Ladies' Heavy Fleeched Jersey Rib Vests, worth 25c, Monday for ..... 15c

Children's Heavy Fleeched Union Suits, 50c to 65c, all sizes, for ..... 25c

Gents' Heavy Natural Wool Shirts or Patterns vest, ribbed waist, pearl buttons, ribbed waist, silk, pearl buttons and rib skirt, worth 50c, Monday for ..... 50c

Ladies' Heavy Natural Wool Vests or Patterns vest, ribbed waist, pearl buttons and rib skirt, worth 50c, Monday for ..... 50c

75 dozen Men's Extra Heavy All Pure Wool Tan Color Shirts or Drawers, size 36 to 40, $1.50, Monday for ..... 75c

HOSIERY.

100 dozen Ladies' Pant Black Full Seam Stockings, size 12c, Monday for ..... 5c

500 dozen Children's French Knit Socks, French Rib Hose, with high spiced heel and double knees, regular price 25c to 40c a pair, all sizes, 6 to 8, for ..... 25c

CLOAKINGS.

500 REMNANTS (½ yard to 2½ yards)

Up-to-date Cloakings from one of the leading New York factories, Beaver, Astrakan, Tweeds, etc., goods costing up to $5.00 per yard, at 10c, 25c, 50c, 75c and $1 each

100 Boys' Heavy Wool Sweaters, black or navy, worth $1.50, Monday for ..... 50c

200 dozen Gents' Fine Cashmere Shawls, never less than 25c a pair, Monday for ..... 19c

100 Boys' Heavy Wool Sweaters, black or navy, worth $1.50, Monday for ..... 50c

200 dozen Gents' Fine Cashmere Shawls, never less than 25c a pair, Monday for ..... 19c

100 Boys' Heavy Wool Sweaters, black or navy, worth $1.50, Monday for ..... 50c

GOV. BRADLEY SEEKS TO BE THE COMING MAN.

SOME OBJECTIONS REMOVED.

Hunter Still at Work, However, and Is Said to Have a Coalition With Blackburn.

Candidate for Enrolling Clerk.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 14.—The Republicans are determined to hold a meeting of thinking men in the house of extricating themselves from the dangerous factional fight into which they are being forced by the Blackburn men in the preliminary Senatorial skirmishing.

Although Senator Blackburn has a majority against him in the Legislature which is expected soon to convene in extra session, his foes never know what kind of a hand he holds, and on this particular occasion his lieutenants are not slow about throwing out hints of big cards.

The same to the scheme of the Republicans is developed to-night, one by which the hope to unite on one man, avoid a State election next year and save all the trouble.

The plan is to allow Gov. Bradley's ambition full sway and send him to the Senate.

The objection to Bradley heretofore has been that his election would mean a special election to fill the office of Governor next year, and that the last election, showing a decided victory for the Democratic ticket, is past.

For some reason, the opportunity for turning this trick had not occurred to the Bradley people before.

In view of the fact that the political situation in Kentucky is now so confused, the only thing urged against the elevation of Bradley, they are particularly happy over their discovery and the Hunter benchmen are correspondingly depressed.

Dr. Hunter has opened private headquarters in a room in the Hotel Broadway, with every member of the Legislature within his influence.

Dr. Hunter's friendship for silver has led to his becoming a favorite with the leading leaders, and the latter are said to have promised that if the time comes when the election is to be held, they will support him.

There is good reason for believing this.

Such men as State Senator Goebel, who is the most brilliant political schemer in the State, and whom the Republicans fear most, are high up in the Blackburn campaign, and that is why the latter are so anxious to unite on one man.

Whatever the development of the new situation, the reader is at present left to the choice of the men who are betting on who the next Senator from Kentucky will be.

Ohio's Official Vote.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 14.—The official vote of Ohio, returned to McWayne, shows that he has 1,300, and his majority over Burnside 77,682.

The votet stands: Republican, 1,300; Democratic, 476,832; Greenback, 1,000; National, 2,715; Socialist, 1,000; Labor, 1,184; National Democrat, 1,837; total vote, 1,614,288.

For some reason, the opportunity for turning this trick had not occurred to the Bradley people before.

In view of the fact that the political situation in Kentucky is now so confused,

the only thing urged against the elevation of Bradley, they are particularly happy over their discovery and the Hunter benchmen are correspondingly depressed.

Dr. Hunter has opened private headquarters in a room in the Hotel Broadway, with every member of the Legislature within his influence.

Dr. Hunter's friendship for silver has led to his becoming a favorite with the leading leaders, and the latter are said to have promised that if the time comes when the election is to be held, they will support him.

There is good reason for believing this.

Such men as State Senator Goebel, who is the most brilliant political schemer in the State, and whom the Republicans fear most, are high up in the Blackburn campaign, and that is why the latter are so anxious to unite on one man.

Whatever the development of the new situation, the reader is at present left to the choice of the men who are betting on who the next Senator from Kentucky will be.

Ohio's Official Vote.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 14.—The official vote of Ohio, returned to McWayne, shows that he has 1,300, and his majority over Burnside 77,682.

The votet stands: Republican, 1,300; Democratic, 476,832; Greenback, 1,000; National, 2,715; Socialist, 1,000; Labor, 1,184; National Democrat, 1,837; total vote, 1,614,288.

For some reason, the opportunity for turning this trick had not occurred to the Bradley people before.

In view of the fact that the political situation in Kentucky is now so confused,

the only thing urged against the elevation

of Bradley, they are particularly happy over their discovery and the Hunter benchmen are correspondingly depressed.

Dr. Hunter has opened private headquarters in a room in the Hotel Broadway, with every member of the Legislature within his influence.

Dr. Hunter's friendship for silver has led to his becoming a favorite with the leading leaders, and the latter are said to have promised that if the time comes when the election is to be held, they will support him.

There is good reason for believing this.

Such men as State Senator Goebel, who is the most brilliant political schemer in the State, and whom the Republicans fear most, are high up in the Blackburn campaign, and that is why the latter are so anxious to unite on one man.

Whatever the development of the new situation, the reader is at present left to the choice of the men who are betting on who the next Senator from Kentucky will be.

Ohio's Official Vote.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 14.—The official vote of Ohio, returned to McWayne, shows that he has 1,300, and his majority over Burnside 77,682.

The votet stands: Republican, 1,300; Democratic, 476,832; Greenback, 1,000; National, 2,715; Socialist, 1,000; Labor, 1,184; National Democrat, 1,837; total vote, 1,614,288.

For some reason, the opportunity for turning this trick had not occurred to the Bradley people before.

In view of the fact that the political situation in Kentucky is now so confused,

the only thing urged against the elevation

of Bradley, they are particularly happy over their discovery and the Hunter benchmen are correspondingly depressed.

Dr. Hunter has opened private headquarters in a room in the Hotel Broadway, with every member of the Legislature within his influence.

Dr. Hunter's friendship for silver has led to his becoming a favorite with the leading leaders, and the latter are said to have promised that if the time comes when the election is to be held, they will support him.

There is good reason for believing this.

Such men as State Senator Goebel, who is the most brilliant political schemer in the State, and whom the Republicans fear most, are high up in the Blackburn campaign, and that is why the latter are so anxious to unite on one man.

Whatever the development of the new situation, the reader is at present left to the choice of the men who are betting on who the next Senator from Kentucky will be.

Ohio's Official Vote.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 14.—The official vote of Ohio, returned to McWayne, shows that he has 1,300, and his majority over Burnside 77,682.

The votet stands: Republican, 1,300; Democratic, 476,832; Greenback, 1,000; National, 2,715; Socialist, 1,000; Labor, 1,184; National Democrat, 1,837; total vote, 1,614,288.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch
PUBLISHED BY THE PULITZER PUBLISHING CO.
Founded by JOSEPH PULITZER.

CHARLES H. JONES,
Editor and Manager,
Office 515 Olive Street.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

BY CARRIER, ST. LOUIS AND SUBURBS
Daily and Sunday—Per Week... 10 Cents
Daily and Sunday—Per Month... 45 Cents
Sunday—Per Month... 20 Cents

BY MAIL—IN ADVANCE.

Daily and Sunday—Per Annum... $6.00
Daily and Sunday—6 Months... $3.00
Daily and Sunday—Per Month... 50 Cents
Sunday—Per Annum... $2.00
Sunday—6 Months... $1.00
Weekly—One Year... 50 Cents

Daily and Sunday, by carrier, in towns outside of St. Louis, 15 cents a week, 50 cents a month.

Entered by mail, order, draft, or in registered letter. Don't send checks on your local bank. The price of the Post-Dispatch on all railroads is 5 CENTS per copy daily and 5 CENTS Sunday. Any one who is charged a higher rate than this will please report same to us, giving name of road or town where he receives it.

Subscribers who fail to receive their paper regularly will confer a favor by reporting the same to this office.

Address all communications to POST-DISPATCH, St. Louis.

Entered at the Post-office at St. Louis as second-class matter.

TELEPHONE NUMBER.

Editorial Room... 65

THE S. C. Beckwith Agency, Great Fireproof Advertising of Tribune Building, New York, And 405 The Rookery, Chicago.

"PEACE ON EARTH, GOOD WILL TO MEN."

—THE—
POST-DISPATCH.

FIRST OF ALL,
THE NEWS!

TO OUR READERS—The Sunday Post-Dispatch to-day consists of THIRTY-SIX PAGES, in four sections. Our readers should see that they get the entire paper.

CHIEF HARRIGAN'S VIEWS.

Chief of Police Harrigan is undoubtedly right in saying that much of the present reign of lawlessness and crime is due to the laxity of the courts. Inefficiency or corruption, either on the bench or in the prosecutor's office, have invited present conditions.

To make a bad matter worse we have just indorse, on the face of the returns, man responsible for many of the defeats of justice by taking him out of the prosecutor's office and elevating him to the Circuit Bench. We have given further invitation to lawlessness by electing, to the office he vacated, a man even less fit, mentally and morally, for that important post. What wonder that the criminal classes are emboldened, at these evidences of want of public spirit, to prosecute their crimes with greater greediness and less fear of penalty?

But Chief Harrigan is also right in saying that, whatever may be the delinquencies of courts or of the people who indorse and elect the judges, the police force must not fall in its duty. It must apprehend the criminals and produce them in court. Let it persist in well-doing. After awhile, it may be, there will be created in this city a public opinion that will not tolerate collusion between crime and court officers, and which will assert itself in an uncertain way.

THE FIGHT AGAINST THE KING.

It is not strange that the Filley delegation from St. Louis to the Missouri Legislature should prepare a bill to defeat the reform of the Filley School Board. It would be strange indeed if the Filley legislators did not rally to the defense of the Filley Board.

The people of St. Louis having elected a Filley delegation to represent St. Louis at Jefferson City must now be saved from themselves in the consequences of their own folly. It will be the duty of members of the Legislature outside of St. Louis to kill any measure that can be traced to the king, and to support any measure which invites the king's protest and opposition.

The growth of the Southwest is giving us growing opportunities, and we will not show ourselves unequal to them. With an independent money market and with energy in all lines of business, the city is bound to break its best record of past growth.

A TRADE EXTENSION.

Already in the lead in shoes and other important staples, St. Louis ought to become the jobbing center of the Central West and Southwest.

New York and Philadelphia operate in St. Louis' eastern territory, but they are at a disadvantage because of longer freights and because they are out of the direct natural lines of trade.

These all favor St. Louis, and railroad discriminations in favor of other cities cannot change them.

Pushing our business as our opportunities enlarge, St. Louis' is entirely able to become the greatest jobbing center of the country west of the Alleghenies, and its retail merchants can command increasing custom from a continually enlarging territory.

The growth of the Southwest is giving us growing opportunities, and we will not show ourselves unequal to them.

With an independent money market and with energy in all lines of business, the city is bound to break its best record of past growth.

THE FIGHT AGAINST THE KING.

It is not strange that the Filley delegation from St. Louis to the Missouri Legislature should prepare a bill to defeat the reform of the Filley School Board.

It would be strange indeed if the Filley legislators did not rally to the defense of the Filley Board.

The people of St. Louis having elected a Filley delegation to represent St. Louis at Jefferson City must now be saved from themselves in the consequences of their own folly. It will be the duty of members of the Legislature outside of St. Louis to kill any measure that can be traced to the king, and to support any measure which invites the king's protest and opposition.

The late election was the opportunity for the killing of the School Board ring.

The public opinion of the city should have expressed itself in condemnation of ring methods by the defeat of the legislative candidates the ring supported.

As the case stands these legislators can not only claim to represent the sentiments of this city, but what will be more effective in such a contest, they can stand as a solid body to trade away their votes for legislation sought by other sections of the State for votes to maintain the School Board ring power in St. Louis.

Under these conditions it will be hard work to dislodge the ring. But the greater the difficulty the greater should be the public determination, and the greater the effort to win the fight.

THE SPIRIT OF IMPERIALISM.

The number of people in a single British province in India who are now on the verge of starvation is estimated at a million and a half, and as the Salisbury administration has already begun shooting them for not starving in a calm and orderly manner, it is probable that the Armenian question is likely to have an unexpected solution, as far as the English conservatives are concerned.

Indeed, Lord Salisbury practically said as much in his speech at the Lord Mayor's Banquet, when he declared that England would not surrender a single acre of land in dealing with that question. Holding Egypt by a quasi title from the Sultan and hoping through Egypt to control the whole of Africa, the English imperialists are not only to give themselves any moral cover, when the Sultan feels compelled to make Christians who do not give themselves over to the ring think it expedient to shoot hungry Hindus.

It is in this spirit that English imperialism must do its work. It is necessary regardless of the sufferings of those it is to subjugate of help us.

There has been attempted before, but the results achieved here were due to a change of method, by which the actual sounds of best melody in these languages investigated were compared in a practical way.

The investigator read Italian aloud governed one Christian with the scimitar, England is governing a hundred heathen with the bayonet. It is hard to see how military domination and "fist-right" is any the more civilized and Christian in the one case than the other.

The Post-Dispatch has received numerous letters and newspaper clippings asking it to print the names of the St. Louis merchants who have withdrawn their advertising from the Post-Dispatch for political reasons. For the present the Post-Dispatch prefers to content itself with directing attention to those merchants who do advertise in it. The friends and readers of the Post-Dispatch and all who are opposed to the un-American boycott are requested to study the advertisements in today's Post-Dispatch and to do their shopping this week accordingly.

NAME THAT COMMITTEE.

For two weeks past the advertising canvassors of every other newspaper in St. Louis have been assailing the ears of advertisers with specific and confident assertions that the Post-Dispatch was losing its circulation at a terrible rate, and that its city circulation was going to pieces. In its Friday issue the Post-Dispatch made a proposition that a committee of representative advertisers investigate the circulation of the St. Louis newspapers, including the Post-Dispatch, and publish the exact facts.

None of the other newspapers has accepted this proposition. Not one of them dares accept it. An investigation such as that proposed would not only expose the falsehood of the stories told by advertisers in order to influence their advertising.

It would show that the Post-Dispatch has had for a year past and has now a bona fide paid city circulation at least 10,000 greater than that of the newspaper having the next largest city circulation.

It would show that the Post-Dispatch's city circulation is larger than that of the Globe-Democrat and Republic combined.

It would show that the Post-Dispatch's city circulation has grown more in the last year than that of any other St. Louis newspaper.

The Post-Dispatch will welcome any investigation that will be fair—that will expose falsehood and bring out the truth. Let the advertisers name their committee, and any newspaper that refuses them the opportunity for a searching investigation will thereby confess that it has been defaming the Post-Dispatch and making false claims in its own behalf.

CHIEF HARRIGAN'S VIEWS.

Chief of Police Harrigan is undoubtedly right in saying that much of the present reign of lawlessness and crime is due to the laxity of the courts. Inefficiency or corruption, either on the bench or in the prosecutor's office, have invited present conditions.

To make a bad matter worse we have just indorse, on the face of the returns, man responsible for many of the defeats of justice by taking him out of the prosecutor's office and elevating him to the Circuit Bench. We have given further invitation to lawlessness by electing, to the office he vacated, a man even less fit, mentally and morally, for that important post. What wonder that the criminal classes are emboldened, at these evidences of want of public spirit, to prosecute their crimes with greater greediness and less fear of penalty?

But Chief Harrigan is also right in saying that, whatever may be the delinquencies of courts or of the people who indorse and elect the judges, the police force must not fall in its duty. It must apprehend the criminals and produce them in court. Let it persist in well-doing. After awhile, it may be, there will be created in this city a public opinion that will not tolerate collusion between crime and court officers, and which will assert itself in an uncertain way.

A REBELLION OF A CONTINENT.

This Government has achieved a great triumph in forcing a settlement of the Venezuelan dispute by arbitration. The demand for arbitration, first resisted and now conceded by England, fixes the dead line of diplomacy for the future as regards the two hemispheres.

The recognition by England of the right and power of the United States to interfere in behalf of any of the weaker States of this continent against European aggression means that such recognition of international law, and that this Government must in future be reckoned with in all cases of attempted territorial aggrandizement on the soil of the two Americas.

This recognition places the United States in their proper position as arbiter of the Western Hemisphere. Our primacy and potency are acknowledged in the fact that we take, in the arbitration, the place of Venezuela, standing for and representing her right and interest in the controversy.

The late election was the opportunity for the killing of the School Board ring. The public opinion of the city should have expressed itself in condemnation of ring methods by the defeat of the legislative candidates the ring supported.

As the case stands these legislators can not only claim to represent the sentiments of this city, but what will be more effective in such a contest, they can stand as a solid body to trade away their votes for legislation sought by other sections of the State for votes to maintain the School Board ring power in St. Louis.

Under these conditions it will be hard work to dislodge the ring. But the greater the difficulty the greater should be the public determination, and the greater the effort to win the fight.

THE SPIRIT OF IMPERIALISM.

The number of people in a single British province in India who are now on the verge of starvation is estimated at a million and a half, and as the Salisbury administration has already begun shooting them for not starving in a calm and orderly manner, it is probable that the Armenian question is likely to have an unexpected solution, as far as the English conservatives are concerned.

Indeed, Lord Salisbury practically said as much in his speech at the Lord Mayor's Banquet, when he declared that England would not surrender a single acre of land in dealing with that question. Holding Egypt by a quasi title from the Sultan and hoping through Egypt to control the whole of Africa, the English imperialists are not only to give themselves any moral cover, when the Sultan feels compelled to make Christians who do not give themselves over to the ring think it expedient to shoot hungry Hindus.

It is in this spirit that English imperialism must do its work. It is necessary regardless of the sufferings of those it is to subjugate of help us.

There has been attempted before, but the results achieved here were due to a change of method, by which the actual sounds of best melody in these languages investigated were compared in a practical way.

The investigator read Italian aloud

after an Italian master, following this up by reading Homer aloud after a modern Greek scholar from the high school at Athens. After Dante and Homer had been thus compared for a considerable time, the intense melody of the Homeric poems suddenly revealed itself through a lowering of the high pitched, acute accent of Modern Greek as a result of which the rhyming staves of the long hexameter lines of the Homeric poems became unmistakably apparent.

The statement that babies are born at the City Hospital "about every other day" is somewhat discouraging to reformers and others who are trying to elevate the race. Every baby is entitled to be born in a good home.

With business revivals or business depressions, the Post-Dispatch still leads in newspaper circulation. It is always the favorite home paper in St. Louis and its readers are the most intelligent of newspaper patrons.

The election victories are banquetting in all directions. If Mrs. McKinley shall succeed in bringing dinner to those who cannot have banquets, there will be no complaint about the present feasting.

THE NEWSPAPER CARRIER.

The disreputable attempt of would-be competitors to injure the Post-Dispatch's circulation is not meeting with success, because as fast as a few readers in one locality drop the paper others subscribe for it, while the country circulation is growing at a phenomenal rate. Persons who become plique at a popular newspaper and "cut them off," perhaps writing a spiteful letter to the editor to inform him of their action, simply make themselves ridiculous.

But when rival publishers make a house to house canvass and by false representations induce subscribers to stop taking a more successful newspaper, they injure some. They hurt the innocent news-paper carrier—a deserving and hard-working man whose lot is a hard one in the heat of summer and during the winter snows and blizzards. They cut into his living and the living of his family, without damaging the business of their big "contemporary" to any appreciable extent.

The letter carrier and the newspaper carrier are deservedly popular; but the newspaper carrier, though less in demand, is an indispensable and useful as the postman. He makes his rounds while most people are snug in bed, dispensing news and information without which modern civilization would come to a standstill. To willingly take away his means of livelihood would be worse than spurning the letter carrier. To do it by spreading lies among his customers is disgraceful and unbusinesslike.

In paying a deserved tribute to the character of the late Horace Rublee, editor of the Milwaukee Sentinel, a friend of ours hints that he had been reared to accept Horace Greeley's conception of the place which an editor ought to occupy, namely that a journalist is "public teacher," that "he necessarily has convictions and is not likely to suppress them because they are not shared by his audience." In short, this hint is that a man of high character and of high ideals and that of a waiter at a restaurant, expected to furnish whatever is called for so long as the pay is forthcoming.

The Post-Dispatch will welcome any investigation that will be fair—that will expose falsehood and bring out the truth. Let the advertisers name their committee, and any newspaper that refuses them the opportunity for a searching investigation will thereby confess that it has been defaming the Post-Dispatch and making false claims in its own behalf.

THE POLICE.

The Post-Dispatch will accept advertising contracts containing the following guarantee that the total circulation and the city circulation of the Post-Dispatch are now larger than a year ago or no charge whatever to be made for the advertisement.

The question as to who paid for the double supper is still food for thought.

Disinfecting the School Board is the first duty of the hour.

MEN OF MARK.

Jacob H. Schiff has given Columbia University $5,000, to be known as the students' loan fund. Under certain conditions the money is to be loaned to students in need.

The Post-Dispatch will accept advertising contracts containing the following guarantee that the total circulation and the city circulation of the Post-Dispatch are now larger than a year ago or no charge whatever to be made for the advertisement.

The question as to who paid for the double supper is still food for thought.

Disinfecting the School Board is the first duty of the hour.

WOMEN OF NOTE.

Princess Pauline of Wurtemberg, who is marry Prince Christian, the eldest son of the Crown Prince of Denmark, is one of the richest heiresses in Europe.

Miss Lenora Jackson, the violinist, whose debut recently in Berlin was honored by the attendance of the American and British Embassies, and large delegations from the colonies of the English-speaking residents in the German capital, is a Chicago girl, 26 years old. Ten years ago she had her first appearance in the musical circles of that city.

St. Louisans going home between 5 and 6 p.m. Friday passed through an immense smoke blanket that had been pressed down into all the streets, and from many smokestacks black clouds rolled out continuous contributions to the fifth and darkness. Evidently smoke abatement is at rest for the time being in beautiful St. Louis.

The mitt boxes of the Hospital Association ought to put in every place where any considerable number of people are likely to have money changed. If they are reinforced with proper boxes for literature, large quantities of magazines, newspapers and even books might be collected for the sick as is done in some other cities.

Some witnesses smell the Ed Butler odors and some say they do not. If the population of a city could be so arranged that the smellers could live where the stenchers are not, and the non-smellers could dwell where the stenchers are, Col. Butler might pass the rest of his beautiful life in peace.

Leading journals in Germany are noticing Uncle Samuel that the Monroe doctrine will not be accepted by nations other than Great Britain. It is very certain, however, that the Monroe doctrine will be carried out. In this case there will never be any waiting for international agreements.

Millionaire Ransom of Kentucky will give to the poor of Louisville the $4,000 she won in election bets. This is a noble and deserving act, and deserves to be rewarded.

The recognition by England of the right and power of the United States to interfere in behalf of any of the weaker States of this continent against European aggression means that such recognition of international law, and that this Government must in future be reckoned with in all cases of attempted territorial aggrandizement on the soil of the two Americas.

This recognition places the United States in their proper position as arbiter of the Western Hemisphere. Our primacy and potency are acknowledged in the fact that we take, in the arbitration, the place of Venezuela, standing for and representing her right and interest in the controversy.

The late election was the opportunity for the killing of the School Board ring. The public opinion of the city should have expressed itself in condemnation of ring methods by the defeat of the legislative candidates the ring supported.

As the case stands these legislators can not only claim to

LOYAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH.
FRIENDS OF SILVER CONTINUE THEIR INDORSEMENT.

TWENTY-SECOND WARD CLUBS.

Two Organizations in That Ward, One in the Eighth and One in Twenty-Eighth Pass Resolutions.

At a regular meeting of the Bryan Silver Club of the Twenty-second Ward on Thursday night the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, there is an evident attempt on the part of certain St. Louis merchants to injure the influence and cripple, by withholding patronage, one of the leading newspapers of this city, for the sole reason his editor of such paper has exercised his undoubted right of espousing the cause of one of the great political parties of the nation; and,

"Whereas, The Right of free speech and free press—the birthright of the American people—is by such methods sought to be abridged; now, therefore, we view with distrust the patriotism and good citizenship of such persons, and believe that such action on their part may beget a spirit of sectionalism which will be detrimental to the business interests of our city; therefore be it resolved,

"That we call upon all good citizens, irrespective of party or love of fair play, all the American people of this and surrounding cities to join with us in protest against such action as being alien to and an insult to American institutions, and be further resolved,

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished to each of the city papers, with the request that they be published.

L. C. SANGUINET, President.

The Twenty-second Ward Workingmen's Club of the Twenty-second Ward on Thursday night met, and passed the following preamble and resolutions:

"Whereas, Some of the business men of this city have recently addressed statements from the Post-Dispatch presumably as a condemnation of its editor, Col. Charles H. Jones, for the many fight he made for true Democracy and the cause of free silver; and,

"Whereas, The Post-Dispatch was and is the only local paper in the city which is in favor of St. Louis that advocated the people's cause from start to finish.

"Therefore, We call the attention of the people of St. Louis, the State of Missouri, and the great West, Southwest and South to the fact that the fundamental principles of our Republic are those of freedom of speech, thought and action when discharging the duties of citizenship, and that it is the right of every man to have his opinions and to exercise his franchises or other rights from a personal regard to them.

"Resolved, That those who do not share the paper which was our friend in the time of need are not our friends in deed, and presumably do not wish our patronage.

"Resolved, That a copy of this preamble and resolutions be presented to Col. Charles H. Jones, with the thanks and hearty sympathy of this club.

C. H. MOONEY, Secretary.

The Eighth Ward Free Silver Club adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, It is currently reported that certain Free Silver clubs in St. Louis have established a boycott against the Post-Dispatch, refusing to advertise in its columns; and,

"Resolved, That we, the members of the Eighth Ward Free Silver Club hereby withdraw our patronage from all houses who do not share our cause.

"Resolved, That we, as members of this club do hereby endorse the Post-Dispatch for its patriotic and manly campaign for free silver. American manhood and a free ballot without coercion.

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Post-Dispatch under the attestation of the officers of the club.

JOHN P. FARRINGTON, Pres.

The Twenty-eighth Ward Bryan Silver Club held an enthusiastic meeting last night and adopted the following resolutions:

"Whereas, It is known to all of us that certain St. Louis firms in refusing to advertise in the Post-Dispatch as un-American and a direct violation of the fundamental principles of our Republic, and,

"Resolved, That we, the members of the Twenty-eighth Ward Bryan Silver Club hereby withdraw our patronage from all houses who do not share our cause.

"Resolved, That we, as members of this club do hereby endorse the Post-Dispatch for its patriotic and manly campaign for free silver and a free ballot without coercion.

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Post-Dispatch under the attestation of the officers of the club.

CHARLES H. NICKELL, Secy.

The Post-Dispatch, for the course which he pursued during the late campaign, and to show our appreciation of the services of the voters of Missouri and adjoining states for William J. Bryan; be it

"Resolved, That we heartily commend Col. Charles H. Jones, editor of the Post-Dispatch, for the course which he pursued during the late campaign, and to show our appreciation of the services of the voters of Missouri and elsewhere to do the same and to support him in his silver and anti-trust ideals; be it

"Resolved, That we, as members of this club do hereby endorse the Post-Dispatch for its patriotic and manly campaign for free silver and a free ballot without coercion.

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Post-Dispatch under the attestation of the officers of the club.

JOHN P. FARRINGTON, Pres.

The Twenty-eighth Ward Bryan Silver Club held an enthusiastic meeting last night and adopted the following resolutions:

"Whereas, It is known to all of us that certain St. Louis firms in refusing to advertise in the Post-Dispatch as un-American and a direct violation of the fundamental principles of our Republic, and,

"Resolved, That we, the members of the Twenty-eighth Ward Bryan Silver Club hereby withdraw our patronage from all houses who do not share our cause.

"Resolved, That we, as members of this club do hereby endorse the Post-Dispatch for its patriotic and manly campaign for free silver and a free ballot without coercion.

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Post-Dispatch under the attestation of the officers of the club.

CHARLES H. NICKELL, Secy.

The Post-Dispatch, for the course which he pursued during the late campaign, and to show our appreciation of the services of the voters of Missouri and elsewhere to do the same and to support him in his silver and anti-trust ideals; be it

"Resolved, That we heartily commend Col. Charles H. Jones, editor of the Post-Dispatch, for the course which he pursued during the late campaign, and to show our appreciation of the services of the voters of Missouri and elsewhere to do the same and to support him in his silver and anti-trust ideals; be it

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Post-Dispatch under the attestation of the officers of the club.

CHARLES H. NICKELL, Secy.

The Post-Dispatch, for the course which he pursued during the late campaign, and to show our appreciation of the services of the voters of Missouri and elsewhere to do the same and to support him in his silver and anti-trust ideals; be it

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Post-Dispatch under the attestation of the officers of the club.

CHARLES H. NICKELL, Secy.

A $200,000 DRY GOODS STOCK SACRIFICED BY AUCTION!!

Edson Keith &amp; Co.'s

Furnishing Goods

For Men and Women.

Edson Keith's odd lots of Men's and Women's Neckwear, Fancy Handkerchiefs, Fancy Silk Ties, etc., single and double, wholesale price up to 5c each; auction price while the 1 case lasts, 5c each.

All Edson Keith's odd lots of Men's and Boys' Fancy Handkerchiefs, some worth up to 5c each, double, worth up to 8c a pair, 10c Auction Price.

Edson Keith's odd lots of Men's Undershirts and Drawers, fine lined, wool, Jersey-ribbed cotton, and heavy mixed, wholesale price up to 25c each, Auction Price for choice, while the case lasts, 49c.

Edson Keith's odd lots of Men's Plain White Laundered Dress Shirts, some with fancy percale lace, double-linen cuffs, wholesale price up to 25c each, Auction Price.

Mufflers—Silk Mufflers, in all colors, including a Host of elegant Hand Embroidered Linings, Handkerchiefs, worth up to 75c each, Auction Price.

8c Domestic.

Yard-wide soft finish Bleached Muslin—regular 8 1/3c quality, up to noon Monday, Basement, per yard.

6c Calico.

Good quality Figured Turkey Red Calico—always 6 1/2c a yard, Basement, Auction Price.

20c Insoles.

Ladies' best quality Lamb's Wool Shoe Insoles—regular price 20c a pair, Auction Price.

Black Knitted Underwear.

One of Edson Keith's great specialties was Knitted Underwear and no house had so great a variety.

275 pieces Edson Keith's Children's Extra Soft Natural Vestas, Socks and Drawers (sizes 18 to 30), their price 19c, Auction Price.

Edson Keith's Ladies' Extra Heavy Heavy Flannel—Union Cuts—single and double-linen neck and pearl buttons—pants to match—wholesale pants 35c each, Auction Price.

1 case Edson Keith's Ladies' Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price, while they last.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Ladies' Extra Fine Jersey Cut's Hosiery—Red and Jersey Ribbed Wool Vests and Pants—in white, natural and medicated acetate—size 36, wholesale price up to 25c each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots of Union Suits—fine Jersey ribbed natural wool—Egyptian cotton, fleece-lined—white, black and blue—each suit—wholesale pants to match—wholesale pants 35c each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

All Edson Keith's Odd Lots Jersey Ribbed Union Cuts—single and double across shoulder, silk ribbon in neck—their price $1 each—Auction Price.

COMSTOCK TO W. C. T. U. LADIES.

THE FAMOUS SUPPRESSOR OF VICE AT THE CONVENTION.

AN ARMENIAN WOMAN SPEAKS.

Wearers of the White Ribbon Had Lengthy, Interesting and Important Session Yesterday.

A feature of yesterday's session of the National Convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in Music Hall was the presentation of Anthony Comstock, of New York, the celebrated reformer, who, as President of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, has become world famous.

Mr. Comstock arrived Saturday morning and attended the afternoon session of the convention, but he did not appear before the delegates until the afternoon. His opportunity to voice his well-known opinions came when Miss Frances Willard, the President of the W. C. T. U., began to introduce fraternal delegates and distinguished guests.

When it was Mr. Comstock's turn to be presented Miss Willard looked as sweet as she can be, and said that she desired to introduce him to the delegates. "I am a soldier," he said, "and I have no time to waste." "I am a sailor," he said, "and I have no time to waste."

"I am told," said he, "that the proceeds are used to buy luxuries for the officers. The outlook for the future is encouraging. It was never better."

"I write to the Secretary of War for a copy of the canteen law, but I do not get it. He told me to write to Gen. M. C. McMahons," he said.

"For the sailors, we have visited ships and have given them a good time.

Mr. Comstock is a man who would be a cynosure for admiring eyes before any convention of women. He is tall, thin, and trim, and as well groomed as New Yorkers are.

As soon as Miss Willard pronounced the name of Comstock, he stepped to the front of the stage. He stood in silence for at least a minute, while the ladies waited for him to speak, and then he gave them the most generous of Chautauqua salutes.

"Oh, that our nation would say: These evils cannot be stopped."

"Mrs. Leed of Philadelphia, commenting on

Mrs. Thatcher's report said that the profits of the W. C. T. U. were used to buy guns for the private soldiers, as they had but the rustle of dresses, due to the delegates rising, had ceased. Mr. Comstock said:

"Madame President and Members of This Noble Convention: Thank you for your hearty welcome. I regret to say that a man who is deserving of your tribute as a leader in the cause of temperance and for the suppression of vice at the convention of the W. C. T. U. is not at my disposal. I mean Rev. W. McAfee of St. Louis."

This compliment to the man who has put many senders of obscene literature was received with applause. Mr. Comstock then turned to the American and British men who had been instrumental in his work. "Mr. McAfee spends most of his time in traveling and misses many of the pleasures of home life. He went out of his way to shake hands with Mr. Comstock toward Indianapolis Friday night, and on their trip the two officials of the society discussed the best plan for the furtherance of their work.

"Please ask you to remember one fact," said Mr. Comstock. "There are 25,000,000 boys and girls in the United States, according to the latest census. Many of them have come into the world with natural appetites, but we must labor to early learn the path to the saloon and lisp the language of immorality. To save these children from the depths which await them, the great struggle for the suppression of vice literature will go on. The vice that menaces our nation; that stains our homes, and that casts its blight upon our schools and educational institutions."

Mr. Comstock became worked up during his speech, and with a fervent desire to move and spoke with an eloquent tongue. He gave several instances of seductions and arrests made by him in order to show how much he had done.

"He did the in one Eastern city he had sent to the penitentiary a man whose father was a Missouri educator, and who sent obscene literature through the mail.

On another occasion Mr. Comstock discovered that a school, attended by boys and girls, were kept in our poorhouses, surrounded by the ignorant and vicious, and of immorality by a man who had circulated vile books among the pupils. Mr. Comstock's indignation from the delegates expressions of disapprobation from the delegates.

After his address Mr. Comstock occupied a seat on the stage during the rest of the proceedings.

The W. C. T. U. ladies began Saturday with a prayer meeting in Schuyler Memorial House on Locust street, and the service they walked around to Olive and up the broad steps of the Exposition. The delegates to the W. C. T. U. called the delegates to order, for the second day's work.

Dr. Mary Wood-Alan of Michigan offered prayer and the secretary read the minutes of the Friday session.

Mr. Comstock English read the report on "Work Among Miners." She said that she had sent out much literature and had acted in her department.

She reviewed the progress of the white ribbon crusade among the miners in every state.

Misses Mary and Anna Shaw, Mrs. Mary Johnson, and Mrs. John Johnson's daughter were presented, and each spoke a few words.

Rev. Wm. Wirt King, Rev. A. O. Stevens, and Rev. Mr. Corrington, all of St. Louis, spoke a few words. Mr. Corrington said that he voted the Republican ticket, and that he was a member of the church.

Col. Reed made a speech during the brief period while they need a mother.

Mr. Morrison rarely saw a woman of culture in an almshouse.

He urged a more thorough and systematic system in holding religious services in almshouses.

In closing she said:

"It is evident that in many States children are kept in our poorhouses, surrounded by the ignorant and vicious, and of immorality by a man who had circulated vile books among the pupils. Mr. Comstock's indignation from the delegates expressions of disapprobation from the delegates.

After his address Mr. Comstock occupied a seat on the stage during the rest of the proceedings.

The W. C. T. U. ladies began Saturday with a prayer meeting in Schuyler Memorial House on Locust street, and the service they walked around to Olive and up the broad steps of the Exposition.

The delegates to the W. C. T. U. called the delegates to order, for the second day's work.

Dr. Mary Wood-Alan of Michigan offered prayer and the secretary read the minutes of the Friday session.

Mr. Comstock English read the report on "Work Among Miners." She said that she had sent out much literature and had acted in her department.

She reviewed the progress of the white ribbon crusade among the miners in every state.

Misses Mary and Anna Shaw, Mrs. Mary Johnson, and Mrs. John Johnson's daughter were presented, and each spoke a few words.

Rev. Wm. Wirt King, Rev. A. O. Stevens, and Rev. Mr. Corrington, all of St.

Louis, spoke a few words. Mr. Corrington said that he voted the Republican ticket, and that he was a member of the church.

Col. Reed made a speech during the brief period while they need a mother.

Mr. Morrison rarely saw a woman of culture in an almshouse.

He urged a more thorough and systematic system in holding religious services in almshouses.

In closing she said:

"It is evident that in many States children are kept in our poorhouses, surrounded by the ignorant and vicious, and of immorality by a man who had circulated vile books among the pupils. Mr. Comstock's indignation from the delegates expressions of disapprobation from the delegates.

After his address Mr. Comstock occupied a seat on the stage during the rest of the proceedings.

The W. C. T. U. ladies began Saturday with a prayer meeting in Schuyler Memorial House on Locust street, and the service they walked around to Olive and up the broad steps of the Exposition.

The delegates to the W. C. T. U. called the delegates to order, for the second day's work.

Dr. Mary Wood-Alan of Michigan offered prayer and the secretary read the minutes of the Friday session.

Mr. Comstock English read the report on "Work Among Miners." She said that she had sent out much literature and had acted in her department.

She reviewed the progress of the white ribbon crusade among the miners in every state.

Misses Mary and Anna Shaw, Mrs. Mary Johnson, and Mrs. John Johnson's daughter were presented, and each spoke a few words.

Rev. Wm. Wirt King, Rev. A. O. Stevens, and Rev. Mr. Corrington, all of St.

Louis, spoke a few words. Mr. Corrington said that he voted the Republican ticket, and that he was a member of the church.

Col. Reed made a speech during the brief period while they need a mother.

Mr. Morrison rarely saw a woman of culture in an almshouse.

He urged a more thorough and systematic system in holding religious services in almshouses.

In closing she said:

"It is evident that in many States children are kept in our poorhouses, surrounded by the ignorant and vicious, and of immorality by a man who had circulated vile books among the pupils. Mr. Comstock's indignation from the delegates expressions of disapprobation from the delegates.

After his address Mr. Comstock occupied a seat on the stage during the rest of the proceedings.

The W. C. T. U. ladies began Saturday with a prayer meeting in Schuyler Memorial House on Locust street, and the service they walked around to Olive and up the broad steps of the Exposition.

The delegates to the W. C. T. U. called the delegates to order, for the second day's work.

Dr. Mary Wood-Alan of Michigan offered prayer and the secretary read the minutes of the Friday session.

Mr. Comstock English read the report on "Work Among Miners." She said that she had sent out much literature and had acted in her department.

She reviewed the progress of the white ribbon crusade among the miners in every state.

Misses Mary and Anna Shaw, Mrs. Mary Johnson, and Mrs. John Johnson's daughter were presented, and each spoke a few words.

Rev. Wm. Wirt King, Rev. A. O. Stevens, and Rev. Mr. Corrington, all of St.

Louis, spoke a few words. Mr. Corrington said that he voted the Republican ticket, and that he was a member of the church.

Col. Reed made a speech during the brief period while they need a mother.

Mr. Morrison rarely saw a woman of culture in an almshouse.

He urged a more thorough and systematic system in holding religious services in almshouses.

In closing she said:

"It is evident that in many States children are kept in our poorhouses, surrounded by the ignorant and vicious, and of immorality by a man who had circulated vile books among the pupils. Mr. Comstock's indignation from the delegates expressions of disapprobation from the delegates.

After his address Mr. Comstock occupied a seat on the stage during the rest of the proceedings.

The W. C. T. U. ladies began Saturday with a prayer meeting in Schuyler Memorial House on Locust street, and the service they walked around to Olive and up the broad steps of the Exposition.

The delegates to the W. C. T. U. called the delegates to order, for the second day's work.

Dr. Mary Wood-Alan of Michigan offered prayer and the secretary read the minutes of the Friday session.

Mr. Comstock English read the report on "Work Among Miners." She said that she had sent out much literature and had acted in her department.

She reviewed the progress of the white ribbon crusade among the miners in every state.

Misses Mary and Anna Shaw, Mrs. Mary Johnson, and Mrs. John Johnson's daughter were presented, and each spoke a few words.

Rev. Wm. Wirt King, Rev. A. O. Stevens, and Rev. Mr. Corrington, all of St.

Louis, spoke a few words. Mr. Corrington said that he voted the Republican ticket, and that he was a member of the church.

Col. Reed made a speech during the brief period while they need a mother.

Mr. Morrison rarely saw a woman of culture in an almshouse.

He urged a more thorough and systematic system in holding religious services in almshouses.

In closing she said:

"It is evident that in many States children are kept in our poorhouses, surrounded by the ignorant and vicious, and of immorality by a man who had circulated vile books among the pupils. Mr. Comstock's indignation from the delegates expressions of disapprobation from the delegates.

After his address Mr. Comstock occupied a seat on the stage during the rest of the proceedings.

The W. C. T. U. ladies began Saturday with a prayer meeting in Schuyler Memorial House on Locust street, and the service they walked around to Olive and up the broad steps of the Exposition.

The delegates to the W. C. T. U. called the delegates to order, for the second day's work.

Dr. Mary Wood-Alan of Michigan offered prayer and the secretary read the minutes of the Friday session.

Mr. Comstock English read the report on "Work Among Miners." She said that she had sent out much literature and had acted in her department.

She reviewed the progress of the white ribbon crusade among the miners in every state.

Misses Mary and Anna Shaw, Mrs. Mary Johnson, and Mrs. John Johnson's daughter were presented, and each spoke a few words.

Rev. Wm. Wirt King, Rev. A. O. Stevens, and Rev. Mr. Corrington, all of St.

Louis, spoke a few words. Mr. Corrington said that he voted the Republican ticket, and that he was a member of the church.

Col. Reed made a speech during the brief period while they need a mother.

Mr. Morrison rarely saw a woman of culture in an almshouse.

He urged a more thorough and systematic system in holding religious services in almshouses.

In closing she said:

"It is evident that in many States children are kept in our poorhouses, surrounded by the ignorant and vicious, and of immorality by a man who had circulated vile books among the pupils. Mr. Comstock's indignation from the delegates expressions of disapprobation from the delegates.

After his address Mr. Comstock occupied a seat on the stage during the rest of the proceedings.

The W. C. T. U. ladies began Saturday with a prayer meeting in Schuyler Memorial House on Locust street, and the service they walked around to Olive and up the broad steps of the Exposition.

The delegates to the W. C. T. U. called the delegates to order, for the second day's work.

Dr. Mary Wood-Alan of Michigan offered prayer and the secretary read the minutes of the Friday session.

Mr. Comstock English read the report on "Work Among Miners." She said that she had sent out much literature and had acted in her department.

She reviewed the progress of the white ribbon crusade among the miners in every state.

Misses Mary and Anna Shaw, Mrs. Mary Johnson, and Mrs. John Johnson's daughter were presented, and each spoke a few words.

Rev. Wm. Wirt King, Rev. A. O. Stevens, and Rev. Mr. Corrington, all of St.

Louis, spoke a few words. Mr. Corrington said that he voted the Republican ticket, and that he was a member of the church.

Col. Reed made a speech during the brief period while they need a mother.

Mr. Morrison rarely saw a woman of culture in an almshouse.

He urged a more thorough and systematic system in holding religious services in almshouses.

In closing she said:

"It is evident that in many States children are kept in our poorhouses, surrounded by the ignorant and vicious, and of immorality by a man who had circulated vile books among the pupils. Mr. Comstock's indignation from the delegates expressions of disapprobation from the delegates.

After his address Mr. Comstock occupied a seat on the stage during the rest of the proceedings.

The W. C. T. U. ladies began Saturday with a prayer meeting in Schuyler Memorial House on Locust street, and the service they walked around to Olive and up the broad steps of the Exposition.

The delegates to the W. C. T. U. called the delegates to order, for the second day's work.

Dr. Mary Wood-Alan of Michigan offered prayer and the secretary read the minutes of the Friday session.

Mr. Comstock English read the report on "Work Among Miners." She said that she had # Greater St. Louis' Still Greater Show!

An Up-to-Date Display of the World's Enchanting Merchandise!

Positively the Grandest and Most Stupendous Array of Rich and Rare Bargains Ever Exhibited Under One Roof!

4 Big Mammoth Floors! 64 Immense Departm'ts!

Every Department a Complete Show Within Itself!

500 Trained Salespeople! Everything Under the Sun Worth Buying!

The Store That Stands on Its Own Merits—Sails Under No False Colors—Borrows Nothing From the Past—Gives Its Patrons the Energy and Results of the Actual, Living Present—OVERSHADOWS AND OVERWELMS ALL WOULD-BE COMPETITORS!

ON THE BIG SECOND FLOOR!

Here the music of the Second Ring keeps time to the rustle of Cloaks and Clothing! It's the place to bring your wife, sister, son, mother or brother! The money saved is just like finding it in the street!

YOU'LL SAVE MONEY HERE!

A BARGAIN.

LOAN US YOUR BOY!

OR IN THIS.

Good Pants

Mighty Cheap!

We've got one big lot of about 8,000 pairs of Men's Striped, Plain, Patterned, all size, any shade, any color, all fine garments, and some worth as much as $2.50; you can take choice of your choice Monday and Tuesday you at $1.95

$1.95

Fine Capes Cheap.

See These Overcoats.

FREE....

An elegant pair of steel adjustable CLUB SKATES ABSOLUTELY FREE with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

with every Boys' Suit or Overcoat sold Monday and Tuesday at $2.50 or over.

CLUB SKATES

ABSOLUTELY FREE

CITY NEWS.
Lindell Hotel.
American plan, $1.50 per day and up. European plan, $1 per day and up. Ladies and gentlemen's restaurant, north and rotunda. Popular prices. John F. Donovan, prop.

Trunks, Trunks, Trunks.

Having purchased the entire stock of sample trunks of H. T. Simon Gregory Dry Goods Co., we will close the same out at remarkably low figures.

P. C. MURPHY TRUNK CO.

Third and St. Charles Streets.

Dr. E. C. Chase,

Sixth and Locust. Set of teeth, $1.

THE GOOD MONEY IT COST THEM.

CANDIDATES FILE STATEMENTS OF THEIR ELECTION EXPENSES.

THE HIGHEST FIGURE $800.

The amounts they spent vary from that figure down as low as $25.

Statements of campaign expenses, required by law, to be filed with Recorder of Deeds Lewis before Dec. 2 were placed in his hands yesterday by four candidates at the last election.

One or two foot up considerable amounts and that of Dr. William C. Richardson, successful candidate for the position of Public Administrator, which reached $800, crowds pretty closely the prohibitory limit of the corrupt practices act. Dr. Richardson's statement is itemized as follows:

September 4, Thomas K. Niedringhaus, Treasurer Republican City Central Committee, $50.

September 17, Louis Becker, Fifth Ward Republican Club, $5.

September 17, W. Broslaski, Twenty-fifth Ward wigwam, $5.

October 10, Jos. Webber, Eighteenth Ward drums and torches, $10.

October 20, Thos. K. Niedringhaus, Treasurer City Central Committee, $800.

October 22, same, $150.

October 24, C. B. Woodward Printing Company, $125.

October 25, Weekly compendium, advertising, $10.

November 10, L. C. Hess, printing, $450.

November 11, Wigwam car fare, horse hire, etc., $5.

Total, $800.

The statement filed by Ernest C. Dodge foots up $80,400 as follows: Twenty-eighth Ward, $10,000; $5,000, almanacs, law books, $20,40; uniforms, Fifth Ward, $1; colored papers, $1; stamps, $4,75; uniforms, Fourth Ward, $1; Twenty-ninth Ward Club, $2,50; "The Wheel," $1; "John Dealer," $1; car fare, $10; "Missouri Republican Journal," $750.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

Henry C. Erman was candidate for the office of Representative in the Legislature.

His statement included merely $25 contributed to the campaign fund, and $25 for printing, total $25.

THE SUNDAY

PAGES 9-16.

ST. LOUIS, SUNDAY

SUNDAY "WANT" DIRECTORY.

POST-DISPATCH

MORNING, NOV. 15, 1896.

PAGES 9-16.

TO MARRY THE "ST. LOUIS GIRL."

MR. BEN WESTHUS WILL WED
RUSSELL'S PRETTY MODEL.

SHE IS MISS MAMIE CROW.

The Perfect Featured Young Woman Who Is Known to All Readers of the Post-Dispatch.

Everybody knows the Post-Dispatch girl—that marvelous embodiment of beauty, grace and fashion that Russell's pen has made so familiar to St. Louisans.

In private life, she is Miss Mamie Crow, but after Thanksgiving Day she will be Mrs. Ben Westhus.

It is the old story of the milkmaid's song. "My face is my fortune, sir, she said," reproduced in real life.

Mr. Westhus is the president of the South Broad Merchants' Association and one of the leading men in that thriving retail business center. The interests of the Association brought him often to Mr. Russell's studio, and there he met the beautiful artist's model.

He had been too busy all his life laying the foundations of his commercial prosperity to allow himself time for tender emotions. But the beauty of Miss Crow's face haunted him. It beamed out at him through the figures of his ledger, and when Russell put Miss Crow's face on the alle-and her hair the darkest shade of golden brown.

In the matter of clothes, Dr. Johnson's spinet on Goldsmith might have twisted to say she wore nothing which did not adorn. She has the carriage of a queen. Her Irish extraction is revealed in her movements, that have the sleek, sinuous grace of a greyhound. She is a perfect dancer.

Miss Crow was born in St. Louis, educated at St. Patrick's Parochial School, and lives with her parents at 2710 Morgan street.

Artist Russell was asked to state the technical points that constituted the beauty of Miss Crow's features.

"Miss Crow is a perfect-featured woman," he said. "Her features are clear cut and absolutely fine. There makes no difference at what angle or in the expression of what mood you sketch her. She has a classic forehead. Her eyes are correctly and perfectly shaped. Her nose is Grecian with a soft Celtic modification. Her mouth was her most fascinating feature. Her lips made what the poets call a Cupid's bow, and when she smiled she showed two gleaming rows of milk white teeth. Her ears are small and well set against her shapely head.

"She has a face that one would never grow tired of looking at, for no shade of emotion sad or glad could rob her features of their perfect artistic quality.

"She has marvelous taste in dress. In the variety of costumed which I sketched her I relied a great deal on her own judgment, though it is within a fortnight of a year since he so foolishly attempted to take his life, but in a few days he is to go away, to begin life all over again.

It will but a wreck of the handsome, talented young man of a year ago who will be led out from the City Hospital next week and conducted to the State Blind Asylum to be taught how to earn a living. That's what the bullets did—left poor, foolish

SONG AND DANCE GIRL'S VICTIM.

SYLVESTER BROWN IS NOW TO BEGIN LIFE ANEW.

HE IS BLIND IN BOTH EYES.

May Haagel Made a Fool of Him and the Bullets He Fired Into His Head Did the Rest.

Thanksgiving Day, a year ago, Sylvester Brown pressed the muzzle of a revolver against his head and fired two shots. He had been outrageously treated by the woman he loved, a coquettish little song and dance girl, who fleeced him of all he had and then threw him down.

The bullet didn't kill. He was carried to the City Hospital, dying, every one supposed, but the good surgeons of that institution exerted all their science and skill to save his life. But he died in the hospital, though it is within a fortnight of a year since he so foolishly attempted to take his life, but in a few days he is to go away, to begin life all over again.

It will but a wreck of the handsome, talented young man of a year ago who will be led out from the City Hospital next week and conducted to the State Blind Asylum to be taught how to earn a living. That's what the bullets did—left poor, foolish gorious figure in his beautiful South Broadway poster, Mr. Westhus couldn't get the features out of his mind by day or night.

BEN WESTHUS AND MISS MAMIE CROW.

Like the sensible business man that he is, he reasoned that the only way to get rid of temptation was to yield to it. So he made love to Miss Crow, proposed, and was accepted and on Thanksgiving morning will lead the prettiest girl in St. Louis to the altar of St. Bridget's Church.

It is nearly a year since Miss Crow's pretty face first began to adorn the pages of the Post-Dispatch through Mr. Russell's cuts. At the height of the holiday season he was assigned to draw a half page picture of the Sunday Post-Dispatch. He wandered through the crowded aisles of the big store, sketching pad in hand until he reached the jewelry counter. Miss Crow was employed there and was showing her wares to a group of customers.

Struck by the beauty and regularity of her features the artist paused and transfigured her likeness on paper. He made her the central figure of his picture.

Her beauty was the talk of the newspaper world. Only a short time before Mr. Russell had lost his model, the young woman who was known in Bohemia as the "Purple Azalee" girl. He was consigned in securing a more beautiful successor.

Mr. Russell lost no time in securing Miss Crow's services permanently. Since that time she has posed for him in all his drawings.

Her features soon became familiar to newspaper readers. Men watched the Sunday Post-Dispatch for every new phase of her perfect face. Women were more attracted by her chic manner of dress, for she could wear a bonnet, a wrap or a gown with dazzling grace.

Under the artist's skilful delineation she became as distinct a type as Gibson's American girl. She was known in the art circles of St. Louis and other cities as "the St. Louis girl."

Miss Crow has just turned 20th year. She is tall, svelte, beautifully curved. Her eyes are hazel, her skin fair, her cheeks delicately tinted with the flush of health and features between Miss Crow and the Purple Azalee girl—so much so that many thought them the same person. He has grown so accustomed to drawing that sort of face that any young lady so favored has a good opportunity for a lucrative and pleasant position.

REDUCING EXPENSES.
Lindell Railroad Gives an Object Lesson on Prosperity.

Employees of street car companies were assured a few weeks ago that if McKinley were elected more men would be put to work and higher wages would be paid. Since the election the Lindell line has taken care of all their divisions. Where they had had the advantages of the best schools in the East and was prospering in his business.

He was a travelling salesman for a large wholesale jewelry firm and had a large trade, which extended all over the United States.

He was a trusted employee and had traveled all over South America, Mexico and Canada for his firm. His salary was large and he Miss Haagel visited the down-town stores and ordered furniture, carpets, chinaware, table linen, pictures and bric-a-brac to the extent of several hundred dollars.

The goods were ordered delivered at the West End hotel the day before Thanksgiving, and the bill was to accompany the goods.

Brown was disappointed by the non-arrival of his expected money. The merchants delivered the goods as per his order, but when the money was not forthcoming they were carted back to the stores.

Chagrined because he could not pay for his purchases he was not brave enough to go to his future wife and tell her of the non-arrival of his money. He thought it would reach him next day, and he resolved to wait.

He could not keep away, however, and that night he walked up and down on the pavement in front of the house he had rented for the Haagels. The girl saw and recognized him and she, too, was disappointed to see her purchases taken back to the store, and she was angry at Brown.

She spoke to her father and they called a policeman. They told the officer Brown was a crazy man who had threatened their lives. The policeman saw Brown walking up and down in front of the house looking in. He felt justified in locking Brown up.

He was taken to the Fifth District Police Station and put in a cell. He knew no one in St. Louis and could not give bond. All day Thanksgiving he was in prison and the only crime he was guilty of was of loving without reason.

The following day he was released. He returned to Hotel Rosier and was disappointed to learn that his money had not arrived. He still loved the girl and thought when his money did come he could fix matters up again.

On Dec. 3 he received word that he had already overdrawn his account and the house did not care to advance him more money.

Crazed with despair and grief that the one he loved so truly should prove so mercenary, he decided to end his life.

In his room at the Hotel Rosier he placed a pistol to his right temple and pulled the trigger. Again he placed the revolver against his left ear and again fired.

It is almost miraculous that he did not die instantly. The ball that entered the Chicago was the next stopping place for

Mrs. Mary Beerman of 214 North Second street, East St. Louis, called at the Four Courts yesterday and asked the judge to look for her husband, George Beerman, who had been missing three days ago to come to St. Louis presumably on a business trip. He had been a clerk in the offices of the Terminal Railway Co. until recently, when he began selling books.

Before he blinded himself with a bullet and as he is now.

SUNDAY "WANT" DIRECTORY.

MORNING, NOV. 15, 1896.

PAGES 9-16.

THE PEOPLE'S GREAT TRADING MECCA!

More money saved here on your purchases than in any other store in St. Louis. Special inducements for early buyers. Everything new and up to style. No old, shopworn, bankrupt or shoddy goods, but

25—IMMENSE AND BRIGHT NEW DEPARTMENTS—25

EVERYONE TEEMING WITH THE BEST AND BIGGEST BARGAINS.

Hysinger's GRAND EMPORIUM

→ SW COR. 22nd & FRANKLIN AVE ←

FREE with each Pound of our Extra choice 35c TEA
we will give a Beautiful Jappaned Canister, worth 15c.

DRESS GOODS.

50 Pcs DOUBLE WIDTH SCOOP
PANTS, GREEN, RED, CO-ORDINATE AND BLACK, CHAMELEON
CLOTHS, regular size value;
FOR MONDAY.

10c

35 PCS WOOL FINISH STYLISH
PLAIDS AND MIXTURES 25-cent value; FOR MONDAY.

15c

15 PCS FANCY CHECKED FLAN-
NELS, regular size, worth 40 cents;
FOR MONDAY.

25c

12 PCS HIGH NOVELTIES, IN THE LEADING CHINESE STYLES, WHICH WE SELL CLOSE OUT AT JUST HALF
THEIR RETAIL VALUE.

50c

LADIES' EXTRAS, HEAVY FLEECE-LINED VESTS AND PANTS, FIN-ISHED IN SEAMS, worth $1.00; value;
FOR MONDAY.

35c

SPECIAL. 30 SHORT PANTS, 22" TO 30" YARDS EACH, IN BLACKS, PLAIDS AND FANCY STYLES, WHICH WE SELL CLOSE OUT AT JUST HALF
THEIR RETAIL VALUE.

20c

24x6 HEAVY HONEYCOMB TOWELS, white, border, 25-cent value; FOR MONDAY.

10c

12 PCS BLEACHED SHEETS, READY
FOR USE, HEAVY QUALITY MUS-
LINE, 25-cent value; FOR MONDAY.

49c

54-INCH TURKEY RED TABLE
DAMASK, fast colors, AN UNUSUAL
BARGAIN, 25-cent value; FOR MONDAY.

15c

GOOD HEAVY BED COM-
FORTS, FOR MONDAY.

50c

SPECIAL. ALL-WOOL FINE AND TWILLED
SCARLET FLANNEL, 30" value;
FOR MONDAY.

20c

24x6 HEAVY HONEYCOMB TOWELS,
white, border, 25-cent value; FOR MONDAY.

10c

12 PCS BLEACHED SHEETS, READY
FOR USE, HEAVY QUALITY MUS-
LINE, 25-cent value; FOR MONDAY.

49c

54-INCH TURKEY RED TABLE
DAMASK, fast colors, AN UNUSUAL
BARGAIN, 25-cent value; FOR MONDAY.

15c

GOOD HEAVY BED COM-
FORTS, FOR MONDAY.

50c

SPECIAL. ALL-WOOL FINE AND TWILLED
SCARLET FLANNEL, 30" value;
FOR MONDAY.

20c

24x6 HEAVY HONEYCOMB TOWELS,
white, border, 25-cent value; FOR MONDAY.

10c

12 PCS BLEACHED SHEETS, READY
FOR USE, HEAVY QUALITY MUS-
LINE, 25-cent value; FOR MONDAY.

49c

54-INCH TURKEY RED TABLE
DAMASK, fast colors, AN UNUSUAL
BARGAIN, 25-cent value; FOR MONDAY.

15c

GOOD HEAVY BED COM-
FORTS, FOR MONDAY.

50c

SPECIAL. ALL-WOOL FINE AND TWILLED
SCARLET FLANNEL, 30" value;
FOR MONDAY.

20c

24x6 HEAVY HONEYCOMB TOWELS,
white, border, 25-cent value; FOR MONDAY.

10c

12 PCS BLEACHED SHEETS, READY
FOR USE, HEAVY QUALITY MUS-
LINE, 25-cent value; FOR MONDAY.

49c

54-INCH TURKEY RED TABLE
DAMASK, fast colors, AN UNUSUAL
BARGAIN, 25-cent value; FOR MONDAY.

15c

GOOD HEAVY BED COM-
FORTS, FOR MONDAY.

50c

SPECIAL. ALL-WOOL FINE AND TWILLED
SCARLET FLANNEL, 30" value;
FOR MONDAY.

20c

24x6 HEAVY HONEYCOMB TOWELS,
white, border, 25-cent value; FOR
MONDAY.

DISAGREE WITH MR. CLEVELAND.

HIS CABINET FAVERS A VIGOROUS CUBAN COURSE.

SOME EVILS OF DELAY.

Trade With Cuba Fallen Off From $120,000,000 to Less Than $40,000,000.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 14.—The fact has come to light that practically a unanimous Cabinet has urged President Cleveland to take a more vigorous stand on the Cuban question, and advised the Chief Executive that affairs have reached the point where a firm front on the part of this country is not only advisable, but necessary. A high official said that President Cleveland stood alone among those at the head of the government in maintaining a patient and strictly conservative Cuban policy.

Among the Cabinet Ministers, Secretary Olney is said to be of the opinion that the point has been reached when this country must act, and that the safeguarding of important trade relations with Cuba, to say nothing of the interests of Americans who are seen in the island, demands an exhibition of vigor more effectual than the framing of diplomatic notes.

The Secretary of State is supported in his position by a majority of the Cabinet. Many appeals have come from men and organizations of high standing, particularly interested in the Cuban question. One communication received here a few days ago set forth that whereas American trade with Cuba was $100,000,000 in 1894, it was now less than $40,000,000.

President Cleveland, however, has so far turned a deaf ear to all such representations. An official expressed the opinion today that the President was seriously opposed to any steps looking to a war with Spain. He said that while he realized fully the seriousness of the Spanish situation, that he knew that American interests in Cuba were best served by a course which would not bring him into agreement with his Cabinet in adopting a course which meant certain war.

THREATENED THE BISHOP.

Gen. Weyler's Hasty Action May Change Affairs in Cuba.

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 14.—An interview with a recent arrival from Cuba, a most trustworthy person, gives of a mandate of Gen. Weyler. He issued an order converting all of the public buildings of Havana into hospitals, including the convent. The Hope Seminary Y Frutes, when informed of the order, endeavored to dissuade Weyler, but he was answered very abruptly, the last words being, "I am the one in command threatening to imprison the Bishop, even though there were suggestions of excommunication. After the conversion of the convent, Weyler became frightened and issued an order excepting the convent from the provisions of the mandate.

The Bishop, however, had left for Rome to lay his grievance before the Pope.

Should the Pope decide to take exceptions to the action of Weyler, it may cause a serious turn of affairs in Spain. The Carlists, who are agitating a revolution, are the strongest supporters of the order, and the Pope might very easily give them assistance and overthrow the power that Weyler represents.

MORE TROOPS FROM SPAIN.

Gen. Pando Is Expected in Cuba With Twenty Thousand Men.

HAVANA, Nov. 14.—It is reported that Gen. Pando during the last days of November will sail from Spain with 30,000 troops which will operate in the Province of Santo Domingo de Cuba.

The Director of the Spanish Bank has been dismissed, and Gen. Diaz has been named his successor. It is reported that an important emulsion of silver bills is assured. Arrangements are being perfected by which the bank will exchange the silver bills for coin.

Sickness on the plains continues to increase, and is reported to be in Spanish military hospitals. There are now 10,000 persons are ill. Of these 700 are suffering from small-pox. It is estimated that fully 15,000 persons on the island are seriously ill.

THE REAL DANGER.

Spanish People, Not Spain, Might Precipitate War.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A special to the Evening Telegram from Washington says:

There is no denying the fact that the Administration is much concerned about the Cuban situation. As was stated in the Herald a week ago, and as our cables believed to be approaching, but not on account of any development from this end of the Atlantic, is that the relations between Spain and the United States are as friendly as ever, and as far as surface indications go, both countries are acting in a conciliatory spirit upon all questions growing out of the Cuban war.

The real danger lies with the people of Spain, who are in a minority, and are separated over the fact that repeated filibustering expeditions have gone to Cuba from the United States. They do not understand that the Government is doing all in its power to prevent the departure of these expeditions, and they only realize that the Cuban insurgents are in the United States their source of supplies.

If General Weyler has met with a serious reverse, which the news from Havana would indicate, it is possible that the popular feeling in Spain against the United States would become so violent that the Spanish people might be compelled to go to war with this country to prevent a revolution at home.

To Honor Prof. Price.

A testimonial concert will be tendered to Prof. D. Clinton Price, the well known solo guitarist, on the occasion of his twenty-fifth anniversary as a teacher. The Ideal Organ, a full Julian instrumental music. Among the soloists will be Miss Adele McElroy, Master Goldberg, Prof. F. Robert Klute, Mr. S. R. Hewlett and John O. Scherl.

ON "DE OLE MAN'S" TRAIL.
Kerens & Co. Hope to Ban Him Forever
From Politics.

The anti-Filley wing of the Republican party in Missouri is preparing to take advantage of the recent crushing defeat of "de ole man" and to wrest control of State machinery from him before he recovers his equilibrium.

It is now proposed to "reorganize" the party in the reorganization to eliminate Mr. Filley.

"Colonel" L. D. Morse of Excelsior Springs, the statistician of the Filley wing, is hard at work now to find a way to do this, and when he has solved the problem he will submit the whole to National Committee-man E. C. Kellam, Mr. Frank G. Carpenter, Kansas City, and Major John L. Bittinger of St. Joseph.

They are in the Filley regime. To them all applicants for positions under McKinley will have to go, and it is said that they propose to utilize their influence and do一切 to keep Mr. Filley.

They will do it by employing precisely the same tactics used by the sick man of the mosquito. They will bring him into the main hall in the faces of his party enemies and running away with the swallows.

They will still be able to be influential in the Filley ranks. The German Bimetallists Have Determined Not to Drop the Fight for Silver.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 14.—William Jennings Bryan delivered two speeches in Lincoln this afternoon and evening which had been previously announced as the opening guns of the political campaign of 1900. Mr. Bryan this afternoon talked to an audience at the Funke Theater, composed of 1,350 members of the Mary Bryan Club (ladies). Mr. and Mrs. Bryan reached the theater shortly before 3 o'clock in the carriage of a horse and carriage, followed by Mrs. W. M. Martin of the Mary Bryan Club introduced the defeated candidate. The pronunciation of the ex-candidate's name was the signal for continued applause from a large crowd.

Mr. Bryan then explained that the audience had gathered to support the members of the Mary Bryan Club, because of the seating capacity of the house. He was personally glad to talk to believers in the good cause, and requested them to agree politically with his oldest and best friends. He believed now, as always, that every man, woman and child in America should be allowed to have a free political belief and had no ill will to any one who differed from him. "We invite what we admire," he said, "the spirit of the man, and I hope that the man will be. I am glad to see the wives and mothers at last fully and deeply interested in the great political issues of the day. And I hope that you will wish to impress upon their minds and to have them carry in their hearts to their own minds, that the Government, like ours, deriving its powers through and by the people, should be founded on all principles, equal rights to all and special privileges to none."

Other citizens—the masses—those who are sometimes called the riffraff (daughter)—are the very people who fail to profit by special legislation. We do not mean to say that perfect equality can be obtained, and the world is not a place for friends, depends largely upon character, energy, frugality and those distinguished qualities which are the chief distinguishing features of our national agencies to raise one man above the head of another. But what I do mean is that the common people, every man of them, should enjoy the same opportunities as those of greater financial power. That is why we enjoy our form of government, because it is justice to be had as broad as possible. Doubtless I read more works against free speech than any speaker who opposed me on the stump. When I see the great number of books written by the great money dealers, I know it is because they mean to profit by it and not because they love the people. Now, in this last campaign, I have seen many books written by the great money dealers, and I am sure that they will be put upon the same level of efficiency as the navy. The War Secretary also expects that the navy will be increased.

The Government will also shortly be asked to make a loan to Germany, the bill authorizing a loan of $15,000,000 ($25,000,000) for military purposes. On Monday next are expected to create much excitement in the Reichstag. The Centrists attack upon Prince Bismarck, headed by Count Kardoff, will be followed by an interpolation on duelling and the Brusilov affair will also stir up considerable feeling.

Mr. Bryan then spoke of the importance of the recent campaign, and the need for the Government to be up to the mark. He said that the Government had agreed to a plan of the British at Posen in order to reply.

The Government will also shortly be asked to make a loan to Germany, the bill authorizing a loan of $15,000,000 ($25,000,000) for military purposes. On Monday next are expected to create much excitement in the Reichstag. The Centrists attack upon Prince Bismarck, headed by Count Kardoff, will be followed by an interpolation on duelling and the Brusilov affair will also stir up considerable feeling.

Mr. Bryan then spoke of the importance of the recent campaign, and the need for the Government to be up to the mark. He said that the Government had agreed to a plan of the British at Posen in order to reply.

The Marquis of Salisbury will go to London on Monday to visit the Queen.

The arrival of the Arctic exploring steamer Fram at Christiania on Monday last attracted much interest. The ship, which had been on a voyage of nearly four years, was built for Dr. Fridtjof Nansen's expedition. Each article had a label on it reading:

"I am a specimen of Nansen's autograph. Several of these fetched many times their market value. The proceeds were handed over to the guarantors of the expenses of the expedition."

The remarks of the Secretary of State for War, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, addressing the members of the Conservative Association, before the breakdown doctor in St. Louis had utterly failed. I was about as near as death, and my heart could not beat. My heart, stomach and intestines had been fully restored to a perfectly healthy condition, and I feel sound and well in every respect. Could not feel any pain. And the credit is all due to the skillful treatment given me by Dr. David Wegman of the Missouri Medical Institute. I might add that he was not paid for his services under the NO CURE, NO PAY plan. Every other doctor I ever treated with wanted me to pay him his fee, and I did not know whether he benefited me or not, or whether he wanted pay for his services.

DAVID WEGMAN,
181 North Ninth street, St. Louis, Mo.

We do not publish the name of our cured patient out of fifty, on an average, and when only at the request of the patient, or when he has given his permission.

The Missouri Medical Institute is a Medical and Surgical Institute, founded with a competent staff of EXPERIMENTERS and EXPONENTS. It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special Diseases.

It is a medical and surgical treatment and cure of all Chronic, Neurotic, Skin, Private and Special

ROOMS FOR RENT.

ROOMS FOR RENT.

14 words or less, 10c.

ADAMS ST., 2332—Nicely furnished front room; $2 per week; private family.

ADAMS ST., 2620A—Nicely furnished room, with bath, for one or two guests.

ADAMS ST., 2128—Three rooms, with bath and all conveniences.

ARLINGTON AV., 1325—4 rooms; rent $12; 1st floor; near Page av.

ADAMS ST., 2322A—One newly furnished front room, with bath, for private family of two.

BAYARD AV., 74—Two of three unfurnished rooms, with conveniences; cheap for the winter.

BELT AV., 1515—AND EASTON AV.—Three moderately furnished rooms for rent; water in kitchen; comfortable for plain people; $13.00.

BENTON ST., 2837—Three rooms furnished or unfurnished; private room; with large hall.

BROADWAY, 710 S.—Nicely furnished room and bath; for rent; complete for light housekeeping; $12.00 per week.

BROADWAY, 1548 N.—Nicely furnished front room, for light housekeeping; rent, $1.50 up; hall room, 75c.

BEAUMONT ST., 612 N.—1 or 3 connecting rooms, last floor, unfurnished; rent moderate.

BENTON ST., 622—Nicely furnished 2d-floor front room; complete for light housekeeping; cheap rent.

BROADWAY, 507 S.—Nicely furnished rooms for 2 or 3 guests.

BROADWAY, 507 S.—Nicely furnished room, for light housekeeping; $1.00 a week.

CARIS ST., 2123—Three rooms; rear house. Apply 2728 Hickson st.

CAMPION AND LUCAS—Newly furnished front room to 1 or 2 persons; private family. Ad. K 73, this office.

CHOUTEAU AV., 814—Nice large room, furnished, for light housekeeping; $1.00 a week.

CARR ST., 2123—Parlors, single or en suite; also 2d floor; for rents or married couple.

LUCAS AV., 2740—Nicely furnished front room; 2d floor; for rents or married couple.

PINE ST., 1815—A nicely furnished room.

PINE ST., 2615—Furnished room; for complete housekeeping; rents. Apply 2645 Pine st.

LEFFINGWELL AV., 718—Three large rooms and stable for two horses and wagons; $11.

LEFFINGWELL AV., 1016 N.—One large, nicely furnished front room.

LOCUST ST., 2615—A nicely furnished room.

PINE ST., 2605—Furnished front room; 2d floor; for rents or married couple.

PARK AV., 1513—3 rooms and laundry and all conveniences.

PINE ST., 1525—Parlors, single or en suite; also 2d floor; for rents or married couple.

PINE ST., 1717—2 nicely furnished rooms for girls; all conveniences.

PALM ST., 2602A—A nicely furnished room, with modern conveniences; terms very reasonable.

PINE ST., 1419—Elegant front room, nicely furnished; gentlemen or light housekeeping.

PINE ST., 706—Repaired and refitted; nicely furnished; single and double rooms; it, hansom rooms.

PINE ST., 2305—Double parlors; modern conveniences.

PINE ST., 2324—Furnished and unfurnished rooms; also for light housekeeping; with laundry privileges.

LOCUST ST., 2624—2d-story front room; furnace heat, gas and bath.

LEONARD AV., 620—Nicely furnished connecting rooms with private family of adults; modern conveniences; private ladies (employed) or gentlemen.

LOCUST ST., 2624—2d-story front room; furnace heat, gas and bath.

LEONARD AV., 1123—Two furnished rooms for housekeeping or singly; party owns house.

LOCUST ST., 1711—Desirable furnished front room, suitable for 2 or 4 gentlemen; furnace heat.

LOCUST ST., 2623—Front room, with southern exposure; comfortably heated.

LUCAS AV., 2740—Front room, 2d floor and back parlor; furnished or unfurnished.

LUCAS AV., 2740—Two nicely furnished rooms.

MARKET ST., 2211—Front room; 2d floor; for housekeeping; 1st or 2nd floor.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor for light housekeeping.

MORGAN ST., 2125—Newly furnished 2d-story front room; also back room; furnace, gas and bath.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; centrally located; private. Ad. N 71, this office.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 2728—Handsome furnished front room; also 2d floor; for rents or doctor's office; reasonable.

MORGAN ST., 272

RENT LIST.

FURNISHED HOUSES FOR RENT.

14 words or less. 10c.

CHESTERFIELD ST. $122.—This is a two-story 10-room house; reception hall, bath, gas, h-t and cold water; laid floors, woodwork, etc. This house is very handsomely furnished, and we are authorized to rent same at very reasonable rates. Andrew Wade, 1616 Chestnut st., 2nd Locust st.

CHURCHILL HOUSE—For rent, in Cabanne, Ross Hill district; 8-room brick; large lot; natural trees; all directions. Add. T 75, this office.

HOUSE—For rest. for 6 months, handsomely and completely furnished house, to responsible parties. Add. N. 75, this office.

HOUSE—For rent, 6 rooms; hall, bath and kitchen; separate owner will board with tenant. Add. S 72, this office.

MUPHERRON AV. 4009—For rent, furnished house. 8 rooms; rent $65.

FOR RENT—FLATS.

14 words or less. 10c.

ARMAND ST. 2609—3-room flat, with water closet. Keeley & Co., 1113 Chestnut st.

BOTANICAL AV. 3810—Flat of 5 rooms; new; every convenience; cheap; Compton Heights car.

BELL AV. 4614—Three rooms, nicely decorated, cheap rent. J. A. Gardner, 102 St. Charles st.

BELL AV. 4644—Three rooms in detached flat; nice laundry.

CASE AV. 2209A—Flat of 5 rooms; gas, bath, laundry; separate entrance; rent $12.

CLIFFTON PL. 3150—Three rooms; rest moderate.

COMPTON AV. 1521—S. Four rooms, decorated; hot and cold water; newly decorated; $20.

CAROLINE ST. 2643—Four rooms; hot bath, etc.; rest low.

CHOUTEAU AV. 1752—8-room flat, bath, and gas; rent $15.

COTTAGE AV. 4203—Two nice large rooms, suitable for small family; $7.

CAROLINE ST. 3256—New flat of 3 rooms, bath, w. c., laundry and gas; 1st floor.

COTY BRILLIANT AV. 4444—Three rooms, 1st floor; $12.50. Bradley & Quinton, 715 Chestnut.

DICKSON ST. 2625—Flat; 4 rooms; hall, gas, bath and laundry; 1st floor.

DIVISION ST. 2613—Three nice rooms, newly painted; good location; $15.

ELLIOTT AV. 1802—Three rooms; new flat. Inquire at 2118 Standard st.

HADDE AV. 2609—Eight-room flat; 2d-story; all conveniences.

HADDE AV. 2002—5-room second floor; bath, hot water; gas range; chandeliers; $20. Key 2013 Park av.

HENNEY AV. 4202—Four new rooms; hot and cold water; porcelain bath; open; $22.

HED AV. 4858A—2600 (Compton Heights) Six-s and 8-room flat; open. Rutledge, 802 Chestnut st.

FLAT—Six room flat; first floor; at price of four-room flat. Inquire 1024 Oregon av.

FRANCISCO AV. 4524—5 rooms, frame, near Ashland School; rent $12.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222A—Flat; 8 rooms and bath.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222—Four new rooms; hot and cold water; porcelain bath; open; $22.

HAD AV. 4858A—2600 (Compton Heights) Six-s and 8-room flat; open. Rutledge, 802 Chestnut st.

FLAT—Six room flat; first floor; at price of four-room flat. Inquire 1024 Oregon av.

FRANCISCO AV. 4524—5 rooms, frame, near Ashland School; rent $12.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222A—Flat; 8 rooms and bath.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222—Four new rooms; hot and cold water; porcelain bath; open; $22.

HAD AV. 4858A—2600 (Compton Heights) Six-s and 8-room flat; open. Rutledge, 802 Chestnut st.

FLAT—Six room flat; first floor; at price of four-room flat. Inquire 1024 Oregon av.

FRANCISCO AV. 4524—5 rooms, frame, near Ashland School; rent $12.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222A—Flat; 8 rooms and bath.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222—Four new rooms; hot and cold water; porcelain bath; open; $22.

HAD AV. 4858A—2600 (Compton Heights) Six-s and 8-room flat; open. Rutledge, 802 Chestnut st.

FLAT—Six room flat; first floor; at price of four-room flat. Inquire 1024 Oregon av.

FRANCISCO AV. 4524—5 rooms, frame, near Ashland School; rent $12.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222A—Flat; 8 rooms and bath.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222—Four new rooms; hot and cold water; porcelain bath; open; $22.

HAD AV. 4858A—2600 (Compton Heights) Six-s and 8-room flat; open. Rutledge, 802 Chestnut st.

FLAT—Six room flat; first floor; at price of four-room flat. Inquire 1024 Oregon av.

FRANCISCO AV. 4524—5 rooms, frame, near Ashland School; rent $12.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222A—Flat; 8 rooms and bath.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222—Four new rooms; hot and cold water; porcelain bath; open; $22.

HAD AV. 4858A—2600 (Compton Heights) Six-s and 8-room flat; open. Rutledge, 802 Chestnut st.

FLAT—Six room flat; first floor; at price of four-room flat. Inquire 1024 Oregon av.

FRANCISCO AV. 4524—5 rooms, frame, near Ashland School; rent $12.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222A—Flat; 8 rooms and bath.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222—Four new rooms; hot and cold water; porcelain bath; open; $22.

HAD AV. 4858A—2600 (Compton Heights) Six-s and 8-room flat; open. Rutledge, 802 Chestnut st.

FLAT—Six room flat; first floor; at price of four-room flat. Inquire 1024 Oregon av.

FRANCISCO AV. 4524—5 rooms, frame, near Ashland School; rent $12.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222A—Flat; 8 rooms and bath.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222—Four new rooms; hot and cold water; porcelain bath; open; $22.

HAD AV. 4858A—2600 (Compton Heights) Six-s and 8-room flat; open. Rutledge, 802 Chestnut st.

FLAT—Six room flat; first floor; at price of four-room flat. Inquire 1024 Oregon av.

FRANCISCO AV. 4524—5 rooms, frame, near Ashland School; rent $12.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222A—Flat; 8 rooms and bath.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222—Four new rooms; hot and cold water; porcelain bath; open; $22.

HAD AV. 4858A—2600 (Compton Heights) Six-s and 8-room flat; open. Rutledge, 802 Chestnut st.

FLAT—Six room flat; first floor; at price of four-room flat. Inquire 1024 Oregon av.

FRANCISCO AV. 4524—5 rooms, frame, near Ashland School; rent $12.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222A—Flat; 8 rooms and bath.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222—Four new rooms; hot and cold water; porcelain bath; open; $22.

HAD AV. 4858A—2600 (Compton Heights) Six-s and 8-room flat; open. Rutledge, 802 Chestnut st.

FLAT—Six room flat; first floor; at price of four-room flat. Inquire 1024 Oregon av.

FRANCISCO AV. 4524—5 rooms, frame, near Ashland School; rent $12.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222A—Flat; 8 rooms and bath.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222—Four new rooms; hot and cold water; porcelain bath; open; $22.

HAD AV. 4858A—2600 (Compton Heights) Six-s and 8-room flat; open. Rutledge, 802 Chestnut st.

FLAT—Six room flat; first floor; at price of four-room flat. Inquire 1024 Oregon av.

FRANCISCO AV. 4524—5 rooms, frame, near Ashland School; rent $12.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222A—Flat; 8 rooms and bath.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222—Four new rooms; hot and cold water; porcelain bath; open; $22.

HAD AV. 4858A—2600 (Compton Heights) Six-s and 8-room flat; open. Rutledge, 802 Chestnut st.

FLAT—Six room flat; first floor; at price of four-room flat. Inquire 1024 Oregon av.

FRANCISCO AV. 4524—5 rooms, frame, near Ashland School; rent $12.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222A—Flat; 8 rooms and bath.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222—Four new rooms; hot and cold water; porcelain bath; open; $22.

HAD AV. 4858A—2600 (Compton Heights) Six-s and 8-room flat; open. Rutledge, 802 Chestnut st.

FLAT—Six room flat; first floor; at price of four-room flat. Inquire 1024 Oregon av.

FRANCISCO AV. 4524—5 rooms, frame, near Ashland School; rent $12.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222A—Flat; 8 rooms and bath.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222—Four new rooms; hot and cold water; porcelain bath; open; $22.

HAD AV. 4858A—2600 (Compton Heights) Six-s and 8-room flat; open. Rutledge, 802 Chestnut st.

FLAT—Six room flat; first floor; at price of four-room flat. Inquire 1024 Oregon av.

FRANCISCO AV. 4524—5 rooms, frame, near Ashland School; rent $12.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222A—Flat; 8 rooms and bath.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222—Four new rooms; hot and cold water; porcelain bath; open; $22.

HAD AV. 4858A—2600 (Compton Heights) Six-s and 8-room flat; open. Rutledge, 802 Chestnut st.

FLAT—Six room flat; first floor; at price of four-room flat. Inquire 1024 Oregon av.

FRANCISCO AV. 4524—5 rooms, frame, near Ashland School; rent $12.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222A—Flat; 8 rooms and bath.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222—Four new rooms; hot and cold water; porcelain bath; open; $22.

HAD AV. 4858A—2600 (Compton Heights) Six-s and 8-room flat; open. Rutledge, 802 Chestnut st.

FLAT—Six room flat; first floor; at price of four-room flat. Inquire 1024 Oregon av.

FRANCISCO AV. 4524—5 rooms, frame, near Ashland School; rent $12.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222A—Flat; 8 rooms and bath.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222—Four new rooms; hot and cold water; porcelain bath; open; $22.

HAD AV. 4858A—2600 (Compton Heights) Six-s and 8-room flat; open. Rutledge, 802 Chestnut st.

FLAT—Six room flat; first floor; at price of four-room flat. Inquire 1024 Oregon av.

FRANCISCO AV. 4524—5 rooms, frame, near Ashland School; rent $12.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222A—Flat; 8 rooms and bath.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222—Four new rooms; hot and cold water; porcelain bath; open; $22.

HAD AV. 4858A—2600 (Compton Heights) Six-s and 8-room flat; open. Rutledge, 802 Chestnut st.

FLAT—Six room flat; first floor; at price of four-room flat. Inquire 1024 Oregon av.

FRANCISCO AV. 4524—5 rooms, frame, near Ashland School; rent $12.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222A—Flat; 8 rooms and bath.

FRANKLIN AV. 2222—Four new rooms; hot and cold water; porcelain bath; open; $22.

HAD AV. 4858A—2600 (Compton Heights) Six-s and 8-room flat; open. Rutledge, 802 Chestnut st.

FLAT—Six room flat; first floor; at price of four-room flat. Inquire 1024 Oregon av.

SAFE AND PROMISING INVESTMENTS IN ST. LOUIS REAL ESTATE.

Business Property

We regard the present time as offering rare opportunities for securing good investments or safe and profitable speculations. We are in a position to offer some very attractive properties at low prices, and parties desiring to place any sum of money, great or small, in real estate, are invited to call and see us. The present is unquestionably a propitious time for buying property in St. Louis. No risk to run and prospects for profit most encouraging.

Money to Loan.

We are now prepared to make loans on St. Louis real estate in sums to suit, from $500 upward. Lowest rates of interest. All reasonable concessions to borrowers. No delay in answering applications.

Representatives in St. Louis
REAL ESTATE
MORTGAGE DEPARTMENT

N.Y. Life Insurance Co.

We Solicit a Call
From Parties Desiring Loans.

ANDERSON-WADE REALTY CO., 8th and Locust.

FOR RENT—NEW NINE-ROOM HOUSES.

Modern in every respect; will be completed within ten days. Contains every convenience. 33x213 feet ground. Nos. 4462 and 4466 Maryland av.

SEE THEM TO-DAY.

ANDERSON-WADE REALTY CO., Eighth and Locust.

DWELLINGS FOR RENT.
14 words or less. 20c.

RICE - DWYER
REAL ESTATE CO.
322 Chestnut St. 322.

DWELLINGS.

|  |         |
|--|---------|
| 221 Biddle st., 4 rooms.....               | $10 00 |
| 2118 Engels st., 9 rooms.....              | 30 00   |
| 4199 Fairfax av., 4 rooms and stable.....  | 15 00   |
| 4211 Franklin st., 4 rooms and stable..... | 15 00   |
| 4158 Lee pl., 5 rooms.....                 | 15 00   |
| 4201 Madison st., 4 rooms.....             | 15 00   |
| 1903 N. 10th st., 5 rooms.....             | 15 00   |
| 1717 N. 11th st., 5 rooms.....             | 15 00   |
| 2218 N. 12th st., 5 rooms.....             | 15 00   |
| 2018 Carr st., 4 rooms.....                | 15 00   |
| 1504 Chestnut st., 5 rooms.....            | 20 00   |
| 1506 Chestnut st., 5 rooms.....            | 20 00   |
| 2119 Franklin st., 5 rooms.....            | 20 00   |
| 507 East Esplanade, 5 rooms.....           | 5 00    |
| 2026 Garfield av., 4 rooms.....            | 15 00   |
| 2028 Garfield av., 4 rooms.....            | 15 00   |
| 2029 Garfield av., 4 rooms.....            | 15 00   |
| 2030 Garfield av., 4 rooms.....            | 15 00   |
| 2031 Garfield av., 4 rooms.....            | 15 00   |
| 2032 Garfield av., 4 rooms.....            | 15 00   |
| 2033 Garfield av., 4 rooms.....            | 15 00   |
| 2034 Garfield av., 4 rooms.....            | 15 00   |
| 2035 Garfield av., 4 rooms.....            | 15 00   |
| 2036 Garfield av., 4 rooms.....            | 15 00   |
| 2037 Garfield av., 4 rooms.....            | 15 00   |
| 2038 Garfield av., 4 rooms.....            | 15 00   |
| 2039 Garfield av., 4 rooms.....            | 15 00   |
| 2040 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2041 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2042 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2043 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2044 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2045 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2046 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2047 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2048 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2049 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2050 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2051 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2052 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2053 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2054 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2055 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2056 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2057 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2058 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2059 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2060 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2061 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2062 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2063 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2064 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2065 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2066 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2067 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2068 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2069 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2070 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2071 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2072 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2073 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2074 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2075 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2076 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2077 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2078 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2079 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2080 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2081 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2082 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2083 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2084 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2085 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2086 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2087 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2088 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2089 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2090 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2091 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2092 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2093 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2094 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2095 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2096 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2097 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2098 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2099 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2100 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2101 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2102 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2103 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2104 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2105 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2106 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2107 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2108 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2109 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2110 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2111 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2112 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2113 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2114 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2115 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2116 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2117 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2118 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2119 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2120 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2121 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2122 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2123 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2124 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2125 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2126 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2127 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2128 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2129 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2130 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2131 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2132 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2133 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2134 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2135 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2136 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2137 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2138 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2139 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2140 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2141 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2142 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2143 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2144 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2145 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2146 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2147 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2148 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2149 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2150 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2151 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2152 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2153 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2154 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2155 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2156 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2157 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2158 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2159 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2160 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2161 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2162 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2163 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2164 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2165 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2166 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2167 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2168 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2169 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2170 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2171 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2172 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2173 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2174 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2175 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2176 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2177 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2178 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2179 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2180 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2181 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2182 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2183 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2184 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2185 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2186 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2187 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2188 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2189 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2190 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2191 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2192 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2193 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2194 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2195 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2196 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2197 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2198 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2199 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2200 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2201 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2202 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2203 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2204 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2205 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2206 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2207 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2208 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2209 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2210 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2211 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2212 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2213 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2214 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2215 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2216 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2217 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2218 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2219 Page st., 5 rooms and stable.....     | 15 00   |
| 2220 Page st.,                             |         |

WHERE, WHERE IS THAT $15,000?

CITY DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE
MEN ARE ASKED TO EXPLAIN.

VERY GRAVE RUMORS AFLAFT.

It Is More Than Intimated That There Has Been a Misappropriation of Campaign Funds.

When the Democratic City Central Committee "rolled" John R. Butler from his position as Committeeman for the Nineteenth Ward and voted down a resolution to have an investigation by the State Committee of charges of corruption, it was believed that way up would be the committee which threatens to grow into a revolt.

Since the last meeting, when the committee placed itself in the equivocal position of "whitewashing" its members, by declining to have an investigation of the charges made by John R. Butler, state meetings have been made and charges uttered which the committee may not be able to ignore.

There is likely to be a determined effort made to force the present City Central Committee to agree to retire and let the City Convention next spring name new committeemen for the different wards.

And as a lever to force the desired reorganization, the management of campaign funds is boldly made.

John R. Butler made it in his resolution demanding an investigation by the State Committee; it has been made by others since and it is now openly charged that the vulnerable members of the committee dare not give publicity to the campaign proceedings or let the truth or falsity of the charges be demonstrated.

So, it is argued by those who are clamoring for reorganization in the interests of the Democratic party, that the only way to restore honor and confidence is to let the present members retire and start the spring campaign with a reorganized, weed-out committee.

Meantime those who know what was back of Butler's charges are indignant over the way in which Chairman Hugh Brady and members of the committee temporarily defeated the proposed investigation.

They say positively that, in spite of the chairman and a majority of the committee, the facts will be made known. And when they are, say they, party indignation will rise to white heat and there will be high old jinks in committee circles.

John R. Butler, who was forced out of the committee by the Brady wing at the last meeting, declined yesterday afternoon to say anything more about his charges.

"I can prove them," said the ex-Committeeman, "but until I know whether the Committee is going to do anything, I shall say nothing more."

And he didn't.

But the charges made by Butler are borne out by others. And if they are true, the Democratic City Central Committee—or at least a certain portion of it—stands convicted of having received but not accounted for, something like $15,000 of campaign funds.

Said a member of the Committee yesterday afternoon: "It may have been all right to remove Butler; I am not knocking on that. But the Democrats of St. Louis have a right to know about the charges he made."

"I want to ask Chairman Brady and the other members of the Committee to publicly give satisfactory answer to these questions:

"First—What became of over $4,000 collected from the Police Department?"

"Second—What became of the assessments made on candidates for city offices before the nominations were made?"

"Third—What became of the $5,000 collected from Harry Drummond for nomination to Congress in the Eleventh District, and who tried to get $15,000 more from him, forcing him to decline to run?"

"Fourth—What became of the $150 a ward for each ward in the Twelfth Congressional District, paid by a friend of the candidate to the City Committee?"

"Fifth—How was the money assessed against candidates after the City Convention, amounting in all to perhaps $5,000, expended?"

Unless the committee makes complete answer to this volley of interrogatories, the Committeemen who asks the questions will answer them with a detailed statement which will doubtless put certain members of the Central Committee in a disagreeable light.

The Ways and Means Sub-Committee of the Central Committee, which under ordinary circumstances would be supposed to handle the funds, was composed during the campaign of three members: Dieckman, Tuck, Burke, Gonzales, Butler and Blong.

But they didn't receive all of the money.

It didn't come to them to be handled.

Sums of money known to have been paid in were never reported. The round sum of these missing contributions is estimated at $5,000.

Who got this money?

That is what the proposed investigation by the State Committee was intended to bring out.

That is, apparently, precisely what a majority of the members of the committee doesn't want brought out.

The next meeting of the committee may be productive of additional information as to who profited by reason of the large leak in the assessment box.

SCHOOL BOARD CASE.

Directors Seeking to Counteract the Effect of Damaging Evidence.

It is thought probable on account of the pie of the School Board that the Pack-Williams injunction suit was depriving the children of school privileges, that Judge Vaillant will decide the case next Monday.

Meanwhile the school directors reflected upon the depositions taken in the case by Lawyers Alderson and McEntire are seeking to counteract the effect of that testimony.

Through their lawyers yesterday afternoon, the board moved that the plaintiff be ordered to produce the depositions in court, which contained a great many statements regarding the conduct of the board which have been "used through garbled reports published in the newspapers in a just and unfair and false impression of the public mind as to the character and conduct of some members of the School Board, and they should be produced in public records to the end that the public may be correctly informed as to what they contain."

The motion also set forth that the depon-tions should be filed in order to foot up all the costs in the case.

Lawyer McEntire said in regard to the matter:

"I followed the newspaper reports of the depositions and was struck with their correctness. Some of the reports were very vague, and I wanted to see what is to be gained for the School Board by having them filed in court."

SUES A THEATER MAN.

Joseph A. Lowry Wants $25,000 From Col. Hopkins.

The acquittal of Joseph A. Lowry of the charge of disturbing the peace of attachés of Hopkins' Grand Opera House was followed yesterday by a suit for $25,000 damages filed by Lowry against J. D. Hopkins.

The suit is on several counts, including $5,000 for false arrest; $10,000 for an alleged assault upon Lowry by Col. Harry Hart, manager of Hopkins' $5,000 for injury to Lowry's business, occasioned by the police report on the case, and $5,000 exemplary damages.

Lowry attended the performance at Hopkins' the night of Oct. 8 with Mrs. Lowry and a friend, and left without a return check and received none.

Manager Harry Weaver draws the color line and when he found that the blood which flowed in the Senator's veins was far likelier Ethiopian than Castilian he had the young man advised to make himself scarce.

The pleasant duty of bouncer fell to the lot of Chief Clerk Cunningham. During the morning when things began to look black for the disconsolate Mexican swain the tall and stately attaché of the hotel had instantly and in a suave manner that the best thing the Senator could do was to get. The Senator, however, did not get. He hung on and looked Caucasian to the best of his ability.

By afternoon sufficient proof as to the suspect's extraction had accumulated to warrant sterner measures. Again Mr. Cunningham went to the front. He presented Senator Cuney with his bill, remarking that his room was needed. Cuney entered no protest but left his coat and his baggage seal to Sixteenth and Locust streets. The number of the house is not known, as he engaged an unknown expressman to undertake his removal.

He had announced earlier in the day that he intended leaving the city for Mexico at 3 o'clock this afternoon, or later, or before he had followed this plan is not known, but he had removed his baggage to Sixteenth and Locust and was waiting for the train or bus to take him for some purpose.

If, however, Senator Esteban Benjamin Cuney, who is a citizen of Galveston, Texas, should not have gone, and should be in town to-day, he can be located at the office of James L. Haworth, 110½ Main Street, who is his insurance agent in the Union Trust Building.

And if, perchance, he is not satisfied with the information which Mr. Haworth can impart to him, he can learn a few additional facts about the fellow by applying to the Union Trust building.

These two gentlemen knew the Mexican Club is exclusive, artistic and ready to pay any sum for the services of European soloists. Tickets to its annual triennial musical feasts are much sought. They cannot be bought for money and hence they are the more desirable.

The officers of the Apollo Club vouch for the excellence of Tuesday's programs and the high standard of the soloists. As the club itself has been in training since the first Monday in September, the songs which it will render will bring out all the merits of the best trained male chorus that could be got together in St. Louis.

The soloists for Tuesday night are Mlle. Camille Seygall, the principal soprano of the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, Belgium, and Herr Meyer-Hans of the Gewandhaus, Leipzig, a cellist with a big reputation and ready to pay any sum for the services of European soloists. Tickets to its annual triennial musical feasts are much sought. They cannot be bought for money and hence they are the more desirable.

The officers of the Apollo Club vouch for the excellence of Tuesday's programs and the high standard of the soloists. As the club itself has been in training since the first Monday in September, the songs which it will render will bring out all the merits of the best trained male chorus that could be got together in St. Louis.

The soloists for Tuesday night are Mlle. Camille Seygall, the principal soprano of the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, Belgium, and Herr Meyer-Hans of the Gewandhaus, Leipzig, a cellist with a big reputation and ready to pay any sum for the services of European soloists. Tickets to its annual triennial musical feasts are much sought. They cannot be bought for money and hence they are the more desirable.

The officers of the Apollo Club vouch for the excellence of Tuesday's programs and the high standard of the soloists. As the club itself has been in training since the first Monday in September, the songs which it will render will bring out all the merits of the best trained male chorus that could be got together in St. Louis.

The soloists for Tuesday night are Mlle. Camille Seygall, the principal soprano of the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, Belgium, and Herr Meyer-Hans of the Gewandhaus, Leipzig, a cellist with a big reputation and ready to pay any sum for the services of European soloists. Tickets to its annual triennial musical feasts are much sought. They cannot be bought for money and hence they are the more desirable.

The officers of the Apollo Club vouch for the excellence of Tuesday's programs and the high standard of the soloists. As the club itself has been in training since the first Monday in September, the songs which it will render will bring out all the merits of the best trained male chorus that could be got together in St. Louis.

The soloists for Tuesday night are Mlle. Camille Seygall, the principal soprano of the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, Belgium, and Herr Meyer-Hans of the Gewandhaus, Leipzig, a cellist with a big reputation and ready to pay any sum for the services of European soloists. Tickets to its annual triennial musical feasts are much sought. They cannot be bought for money and hence they are the more desirable.

The officers of the Apollo Club vouch for the excellence of Tuesday's programs and the high standard of the soloists. As the club itself has been in training since the first Monday in September, the songs which it will render will bring out all the merits of the best trained male chorus that could be got together in St. Louis.

The soloists for Tuesday night are Mlle. Camille Seygall, the principal soprano of the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, Belgium, and Herr Meyer-Hans of the Gewandhaus, Leipzig, a cellist with a big reputation and ready to pay any sum for the services of European soloists. Tickets to its annual triennial musical feasts are much sought. They cannot be bought for money and hence they are the more desirable.

The officers of the Apollo Club vouch for the excellence of Tuesday's programs and the high standard of the soloists. As the club itself has been in training since the first Monday in September, the songs which it will render will bring out all the merits of the best trained male chorus that could be got together in St. Louis.

The soloists for Tuesday night are Mlle. Camille Seygall, the principal soprano of the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, Belgium, and Herr Meyer-Hans of the Gewandhaus, Leipzig, a cellist with a big reputation and ready to pay any sum for the services of European soloists. Tickets to its annual triennial musical feasts are much sought. They cannot be bought for money and hence they are the more desirable.

The officers of the Apollo Club vouch for the excellence of Tuesday's programs and the high standard of the soloists. As the club itself has been in training since the first Monday in September, the songs which it will render will bring out all the merits of the best trained male chorus that could be got together in St. Louis.

The soloists for Tuesday night are Mlle. Camille Seygall, the principal soprano of the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, Belgium, and Herr Meyer-Hans of the Gewandhaus, Leipzig, a cellist with a big reputation and ready to pay any sum for the services of European soloists. Tickets to its annual triennial musical feasts are much sought. They cannot be bought for money and hence they are the more desirable.

The officers of the Apollo Club vouch for the excellence of Tuesday's programs and the high standard of the soloists. As the club itself has been in training since the first Monday in September, the songs which it will render will bring out all the merits of the best trained male chorus that could be got together in St. Louis.

The soloists for Tuesday night are Mlle. Camille Seygall, the principal soprano of the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, Belgium, and Herr Meyer-Hans of the Gewandhaus, Leipzig, a cellist with a big reputation and ready to pay any sum for the services of European soloists. Tickets to its annual triennial musical feasts are much sought. They cannot be bought for money and hence they are the more desirable.

The officers of the Apollo Club vouch for the excellence of Tuesday's programs and the high standard of the soloists. As the club itself has been in training since the first Monday in September, the songs which it will render will bring out all the merits of the best trained male chorus that could be got together in St. Louis.

The soloists for Tuesday night are Mlle. Camille Seygall, the principal soprano of the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, Belgium, and Herr Meyer-Hans of the Gewandhaus, Leipzig, a cellist with a big reputation and ready to pay any sum for the services of European soloists. Tickets to its annual triennial musical feasts are much sought. They cannot be bought for money and hence they are the more desirable.

The officers of the Apollo Club vouch for the excellence of Tuesday's programs and the high standard of the soloists. As the club itself has been in training since the first Monday in September, the songs which it will render will bring out all the merits of the best trained male chorus that could be got together in St. Louis.

The soloists for Tuesday night are Mlle. Camille Seygall, the principal soprano of the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, Belgium, and Herr Meyer-Hans of the Gewandhaus, Leipzig, a cellist with a big reputation and ready to pay any sum for the services of European soloists. Tickets to its annual triennial musical feasts are much sought. They cannot be bought for money and hence they are the more desirable.

The officers of the Apollo Club vouch for the excellence of Tuesday's programs and the high standard of the soloists. As the club itself has been in training since the first Monday in September, the songs which it will render will bring out all the merits of the best trained male chorus that could be got together in St. Louis.

The soloists for Tuesday night are Mlle. Camille Seygall, the principal soprano of the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, Belgium, and Herr Meyer-Hans of the Gewandhaus, Leipzig, a cellist with a big reputation and ready to pay any sum for the services of European soloists. Tickets to its annual triennial musical feasts are much sought. They cannot be bought for money and hence they are the more desirable.

The officers of the Apollo Club vouch for the excellence of Tuesday's programs and the high standard of the soloists. As the club itself has been in training since the first Monday in September, the songs which it will render will bring out all the merits of the best trained male chorus that could be got together in St. Louis.

The soloists for Tuesday night are Mlle. Camille Seygall, the principal soprano of the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, Belgium, and Herr Meyer-Hans of the Gewandhaus, Leipzig, a cellist with a big reputation and ready to pay any sum for the services of European soloists. Tickets to its annual triennial musical feasts are much sought. They cannot be bought for money and hence they are the more desirable.

The officers of the Apollo Club vouch for the excellence of Tuesday's programs and the high standard of the soloists. As the club itself has been in training since the first Monday in September, the songs which it will render will bring out all the merits of the best trained male chorus that could be got together in St. Louis.

The soloists for Tuesday night are Mlle. Camille Seygall, the principal soprano of the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, Belgium, and Herr Meyer-Hans of the Gewandhaus, Leipzig, a cellist with a big reputation and ready to pay any sum for the services of European soloists. Tickets to its annual triennial musical feasts are much sought. They cannot be bought for money and hence they are the more desirable.

The officers of the Apollo Club vouch for the excellence of Tuesday's programs and the high standard of the soloists. As the club itself has been in training since the first Monday in September, the songs which it will render will bring out all the merits of the best trained male chorus that could be got together in St. Louis.

The soloists for Tuesday night are Mlle. Camille Seygall, the principal soprano of the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, Belgium, and Herr Meyer-Hans of the Gewandhaus, Leipzig, a cellist with a big reputation and ready to pay any sum for the services of European soloists. Tickets to its annual triennial musical feasts are much sought. They cannot be bought for money and hence they are the more desirable.

The officers of the Apollo Club vouch for the excellence of Tuesday's programs and the high standard of the soloists. As the club itself has been in training since the first Monday in September, the songs which it will render will bring out all the merits of the best trained male chorus that could be got together in St. Louis.

The soloists for Tuesday night are Mlle. Camille Seygall, the principal soprano of the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, Belgium, and Herr Meyer-Hans of the Gewandhaus, Leipzig, a cellist with a big reputation and ready to pay any sum for the services of European soloists. Tickets to its annual triennial musical feasts are much sought. They cannot be bought for money and hence they are the more desirable.

The officers of the Apollo Club vouch for the excellence of Tuesday's programs and the high standard of the soloists. As the club itself has been in training since the first Monday in September, the songs which it will render will bring out all the merits of the best trained male chorus that could be got together in St. Louis.

The soloists for Tuesday night are Mlle. Camille Seygall, the principal soprano of the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, Belgium, and Herr Meyer-Hans of the Gewandhaus, Leipzig, a cellist with a big reputation and ready to pay any sum for the services of European soloists. Tickets to its annual triennial musical feasts are much sought. They cannot be bought for money and hence they are the more desirable.

The officers of the Apollo Club vouch for the excellence of Tuesday's programs and the high standard of the soloists. As the club itself has been in training since the first Monday in September, the songs which it will render will bring out all the merits of the best trained male chorus that could be got together in St. Louis.

The soloists for Tuesday night are Mlle. Camille Seygall, the principal soprano of the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, Belgium, and Herr Meyer-Hans of the Gewandhaus, Leipzig, a cellist with a big reputation and ready to pay any sum for the services of European soloists. Tickets to its annual triennial musical feasts are much sought. They cannot be bought for money and hence they are the more desirable.

The officers of the Apollo Club vouch for the excellence of Tuesday's programs and the high standard of the soloists. As the club itself has been in training since the first Monday in September, the songs which it will render will bring out all the merits of the best trained male chorus that could be got together in St. Louis.

The soloists for Tuesday night are Mlle. Camille Seygall, the principal soprano of the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, Belgium, and Herr Meyer-Hans of the Gewandhaus, Leipzig, a cellist with a big reputation and ready to pay any sum for the services of European soloists. Tickets to its annual triennial

ALFRED ROBYN'S NEW OPERETTA.

"ERIC-A-BRA" IS A BURLESQUE ON A SOCIETY FAD.

BOOK BY GEORGE GROSSMITH.

Mrs. Urilla McDearmon Buckner and Mr. Joseph Buse Will Originate the Roles.

Alfred G. Robyn, St. Louis' talented composer, has written a new operetta. This time the book is a society fad.

He has expended his musical genius on a never-told-by George Grossmith, the English comedian and monologue artist.

The operetta is called "Eric-a-Bra." It is said to be as airy delicate and graceful as its title would indicate.

There are only two characters, the Duchess and Lord Vase. The book is a burlesque on the fashionable fad of collecting a bric-a-brac. The Duchess is supposed to be the owner of an antique vase that had been in the possession of Julius Caesar.

The patron of all bric-a-brac collectors, Lord Vase is a victim of the fad, rolling in wealth but too miserly to pay the fabulous price asked by the Duchess for her precious.

In the course of the plot, he makes up his mind to marry the Duchess and get possession of the precious plate in that way.

The blue ribbon of love begins to be woven with passion than the delicate glow of a peach blossom.

In the meantime, Lord Vase learns only after his engagement is announced that the plate is a fraud. He repents of the engagement in a fit of passion, but when he breaks away from the Duchess, she pinches him and says, "You may be as witty, and the song Gilbertian in conceit."

Mr. Robyn's score is in his most melodramatic work. He claims it has ever done and is pinning his hopes on instant popularity for several of the lyrics.

The production of the work will take place Friday evening, Nov. 20, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at once been in the possession of Julius Caesar, the patron of all bric-a-brac collectors. Lord Vase is a victim of the fad, rolling in wealth but too miserly to pay the fabulous price asked by the Duchess for her precious.

MR. ALFRED ROBYN.

In the course of the plot, he makes up his mind to marry the Duchess and get possession of the precious plate in that way.

The blue ribbon of love begins to be woven with passion than the delicate glow of a peach blossom.

In the meantime, Lord Vase learns only after his engagement is announced that the plate is a fraud. He repents of the engagement in a fit of passion, but when he breaks away from the Duchess, she pinches him and says, "You may be as witty, and the song Gilbertian in conceit."

Mr. Robyn's score is in his most melodramatic work. He claims it has ever done and is pinning his hopes on instant popularity for several of the lyrics.

The production of the work will take place Friday evening, Nov. 20, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, 260 Dearborn.

It will be strictly private society event—no—all the guests will be seated only at

&lt;p

A BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR ST. LOUIS REALTY.

Agents Are Preparing for a Healthy Revival in the Early Springtime.

Some Valuable Figures and Facts That Speak
Well for St. Louis.

Two Big Sky Scrapers Are to Go Up, One 16, the Other 18 Stories High—The Torrens Bill to Be Revived—Laclede Building
Site Sold.

The real estate interests of St. Louis are probably in a better position for improvement than they have been for several years. There is a general feeling of confidence among all who are in the business that better days are at hand for them in the near future. At the same time there are conservative and do not put faith in the roosevelt claims being made that there will be an immediate boom that will eclipse anything ever seen here. The revival of property in a day, a week, or a month, is not possible, but improvement in the business is already well under way by spring, it is believed that the old time experience of making daily sales will become a reality.

For the moment, at least, the decided improvement in the inquiry for all kinds of property, residence property, is particularly strong, and the inquiries of the agents will in the next few days close some important deals.

There is also a decided improvement in business property.

Prospects are good for an abundance of cash money, and the rates of interest on loans are now as low as 6 per cent.

For the reason money is more plentiful than ever before for year or more.

The trust companies, the real estate men and others have been told by capital clients to go ahead with their plans.

The property offered for sale is all desirable.

Another feature which indicates the coming improvement is the announcement made by several of the agents who make a specialty of such matters, that they will as soon as spring comes open their offices again, and with the full expectation that they will prove successful.

During the past spring and summer, however, they attempted, but except in a few instances, they were not successful and further attempts to dispose of property in that way were not made.

A number of large subdivisions will be placed on the market as soon as weather permits, and will be disposed of through the medium of the public auction sale. All of these tracts are located in parts of the city which are outside the family districts, and are intended to permit of their being sold at reasonable figures, such as would catch the eye of the public.

There is an old saw that there is no evil without a corresponding good. This is exemplified in the local real estate business.

For several years the market, which like every other market, has been overvalued with real estate agents. They were not of the kind who had offices and paid their meticulous fees for doing business.

They are gone! The hard times and the extreme scarcity of buyers of real estate left them without the means to turn a penny, honest or otherwise.

The business of the family districts is outside the city limits. In former years the insufficient and inconvenient transportation facilities made the country anything but a desirable field.

Suburban districts, however, have changed all this and it requires but a few minutes to go outside the limits of the city.

If it did not, it did not, additional car lines that are projected will increase the desirability of country residence.

One reason, and a very strong one, that the real estate interests have that diverse interests to feel the resumption of prosperity, is the phenomenal growth of the population in the same ratio, that growth means that within ten years St. Louis will have a million inhabitants and will extend her corporate limits beyond the present.

It is a fact that would hardly be credited by the non-resident, that during the four years from May 1, 1895, to May 1, 1898, the new buildings up to St. Louis 1,251 solid blocks of ground. The basis for these figures are the records of the Post-Dispatch.

From May, 1892, to May, 1898, 12,216 buildings were erected in this city. On a conservative estimate from the records of the Post-Dispatch, it is allowed for each building to contain 10,000 square feet of floor space, showing that 120,000 blocks built up to 1,251, a record that no city in the United States can exceed.

Another strong argument in favor of the city from a real estate investor's standpoint is the great scarcity of vacant stores.

A Post-Dispatch reporter made a count of the vacant stores between Third street and Grand avenue, on Olive, the principal artery of the city.

The result shows that the percentage of stores for rent was less than 4 per cent.

Among these stores, on the street in the territory named, the percentage of stores for rent in the same street, showed less than 2 per cent to be vacant.

Real estate men expect and figure on at least ten per cent of vacancies.

In the general improvement that is promising the next few months, none of the downtown streets will probably be as busy as much as Pine street. The quiet, quiet, but determined movement on foot to and from the front as leading men are the wealthy owners of property east of Twelfth street. They have gone home, and the work is thoroughly business-like manner.

One of the first steps toward the end to building on prominent corners west of Twelfth street is an eighteen-story office building. The plans of this building, as contemplated by the architect, represent an effort to bring the street to a standstill.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

The plan of this building, when completed, will be the Post-Dispatch's.

$50.00 PRIZE OFFER.

There are a great number of amateur story writers in St. Louis and in the Southwest. It is more or less difficult for unknown writers to get their productions before the public in any form.

To encourage budding genius the Sunday Post-Dispatch offers a prize of fifty dollars for the best short story of from one thousand to two thousand words, the competition to close March 1, under the following conditions:

The story must be confined within the prescribed limits.

The competition is confined to amateurs. Contributions of known professional writers will not be considered whether offered in their own name or otherwise.

All manuscripts will be the property of the Post-Dispatch, and those deemed worthy of publication will be published from time to time.

The award will be made on the decision of three judges of acknowledged literary ability to be announced later.

The competition will close at 9 a.m., March 1. Manuscripts reaching the Post-Dispatch office later than that hour, by mail or otherwise, will not be considered.

The award will be made April 1, in order to give the judges time to pass on the merits of the stories.

Competitors must write on one side of the paper only. This rule must be adhered to.

THE STORY OF THE AMUSING MATCHES.

An Allegory Depicting Four Epochs in the Life of a Man and a Maiden.

Once upon a time there lived a maid and a youth who were unusually famous for their beauty of face, firmness of character and originality of ideas. They belonged to noble families, and they were extremely fond of each other.

One day the maiden, whose name was Zonda, brought forth a beautifully carved golden casket. "See," she cried to Waldorf, the youth, "I have found this box. It has amused my ancestors for years, and it may amuse yours. You can never guess what may come day tomorrow; a box like this, for all families possess such an one."

With that she took out a small spring and the blue diamonds and flames leaped into yellow flames. Inside there were waxy matches of all colors. They were about five inches in length, and each match divided its inches just like a tape circle, marking its inches just like a tape circle.

These peculiar matches were indeed wonderfully and fearfully constructed. To see them how many matches one burned up, one would always find the little casket amply replenished by some mysterious power.

"Come," said Zonda sweetly, "let us light one of these." Then she struck one of the tapers, and Waldorf saw that the children screamed with ecstasy.

A brook bubbled in the trees, birds swayed through the air in their thrilling flute-like notes in a frenzy of bird joy. A soft breeze kissed the trees, and murmured through the blossoms. Daisies and violets and at shy violets, ground bugs chirped with the melody of nature, butterflies floated over the waves as they lashed the shores and the whispered gurglings of the white and green foam, and the glistening shells all impressed them with the grandeur and vastness of the ocean, the life of the world, and the restlessness of the universe.

And so it passed, until that Zonda shrank back from the spray of the waves, and the brisk, salt-seasoned breeze, clasped her tightly, forming a golden casket around her with tender solicitude, and as he did so a light leapt into his eyes which was reflected by a wonderful responsive light in her own. And the ocean was still, the restlessness surging the sun, the moon, the stars, the clouds, the universe seemed to disappear in a glorious harmony of sounds; the winds force of manhood.

"On the Island of Kasagami," he says, "lived a distinguished toyon, a rich man. He was a widower, and was greatly desirous of entertaining. He had a son 12 or 14 years old, whom he fondly loved. He built him a little house, or koto, and painted it with gold. When the boy was 12, he begged his father to allow him to go to the sea. The father himself assisted from the beach into the water."

"The boy swam in the sea a diving bird, following his father, and the boy followed him farther from shore. The boy was followed by another Indian, who to frighten him, drew a bow and arrow at the boat and the boat turned over, and the boy was drowned. The canoe was cast upon the ground and the sister, who was barefooted, slipped and fell, so that she died soon after, from the shock of the operation and had his son brought back to the house."

"He did not know what to do with the body, so he gave orders to the people to clear off the house and to burn the body. The ceremonies which followed he told the people who had intended to make a mausoleum for him and his family, and that he wished to be placed there himself. He said that his greatest care might be taken in the wrappings, that he might be buried in his koto."

After the death of the father, which soon followed, the tomb was closed and the body remained as they were placed until recent years. According to the custom of the older Eskimos the bodies may have been placed there as early as 170, which would make the ages of these nature's mummies 166 years.

In appearance the mummies differ little from those of the Egyptians, several of which are near them. The body of the boy who was drowned was placed in a sitting posture, with the knees drawn up. Many of the people who came to the funeral of the boy at the bidding of the father was the sister of the boy. As she came to the funeral, she was overcome with grief, and fell to the ground and the sister, who was barefooted, slipped and fell, so that she died soon after, from the shock of the operation and had his son brought back to the house."

"He did not know what to do with the body, so he gave orders to the people to clear off the house and to burn the body. The ceremonies which followed he told the people who had intended to make a mausoleum for him and his family, and that he wished to be placed there himself. He said that his greatest care might be taken in the wrappings, that he might be buried in his koto."

After the death of the father, which soon followed, the tomb was closed and the body remained as they were placed until recent years. According to the custom of the older Eskimos the bodies may have been placed there as early as 170, which would make the ages of these nature's mummies 166 years.

In appearance the mummies differ little from those of the Egyptians, several of which are near them. The body of the boy who was drowned was placed in a sitting posture, with the knees drawn up. Many of the people who came to the funeral of the boy at the bidding of the father was the sister of the boy. As she came to the funeral, she was overcome with grief, and fell to the ground and the sister, who was barefooted, slipped and fell, so that she died soon after, from the shock of the operation and had his son brought back to the house."

"He did not know what to do with the body, so he gave orders to the people to clear off the house and to burn the body. The ceremonies which followed he told the people who had intended to make a mausoleum for him and his family, and that he wished to be placed there himself. He said that his greatest care might be taken in the wrappings, that he might be buried in his koto."

After the death of the father, which soon followed, the tomb was closed and the body remained as they were placed until recent years. According to the custom of the older Eskimos the bodies may have been placed there as early as 170, which would make the ages of these nature's mummies 166 years.

In appearance the mummies differ little from those of the Egyptians, several of which are near them. The body of the boy who was drowned was placed in a sitting posture, with the knees drawn up. Many of the people who came to the funeral of the boy at the bidding of the father was the sister of the boy. As she came to the funeral, she was overcome with grief, and fell to the ground and the sister, who was barefooted, slipped and fell, so that she died soon after, from the shock of the operation and had his son brought back to the house."

"He did not know what to do with the body, so he gave orders to the people to clear off the house and to burn the body. The ceremonies which followed he told the people who had intended to make a mausoleum for him and his family, and that he wished to be placed there himself. He said that his greatest care might be taken in the wrappings, that he might be buried in his koto."

After the death of the father, which soon followed, the tomb was closed and the body remained as they were placed until recent years. According to the custom of the older Eskimos the bodies may have been placed there as early as 170, which would make the ages of these nature's mummies 166 years.

In appearance the mummies differ little from those of the Egyptians, several of which are near them. The body of the boy who was drowned was placed in a sitting posture, with the knees drawn up. Many of the people who came to the funeral of the boy at the bidding of the father was the sister of the boy. As she came to the funeral, she was overcome with grief, and fell to the ground and the sister, who was barefooted, slipped and fell, so that she died soon after, from the shock of the operation and had his son brought back to the house."

"He did not know what to do with the body, so he gave orders to the people to clear off the house and to burn the body. The ceremonies which followed he told the people who had intended to make a mausoleum for him and his family, and that he wished to be placed there himself. He said that his greatest care might be taken in the wrappings, that he might be buried in his koto."

After the death of the father, which soon followed, the tomb was closed and the body remained as they were placed until recent years. According to the custom of the older Eskimos the bodies may have been placed there as early as 170, which would make the ages of these nature's mummies 166 years.

through the air with lazy grace, and over all the sun spread forth its golden, genial glow, quickening the pulses of the warmth life, and the heart, and the human soul to a depth of feeling for the world in general, and self in particular.

And it was but natural that Zonda with flashing eyes. But the youth was awed by the splendor of it all, and his head was bowed as he answered in a low voice, "Yes."

"But, Zonda, you have gone beyond this first circle," said Zonda, "because if we do we may become unhappy. Come, we will bid you on the matches again, because there we shall have the same lovely scene over again, for I am content with that are over?"

And Zonda, while realizing how restless he had been with her through all the scenes of the life, and his head was bowed as he answered "Yes." But by and by he commenced to tire of the birds and flowers, and the sweet and simple pictures of "Nature's" few hours. So he said, still in his awe, low-breathed voice:

"I am very tired of all this; let us try the second notch and see what the other scenes are like."

And first Zonda despaired, but he coaxed her in a gentle, persuasive way, and with tears in her eyes, she allowed the tiny flame to burn through all the beauties of nature's freshness and beyond the first circle.

A strange sensation crept over the boy as this transpired. A thrill of anguish, however, memory of the pangs of the pulse of Waldorf, while Zonda became possessed of a dreamy, tender mood, a large silver lake glowed before him.

"Love," he said, "was the first match, but, matching a shower of moonbeams. The night was a dream in a drowsy glory. Occasionally a glittering fish, the whispering of trees broke the peaceful stillness, but, save the sound of the ocean, the silent, witching beauty of it all was complete."

And the third, Waldorf, the wonderful, "Yes, Zonda, the passion of the universe was in that third."

"Yes, Zonda, you were not satisfied. And still Waldorf you were not satisfied. You left me, and I was frightened by the roar of the ocean, you were not there long to support my fears, and so how would you if I trusted you and burned the fourth notch?"

To this he made no reply, but, matching a match from the little gold casket that she had given him, set it by on the sea, lit it. "Look," he said firmly and gently.

"Very Old Soap."

Before this there splashed fountains of all colors above the ocean, a thousand, rose-like, pink roses thrilled the air again. The trees still murmured, the grasses still whispered, the bushes them with terror, trees, and a shall you burn it either until you learn contentment, consideration." And then with a sweet, but heart broken smile, she closed his eyes, and he slept, and he slept.

The days, weeks, and months, and years rolled by—at first he could not find himself at home. It was Zonda who had been his mother, who had chattered too much, she had displeased him in every way, he hated her, he could not understand why he had ever cared for her.

And Zonda, while realizing how restless he had been with her through all the scenes of the life, and his head was bowed as he answered in a low voice, "Yes."

"But, Zonda, you have gone beyond this first circle," said Zonda, "because if we do we may become unhappy. Come, we will bid you on the matches again, because there we shall have the same lovely scene over again, for I am content with that are over?"

And Zonda, while realizing how restless he had been with her through all the scenes of the life, and his head was bowed as he answered "Yes." But by and by he commenced to tire of the birds and flowers, and the sweet and simple pictures of "Nature's" few hours. So he said, still in his awe, low-breathed voice:

"I am very tired of all this; let us try the second notch and see what the other scenes are like."

And first Zonda despaired, but he coaxed her in a gentle, persuasive way, and with tears in her eyes, she allowed the tiny flame to burn through all the beauties of nature's freshness and beyond the first circle.

A strange sensation crept over the boy as this transpired. A thrill of anguish, however, memory of the pangs of the pulse of Waldorf, while Zonda became possessed of a dreamy, tender mood, a large silver lake glowed before him.

"Love," he said, "was the first match, but, matching a shower of moonbeams. The night was a dream in a drowsy glory. Occasionally a glittering fish, the whispering of trees broke the peaceful stillness, but, save the sound of the ocean, the silent, witching beauty of it all was complete."

And the third, Waldorf, the wonderful, "Yes, Zonda, the passion of the universe was in that third."

"Yes, Zonda, you were not satisfied. And still Waldorf you were not satisfied. You left me, and I was frightened by the roar of the ocean, you were not there long to support my fears, and so how would you if I trusted you and burned the fourth notch?"

To this he made no reply, but, matching a match from the little gold casket that she had given him, set it by on the sea, lit it. "Look," he said firmly and gently.

"Very Old Soap."

Before this there splashed fountains of all colors above the ocean, a thousand, rose-like, pink roses thrived the air again. The trees still murmured, the grasses still whispered, the bushes them with terror, trees, and a

JUST BECAUSE HE TICKLED HER FEET.

MR. LITTLEMEDDER DISCUSSES MRS. CARTER AND THE DOUBLE NEGATIVE.

"Well, this beats anything I ever saw!" exclaimed Mr. Littlemedder, as he slammed a paper down on the bar and looked furious. "Woman is usurping our rights and encroaching upon our domain more every day. But I leave every privilege will be cut off, and we will be slaves to the woman. Victims of domineering, implacable Woman."

"What's all this about?" I inquired when he had finished.

"About you," he demanded.

"I," he said, flinging his head back and straightening his strong, young shoulders, "I am a god, a god, a god, and you are to be my goddess, live and die for me, love me."

"Yes," came her soft whisper. And thus they burst the fourth notch, which proved to be the best of all.

MARY RACHEL GAGE.

MUMMIES AT THE SMITHSONIAN.

They Come From Alaska and Are About 150 Years Old.

It seems to be the general belief that only in the far East, especially in Egypt, have desecrated bodies of human beings, fairly well preserved and bearing a resemblance to the form they held in life, been discovered.

But in 1878, at the Smithsonian Institution, a number of mummified mummies which were dug up in this hemisphere, the history of which Prof. Thomas Wilson, the director of the Bureau of Anthropology, was kind enough to tell me.

These seem to be the general belief that only in the far East, especially in Egypt, have desecrated bodies of human beings, fairly well preserved and bearing a resemblance to the form they held in life, been discovered.

It seems to be the general belief that only in the far East, especially in Egypt, have desecrated bodies of human beings, fairly well preserved and bearing a resemblance to the form they held in life, been discovered.

It seems to be the general belief that only in the far East, especially in Egypt, have desecrated bodies of human beings, fairly well preserved and bearing a resemblance to the form they held in life, been discovered.

It seems to be the general belief that only in the far East, especially in Egypt, have desecrated bodies of human beings, fairly well preserved and bearing a resemblance to the form they held in life, been discovered.

It seems to be the general belief that only in the far East, especially in Egypt, have desecrated bodies of human beings, fairly well preserved and bearing a resemblance to the form they held in life, been discovered.

It seems to be the general belief that only in the far East, especially in Egypt, have desecrated bodies of human beings, fairly well preserved and bearing a resemblance to the form they held in life, been discovered.

It seems to be the general belief that only in the far East, especially in Egypt, have desecrated bodies of human beings, fairly well preserved and bearing a resemblance to the form they held in life, been discovered.

It seems to be the general belief that only in the far East, especially in Egypt, have desecrated bodies of human beings, fairly well preserved and bearing a resemblance to the form they held in life, been discovered.

It seems to be the general belief that only in the far East, especially in Egypt, have desecrated bodies of human beings, fairly well preserved and bearing a resemblance to the form they held in life, been discovered.

It seems to be the general belief that only in the far East, especially in Egypt, have desecrated bodies of human beings, fairly well preserved and bearing a resemblance to the form they held in life, been discovered.

It seems to be the general belief that only in the far East, especially in Egypt, have desecrated bodies of human beings, fairly well preserved and bearing a resemblance to the form they held in life, been discovered.

It seems to be the general belief that only in the far East, especially in Egypt, have desecrated bodies of human beings, fairly well preserved and bearing a resemblance to the form they held in life, been discovered.

It seems to be the general belief that only in the far East, especially in Egypt, have desecrated bodies of human beings, fairly well preserved and bearing a resemblance to the form they held in life, been discovered.

It seems to be the general belief that only in the far East, especially in Egypt, have desecrated bodies of human beings, fairly well preserved and bearing a resemblance to the form they held in life, been discovered.

It seems to be the general belief that only in the far East, especially in Egypt, have desecrated bodies of human beings, fairly well preserved and bearing a resemblance to the form they held in life, been discovered.

It seems to be the general belief that only in the far East, especially in Egypt, have desecrated bodies of human beings, fairly well preserved and bearing a resemblance to the form they held in life, been discovered.

It seems to be the general belief that only in the far East, especially in Egypt, have desecrated bodies of human beings, fairly well preserved and bearing a resemblance to the form they held in life, been discovered.

It seems to be the general belief that only in the far East, especially in Egypt, have desecrated bodies of human beings, fairly well preserved and bearing a resemblance to the form they held in life, been discovered.

A SWELL CARRIAGE GOWN.

This represents a carriage gown of winter crepon, the ground of the goods being in black crepe woven in interlaced of red and green, while the dress is in blue taffeta. The skirt fits closely at the top and has wide sides, a band of green, cut velvet two and one-half inches wide, rimmed on either side with pleatings of satin ribbon in two colors, mauve and a rose, ornamenting the lower edge of the skirt. The waist is of green silk, tight and trim, with a row of ribbon back and front in two colors, six large buttons, jeweled upon filigree silk with amethyst and emerald stones, ornamenting the darts. The sleeves are tight with velvet cuffs and top puffs trimmed with pleatings.

PORTRAIT ENGAGEMENT BUTTONS.

NEW YORK MAIDENS WEAR ON THEIR HOUSE GOWNS BUTTONS BEARING THEIR PORTRAITS.

Buttons are quite the fad of the season, as every dressmaker will admit, but it is probably only in New York that the photographic button has aroused violent enthusiasm in every girl old enough to have a lover. The Gotham girl who is fortunate enough to have a portrait of her sweetheart on her house dress is likely to attain a vogue that will not be limited by the confines of New York.

The clever buttonmakers who are making a specialty of this fad are having a busy reproducing masculine lineaments upon buttons of all shapes and sizes, in their power to make any kind of gay combination. There are buttons, white, black and colored, square, round and oval, small and large, artistic and ugly, and some gold-colored buttons, while others are surrounded by a line of mosaic or enamel. But they are all alike in that they are all portraits of the girl's face. And here it may be observed that almost anybody looks well on a button, though it does not come like a very dignified setting. In this direct and simple manner, however, is it really better not to let it be known? It appears that one of the favorite fads of the day is the collecting of crests. The girl provides herself with a large black fan, carries it about with the envy of her friends, and adorns her fan therewith. The craze has the advantage of promoting conversation.

White Hands.

For whitening the hands nothing is more effective than smearing them over with a little almond paste at night, and then putting on a pale pink or yellow tint which have been perforated all over with minute holes. Unless there is a certain amount of perspiration the hands become hot, and the skin is consequently softened too much. This is a pasty paste, however, is really better not used at all, as it soon chaps, because it is simply intended to be used for whitening purposes and not as a cosmetic. The hand is therefore better suited to use glycerine and cucumber or something else of a similar description.

To Keep &amp; Kettle Clean.

There are many and various inventions for attaining this end, some of which are very efficacious. There is, however, nothing like the old-fashioned way of getting a lime out of the kettle by removing it from time to time when necessary.

News of Royalty.

Her Majesty is busily engaged in directing the arrangements to be made at Balmoral for the reception of the Imperial visitors from Russia, the date of which will be the 1st of December. The Queen is much assisted by the presence of Princess Beatrice and Princess Victoria of Battenberg. Her Majesty is absent from the court at the present time, but is staying at Balmoral.

Prince Bessborough, as Governor of the Isle of Wight, has been invited to attend the coronation of the late poet laureate in the hall of the Royal Society. This will be the first public appearance of the Prince, who has been in official capacity as Governor, and will doubtless be a pleasurable duty, as Lord Fawcett was always looked upon as a good man.

The future home of the Prince of Naples and Sicily, which beautiful city the prince takes his name from, is to be a very beautiful girl, and for that reason he will go to almost any extreme to accomplish that result in a hurry.

Plain, dirty, sticky mud. The idea is by no means new, but it is the first time that the discoverer was the summer girl who has come from the mountains to the city in the mountains. The bugaboo of the summer girl's season is the tan which she brings back to the city with her. She has been taking care to keep it from the eyes, but a triumphal progress, the Italian nation. France, Milan, Venice and Turin will be included in the list of places to be

Pancakes.

Mix one pint of flour and one teaspoonful of baking powder. Beat separately the whites and yolks of six eggs, add to the yolks first with one teaspoonful of salt; then follow with the whites and four tablespoons of sugar. Turn the batter. Lard the bottom of the frying pan and fry quickly. Pancakes should be rolled up like a sheet of paper, laid upon a flat dish, covered with butter, jelly or preserves, as preferred.

Sleeping in the Dark.

Bring children up to sleep in the dark, as it is much better for their eyes, the common disease of the eyes being the result of green or blue curtains are the best for bedrooms, and they should be drawn across the room now, so that the light of the moonlight cannot fall directly upon the eyes. Never place a child bed opposite a window, as the bright light falling upon the face in sleep is exceedingly bad for the sight.

PHOTOGRAPH BUTTONS ARE THE VERY LATEST NEW YORK NOVELTY.

The feeling of the mud on the face is not pleasant, but it is the first time that the mud has been applied to the skin. The mud is a poultice, and its beneficial results are much greater. The hands are washed in water, and the mud is applied to the skin. It is a very nice way, indeed, to take to cover all portions of the skin alike as the smallest patch of uncovered skin is liable to become discolored and unattractive the next morning.

The mud is the old Roman way, as old as history. The old Romans knew of it and it is very probable that Cleopatra used the mud as a poultice. The mud is a poultice in the West mud is a poultice for poison bites and stings. And the rural maidens

The mud may be distilled to a great many people, but it is the mud just as fresh as the mud on many occasions on which visited, most of them being entirely new to the Princess. The Queen has conferred on one of her best known female friends, Miss Thérèse Parise, the Order of Orange-Nassau. Miss St. John is a distinguished painter, whose work is highly esteemed in Holland and in France. Her husband is a painter, and the story goes that in order to hold the youthful Queen's attention she had to undertake to paint the portrait of the royal couple.

WOMEN OF ARMENIA.

English Customs Slowly Reaching Them—The Mothers Rule.

Armenia is now unfortunately a very prominent quarter of Europe, and it is interesting to note what the women of that country are like.

The Armenian girl is little troubled with either her household duties, spinning and needle-work—and at this last accomplishment she is always an expert, especially at embroidery—unless indeed she attends the girls' mission schools carried on in many towns, where she will learn English, French, and possibly her own language. She is not infrequently adopt the vernacular of the country wherein they live. She will also speak a little English for domestic use, perhaps, with a somewhat severe hand.

The Armenian girl is deeply sentimental, and likes to read of love, and marriage is, of course, the ultimate theme of her reading.

Her mother is a good girl, brought up by her mother, and nowhere are women of more importance or hold more weight in the community.

She is at the head of the patriarchal establishment, in which her sons, their wives and often her nephews and nieces dwell. She is the chief authority in the house, and, perhaps, with a somewhat severe hand, she is the one who decides what the wife should do.

In the Armenian family there is a great deal of respect for the parents.

The best traits in a young man's character will naturally be revealed when, after intimate acquaintance with a young lady, his interest in her rises into deep affection and an earnest desire to win hers in return. If at length this interest becomes mutual, and with no desire to make a false impression or to appear better than they really are, both are likely to manifest the best and most lovable traits in their characters. For love, if true, softens and refines the daily life.

With the lover is this most emphatically the case. To him no effort is burdensome by which he can gratify her desire, with every consideration for her sake increases his happiness. But when the prize is won and the twain are made one—how is it then? Will all the kind and thoughtful, the sweet and graceful courtesies grow brighter and holier as the days roll by?

Will the respectful attention and honor given every true gentleman gives to woman be even more scrupulously given to the wife?

If so, "then will sweet peace wreath her chain round them forever," and the love born in youth will grow deeper and more sacred with coming years.

There can be no hope of true happiness in any household in which marriage brings indifference, or the husband feels no responsibility for the welfare of his wife, or the wife the burden of supporting him.

Women of Armenia are practically unrestricted, and it is well that it is so, for the Armenian girl is a true daughter of the earth, and the marriage bond is only secured by death.

Not infrequently the girl's choice falls upon an Englishman or other European, and the Armenian mother and father and officials in Persia and Turkey find them excellent wives.

The Armenian national costume consists of a voluminous skirt of heavy broadcloth material, a tight embroidered bodice of the same stuff, bordered above the waist with handwoven olive-green braid marking the waist. The head coverings are fichus of striped embroidered silk, and a multitude of chin and ear ornaments.

In winter the embroidered bodice is exchanged for a wadded one, and huge felt stockings cover the ordinary bodice to keep out the biting cold. The Armenian women do not wear veils to conceal their features, as a point of religion, they are not inclined to do so, and often expose their faces with gauze or a corner of a shawl.

Some of the younger women, however, have adopted the custom of wearing a veil, that of London three years ago, and are evidently not quite at ease in their new surroundings.

But the marriage bond is so associated with death, with which it is connected, that it is difficult to dispense with the custom which adorn it.

Therefore the new fashion has come in, and the new fashion will be adopted by the earnest.

To test bad water buy an ounce of sulfur, add a drop to a number of suspected fogs, and if the color changes to brown it is bad water.

Test for soap by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for oil by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for soap by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for alum by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

Test for starch by dipping a piece of cotton cloth in water, then dip it in the water to be tested.

MRS. BEECHER ON TWO LIVE TOPICS.

THE DISCUSSES THE HUSBAND AND FATHER'S OBLIGATIONS AND ENCOURAGES WIVES.

The best traits in a young man's character will naturally be revealed when, after intimate acquaintance with a young lady, his interest in her rises into deep affection and an earnest desire to win hers in return.

If at length this interest becomes mutual, and with no desire to make a false impression or to appear better than they really are, both are likely to manifest the best and most lovable traits in their characters. For love, if true, softens and refines the daily life.

With the lover is this most emphatically the case. To him no effort is burdensome by which he can gratify her desire, with every consideration for her sake increases his happiness.

The best traits in a young man's character will naturally be revealed when, after intimate acquaintance with a young lady, his interest in her rises into deep affection and an earnest desire to win hers in return.

If at length this interest becomes mutual, and with no desire to make a false impression or to

BRAIN CELLS A PICTURE GALLERY.

WHY A MENTAL PICTURE IS OBTAINED BY THINKING OF A PAST SCENE.

Several years ago a paper was read by Alfred Binet before the French Academy of Medicine, in which he advanced this idea, that sensations from the outer world pass over the auditory and optic and olfactory nerves, after they have been modified properly by our retinae and inner ear and nose, throw up or paint actual pictures on the cortex of the brain. This is the same upon the protoplasm of the brain cells as upon the cellulose of the skin and body.

It was a rose whose other waves engrave themselves on the visual purple.

The retina of a similar picture of a rose was thrown up in a brain cell. Binet also contended that odors and sounds and sensations of taste and touch are sensations.

It is well-known that the blind, when the notes of an explosion roar into their brain through the ears, often exclaim "Oh, it's a bomb."

The Medical Week, which is published every Saturday in three numbers, printed in its last number for Oct. 29, 1885, contains an article on the "Histology (minutiae structure) of Brain Cells" by Dr. G. Marinesco.

Dr. Marinesco is an Italian physician who has been making the rounds of all the great physiological laboratories in Europe and finding out and describing the very latest results in his field.

Dr. Marinesco's last letter, above referred to, describes at great length the marvellous discoveries of modern science in the microscopic structure of the brain cells. These savants have been working separately and at their respective laboratories have found that the protoplasm, or general molecular contents of these cells consist of (1) a colorless, fibrous, or stringy substance, and (2) of a granular substance.

They also discovered that the colorless substance has unquestionable plastic properties and that it is composed of small and more or less minute outlines of the colorless substance.

In other words, these exceedingly complex structures, gathering Columbus-like in the field of brain-cell structure have found in all such cells the two constituents of a picture or sketch, and that these are the outlines of heavy shading and stippling or air-brush dots, which fill or round up the pictorial and give life and color to it.

The colorless substance, for these substances are most abundant in the middle spaces or artistic foreground of the cell and that they are entirely absent in the cell and that they are entirely absent in the cell and that they are entirely absent in the cell and that they are entirely absent in the cell.

A PUBLIC MILK BATH HOUSE.

A BIG LACTEAL SWIMMING POOL WHERE WOMEN MAY INDULGE THE LATEST FAD.

The newest thing for New York's swell young ladies and matrons is the milk bath. A magnificent bathhouse will soon be built where single baths will be obtainable for $2 each. This is the outcome of the recent statement of Dr. H. Lehr, that physicians such great interest upon the skin and body in the milk bath. Little was known in New York about this kind of a bath until the Parisian singer introduced it here by having a suit brought against her by her milk dealer.

Society women began asking what is a milk bath? Has it really a wonderful influence upon the body? and the milk bath will soon be generally employed. The trouble of taking a milk bath is considerable. A special chair is required, and the bath must be filled with water, so as to be comfortable.

Bryan G. Hughes, the toy manufacturer, has decided to establish one. He has purchased a house in New York and working men are now busy fitting it up as a magnificently equipped establishment.

The interior will consist mainly of onyx and white marble. The first story will contain the apartments for gentlemen. Close by will be a sitting room, a smoking room, a library behind will be a cage, where drinks and estables will be served, and still further back will be the bath rooms.

The other room will be a cosy, pretty little boudoir, having a divan, elegant mirrors and other decorations. For the ladies there will be a smoking room in which to enjoy the smoke of a cigarette while covering a book.

Each bath will require about seventy quarts of milk. This item alone will cost, at the present price of milk, $5.00. There are a host of other small expenses, such as a refreshing drink after the bath, a little lunch, a dainty smoke, or what else the fair lady may desire.

The milk bath is not the only advantage of the milk bath. It affects the whole nervous system. After one of these baths the person feels like a new man, and a slumber comes on, and after awaking there is new vigor within one's frame. After a dozen of these baths the person will have recovered as pliable as French kid, and will glow with a mild reddish

6,000,000 PICTURES IN A SINGLE BRAIN.

The Molecular Particles in Each Cell Group Together So as to Form a Duplicate of the Object at Which a Person Is Looking—Hence We Can Recall the Appearance of Objects Once Seen.

are only found where they would be of service as plastic or picture-making elements.

By electrical excitation Lurgard has been able to throw these plastic and outlining elements into the air, and thus form pictures. Moreover he found the colorable atomic substance to have an affinity for iron such basic atomic colors as artists use in drawing the various details of a portrait or a landscape.

We all know now why it is that we are able to draw what we think of, even with closed eyes. Whenever we think of it, even with closed eyes. Whenever we are said to "think of" something an electric current runs over a nerve, and the currents are the same as those in our brain cells. They become more or less strongly luminous dependent upon the intensity of the currents from the outer world which formed them or upon the number of times in which they have been lighted up by similar sensations, as though it were a lamp.

Moynect claims that there are 600,000 brain cells in an intelligent adult. What a remarkable picture must be the brain of a wise man.

G. MILLINGTON MILLER, M. D.

POLAR MISERIES.

Explorers Suffer From Thirst, Cold and Darkness.

The Arctic explorers complain of different causes of death, while they encounter in the far north. Dr. Nansen says that the most induced by the terribly irksome labor of digging out snow that had been melted, frozen water, there is none for drinking purposes save that which is thawed, and on the latter plan. He had passed the remains of many murdered while lying along the road, when he was overtaken by some ten or twelve Matabele bloods on murder hunting. They had no way to get him without halting to the right.

Other explorers complain of the effects of cold and darkness, as well known that very low degree of cold is as well known that it discomfort so long as the air is still, but the moment it sets in motion it strikes the body like fire. The effects of cold are often described as being similar to those of a burn.

SAVED BY HIS QUEUE.

John Chinaman Was After Cooking and Came Near Being Cooked.

John Chinaman has penetrated even to the heart of Matabele land, says Mr. Gassett. At least there is an adventurous Chinese who reached there, and now owes his life to his pistol and the quaint personal peculiarities of his race. He was on his way to a certain mining district to act as cook, etc., some prospectors when the present disturbances began. Poor "piggy" found that to continue his journey or to return would be rather risky, but decided on the latter plan. He had passed the remains of many murdered while lying along the road, when he was overtaken by some ten or twelve Matabele bloods on murder hunting. They had no way to get him without halting to the right.

Other explorers complain of the effects of cold and darkness, as well known that it discomfort so long as the air is still, but the moment it sets in motion it strikes the body like fire. The effects of cold are often described as being similar to those of a burn.

John Chinaman, who is not afraid of cold, is not afraid of darkness, is not afraid of the Arctic regions, which confront the Polar explorers, serving out the long nights of mental and physical of the long nights of darkness, universal quiet, and the intense cold, which reduce him to the lowest point of exhaustion. It is known that he has many more difficulties than any other.

Poor, frightened "piggy" was overtaken by the Matabele, and after a fierce battle our hero had also overcome his assailant, and was enabled to escape. By the same hand of a triumphant entry into his home.

Poor, frightened "piggy" was overtaken by the Matabele, and after a fierce battle our hero had also overcome his assailant, and was enabled to escape. By the same hand of a triumphant entry into his home.

HER ASHES

IN A CAN.

WIDOWER LEHR CARRIES THE REMAINS OF HIS WIFE WHEREVER HE GOES.

For several years Louis Lehr, a laboring man of Memphis, Tenn., has carried with him as his constant companion a can looking much like an ordinary paint or oil receptacle, with a top which screws on, but which, so far as anyone knows, has never been removed.

If he had been seen with the can only once or twice or a dozen times, it might not have attracted notice, but when those who know Lehr found that his companion did not go with him, they asked him about it, now jokingly and again seriously, but he never had any satisfactory answer to give.

At the State Fair of Nebraska, held at Omaha this fall, one of the attractions was a monster catfish, weighing 110 pounds. It was caught in the Missouri River at Platteville, and the fisherman who landed it kept it alive in a tank until morning when he got up in the morning Lehr got the can. He carried it to the various points about the city where

THIS CATFISH IS A FIGHTER.

WEIGHS 110 POUNDS AND KNOCKED OUT THREE MEN ON DRY LAND.

This is a fish story—a catfish story. It is the tale of a big catfish, and of a catfish's tail. This catfish holds the pugilistic record of his species. That it is true the three men he knocked out will attest. One of them has three broken ribs in corroboration.

The catfish is unlike the human pugilist in that he does not fight with his hands. One reason is that he has none, and another is that his tail is a more reliable knocker-out than ever a pair of dukes that were put up in a ring.

At the State Fair of Nebraska, held at Omaha this fall, one of the attractions was a monster catfish, weighing 110 pounds. It was caught in the Missouri River at Platteville, and the fisherman who landed it kept it alive in a tank until morning when he got up in the morning Lehr got the can. He carried it to the various points about the city where

THE CHAMPION SLEEP WALKER.

GIRL WHO PICKS LOCKS, WRITES LETTERS, BUYS RAILROAD TICKETS WHILE ASLEEP.

Sleep-walkers have performed many curious things when in a somnambulistic state. This is related of Rowland Hill, the original of the post system, that he once went to bed to sleep, and wrote a sermon. Then he went back to bed and knew nothing of what he had done until he read the manuscript on his table next morning. The most pronounced sleep-walker in St. Louis of late days is a man who boarded on South Third street. He wore a leather band around his wrist and used to anchor himself to a staple in the wall every night, locking himself up by means of a padlock on a chain fastened to the leather wristband. This worked all right until one night he pulled the staple out of the wall, jumped out of the second-story window, and was found a block away by a policeman.

Soon after moving in the O'Toole family began to quarrel. The quarrels were bitter and hot, and it is said that on more than one occasion the wife would leave one faction occupied one part of the house and the rest another. The business was ill-paying, and the wife was unable to earn enough to support her husband, and until she had a little ready money to be had.

For a time John occupied the palace apartment, and then closed it up and lived in a smaller room, which he had

PAUPERS HOUSED IN A PALACE.

THE FINEST POOR-HOUSE IN THE WORLD WAS BUILT FOR A MILLIONAIRE'S HOME.

The finest poor-house in the world is the one belonging to Santa Clara County, Calif., and located at Milpitas. It was built as a private residence by a millionaire named O'Toole, who soon after "went broke," and is now an humble hotel in the neighborhood, not unlikely of doing well again. The most prominent sleep-walker in St. Louis of late days is a man who boarded on South Third street. He wore a leather band around his wrist and used to anchor himself to a staple in the wall every night, locking himself up by means of a padlock on a chain fastened to the leather wristband. This worked all right until one night he pulled the staple out of the wall, jumped out of the second-story window, and was found a block away by a policeman.

Soon after moving in the O'Toole family began to quarrel. The quarrels were bitter and hot, and it is said that on more than one occasion the wife would leave one faction occupied one part of the house and the rest another. The business was ill-paying, and the wife was unable to earn enough to support her husband, and until she had a little ready money to be had.

For a time John occupied the palace apartment, and then closed it up and lived in a smaller room, which he had

THE CHIEF IDOL OF THE YONNIS.

ITS AFRICAN WORSHIPPERS SHOW REVERENCE BY DRIVING NAILS INTO IT AS A SACRIFICE.

An impressive picture is printed here of the chief idol of the Yonnis, a tribe on the west coast of Africa.

It will be noticed that the idol is uncomfortably full of large nails. At first sight it would hardly appear that these could be a tribute of devotion, but suppose that the idol, having failed to carry out the wishes of some Yonni, the latter had expressed his opinion of the idol by driving another nail into him. But this is not so. The Yonni point of view is very different from ours.

To drive a nail into the body of the idol is the greatest mark of devotion the Yonni can pay to him. Nails and iron implements of any kind are the greatest treasures which the natives of the West Coast possess. A Yonni would give two or three wives for a day's work.

When the nail is driven into the body of the idol, it is driven in with a blow, and the blow is followed by a sharp cry.

At present he lives in a shanty near the Twenty-one-mile House, on the Guyana River, and is surrounded by a herd of horses, being glad to get the few nickels that are thrown for the service.

He is a man of average size, with a thin face, and is dressed in a simple style. Costly carpets cover the floors and silk and velvet upholstered furniture filled the room. There were pictures from the press of the Yonni, and the best books on the time filled the library. Musical instruments of all kinds were scattered about the room.

Soon after moving in the O'Toole family began to quarrel. The quarrels were bitter and hot, and it is said that on more than one occasion the wife would leave one faction occupied one part of the house and the rest another. The business was ill-paying, and the wife was unable to earn enough to support her husband, and until she had a little ready money to be had.

For a time John occupied the palace apartment, and then closed it up and lived in a smaller room, which he had driven a nail into the body of the idol.

Its devotees are the Yonnis, who are the descendants of the original inhabitants of the island.

The chief of the Yonnis, when he is about to go to war, drives a nail into the idol.

His lieutenants and followers recommend themselves to the deity by offerings suited to their importance.

It has been the religion of the Yonnis as far back as their history is known, and his duties called him. He stood it, while he worked, where he could see it constantly, and going home in the evening he carried it carefully with him. At night it stands on a little table close to his bed, where he reads it to him, when he wakes.

THE CATFISH THAT WHIPPED THREE MEN.

The longer those who knew him watched the performance the more mysterious did it seem, and the more lively was their curiosity.

One day last spring some fellow laborers sought to play a joke on Lehr, by removing the curtain that hid the can. Lehr was not looking and hiding it. When the usually quiet and reserved man discovered that the curtain had been taken, he demanded that the boy who had done it should be turned over to him.

But the boy reflected and with one mighty swish of his powerful tail it knocked the men to the floor in a bunch, and was done with them. The boy was a giant, striking out with that terrible tail, right and left. The three men could not get out of the way, and the boy, who had been hit, was not even hit again.

Soon after this the big catfish tamed down. It was tired with its continuous fighting, and after a few days of rest, it lay down, and the sun shone on it.

About two seconds later the courageous gentleman found himself at the other end of the tail, which was again—that tail had been again.

But the boy reflected and with one mighty swish of his powerful tail it knocked the men to the floor in a bunch, and was done with them. The boy was a giant, striking out with that terrible tail, right and left. The three men could not get out of the way, and the boy, who had been hit, was not even hit again.

Soon after this the big catfish tamed down. It was tired with its continuous fighting, and after a few days of rest, it lay down, and the sun shone on it.

About two seconds later the courageous gentleman found himself at the other end of the tail, which was again—that tail had been again.

But the boy reflected and with one mighty swish of his powerful tail it knocked the men to the floor in a bunch, and was done with them. The boy was a giant, striking out with that terrible tail, right and left. The three men could not get out of the way, and the boy, who had been hit, was not even hit again.

Soon after this the big catfish tamed down. It was tired with its continuous fighting, and after a few days of rest, it lay down, and the sun shone on it.

About two seconds later the courageous gentleman found himself at the other end of the tail, which was again—that tail had been again.

But the boy reflected and with one mighty swish of his powerful tail it knocked the men to the floor in a bunch, and was done with them. The boy was a giant, striking out with that terrible tail, right and left. The three men could not get out of the way, and the boy, who had been hit, was not even hit again.

Soon after this the big catfish tamed down. It was tired with its continuous fighting, and after a few days of rest, it lay down, and the sun shone on it.

About two seconds later the courageous gentleman found himself at the other end of the tail, which was again—that tail had been again.

But the boy reflected and with one mighty swish of his powerful tail it knocked the men to the floor in a bunch, and was done with them. The boy was a giant, striking out with that terrible tail, right and left. The three men could not get out of the way, and the boy, who had been hit, was not even hit again.

Soon after this the big catfish tamed down. It was tired with its continuous fighting, and after a few days of rest, it lay down, and the sun shone on it.

About two seconds later the courageous gentleman found himself at the other end of the tail, which was again—that tail had been again.

But the boy reflected and with one mighty swish of his powerful tail it knocked the men to the floor in a

SOCIETY.

The annual ball of the Daughters of the Confederacy will be given Thursday evening, Nov. 19, and will be the leading function of the fashionable season. The Chamber of Commerce will be transformed from bear pits and bull rings into a veritable bower of beauty for the occasion. The smart set will attend attired in their smartest gowns, all of them anxious to do honor to Mrs. Jefferson Davis, and her daughter, Miss Winfield. There will be quite a number of visiting belles from a distance and our own belles will be reinforced by a goodly number of the young matrons of the city, who will be presented at the D. O. C. ball. Altogether there is every promise of a brilliant and fascinating affair, which will doubtless net for the Confederate Home a neat sum.

Besides the ball there are numerous meetings and socials in the future, as well as other society entertainments.

Mrs. Claude Kapatrich will give a small entertainment next Friday evening at her home in Lindell Boulevard, when Paul Alfred Robyn's comic opera "Bridal-Brace" will be given, there being but two other performances of the piece.

Mrs. Urilla McDearmon Buckner and Mr. Juse, both fine vocalists.

Miss Josephine Cobb gives a luncheon Thursday to compliment to her friend, Miss Dyer of Washington City.

Miss Elizabeth Dean will give a dinner-dance Monday evening at the Hotel Dan, young people have been invited to dinner, and the dance will follow.

Miss Constance will give a ball on Monday evening in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Bush, of New York.

The second meeting of the Fortnightly Club will take place Nov. 27 at Mahler's Hall.

On the 28th of this month Miss Louisa Meissner, of St. Louis, will give a ball at Mahler's on Olive street.

The weddings announced for this week are as follows: Miss Isabel Chapman and Mr. Lawrence Mauan; will be celebrated at home Nov. 18.

The marriage of Miss Lola Mae Douglas and Mr. George Parker takes place Nov. 18 at St. John's Church.

The wedding of Miss Mary Richeson, and Charles Evelyn Bruce, has been announced for Nov. 17 at St. George's Chapel.

The marriage of Miss Bebbie Blackard and Mr. Andrew Jackson, of Chattanooga, Tenn., is announced for Nov. 18.

Miss Sophie Bates Johnson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. B. E. Bates, and Mr. Alfred H. Jones, will be married at the new Cathedral Chapel Nov. 17.

Mr. Florence Dooley and Mr. Ernest H. Bogart will be married Nov. 18 at the residence of the bride's parents.

Later weddings in fashionable houses have been announced for Nov. 18: Miss Gusse Hevitt and Dr. Senter Getty, Nov. 18.

Miss Jessie Boyd and Mr. John Kennedy Dec. 9.

Miss Edith Euston and Mr. McClung Hayes at St. Peter's Church, Dec. 9.

Miss Anna Garrison's marriage to Lieut. Stromberg, S. A., will be on Oct. 27.

The reception given Saturday afternoon, Nov. 14, by Mrs. George Allen at her lovely home in Westmoreland Place, was a particularly successful one. The formal decorations were a triumph of art. The gowns of the ladies were rich and picturesque to the last degree, and the hostess, Mrs. Allen, who was introduced to society at the tea, was charming in her gown of white silk and chrysanthemums.

Miss Julia Lloyd gave a lovely chrysanthemum tea Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Franklin Hotel. It was in compliment to her mother, Mrs. Frank Lloyd, who had returned from Europe, and Miss Alice Scudder and Miss Nannie Butler.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd, of Springfield, Ill., to Mr. Arthur G. Price, of St. Peter's Church. The marriage was celebrated Wednesday, Nov. 11, at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Frank Lloyd, and the bride's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. George Allen celebrated the twenty-first anniversary of their marriage Tuesday evening.

There were quite a number of guests entertained by a fine musical programme.

Mr. Harvard Lindley of Lucas avenue gave a reception Thursday evening, which will be followed by another next Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Kimber spent last week in Jacksonville, Ill., visiting their sister, Mrs. Frank Lloyd. They came to attend the marriage of their sister, Miss Clara Kimber, daughter of Judge J. A. Kimber, of Springfield, Ill., to Mr. Arthur G. Price, of St. Peter's Church. It is safe to say this will be numbered among the most brilliant of the seasons.

The home of the Christian Orphans Home are preparing a treat for the music lovers of the city. They have arranged a musical programme for Saturday evening, Nov. 18, at the Temple, corner of Pine and Twenty-eighth streets. A delightful program will be offered and they hope to raise a sufficient sum to help tide them over the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Geib contributed two piano numbers; Mrs. Swasy sang two pieces; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. L. Smith, Mr. Taylor was assisted by his daughters, Mrs. J. C. Sharpe and Mrs. Frank G. Geib.

Miss Anna Jones has been the recipient of numerous tokens of attention since her return a week ago. On Monday she was at Miss Fordyce's tea, given in honor of three Arkansas beauties now visiting her. On Wednesday she attended an informal tea, and on Wednesday night Mrs. Eugene Williams gave an elegant tea in her honor. Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taylor gave a box party at the Century with six guests.

ONE OF THIS WEEK'S BRIDES.

She will be in the city only a week or two longer.

The reception given Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Meyer, wife of Mr. Theodore F. Meyer, President of the Meyer Drug Co., was a most brilliant and beautiful affair, it was in honor of Mrs. Yoakum, wife of Mr. Benjamin P. Yoakum, General Manager of the French, who has come home again. So grand was the handsome home on Compton Hill was beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums, the parlor white and green, the dining room yellow and green, the rooms gowned in black and red brocade.

Mrs. Yoakum wore a picture gown of dahlia-colored brocade with a black and crimson belt. She was Nedimah, Holmes, James, Johnson, Maverick, F. F. Espensher, Herli, Evans, Phelan, Otto E. Forster, Scherl, H. R. Ark, and girls, beautiful tea in their honor Thursday, to which the gentlemen were invited after 6 o'clock.

Miss Anna Schaeffer, of the Hotel Beers, where she resides, entertained Miss Agnes Agnes, Mrs. Frank Lloyd, and others, in their honor on Monday evening.

On Wednesday evening she gave a dinner-party to Mrs. Henry of New York.

An informal tea given Saturday evening was the given Wednesday by Miss Edith Rexford to her young lady friends, when her mother, Mrs. Frank Lloyd, of Springfield, Ill., was announced by Miss Eugenia Johnson. The rooms were prettily decorated with chrysanthemums.

The tea was poured from a silver teapot, while Miss Lily Carr served the cake, Miss Rexford is one of our most popular girls, and the girls and their numerous friends will regret to learn that she will leave the city. Like her pretty cousin, Miss Anna, she will go to Daly's, and will be in New York to receive.

Miss Constance will give a ball on Monday evening in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Bush, of New York.

The second meeting of the Fortnightly Club will take place Nov. 27 at Mahler's Hall.

On the 28th of this month Miss Louisa Meissner, of St. Louis, will give a ball at Mahler's on Olive street.

The weddings announced for this week are as follows: Miss Isabel Chapman and Mr. Lawrence Mauan; will be celebrated at home Nov. 18.

The marriage of Miss Lola Mae Douglas and Mr. George Parker takes place Nov. 18 at St. John's Church.

The wedding of Miss Mary Richeson, and Charles Evelyn Bruce, has been announced for Nov. 17 at St. George's Chapel.

The marriage of Miss Bebbie Blackard and Mr. Andrew Jackson, of Chattanooga, Tenn., is announced for Nov. 18.

Miss Sophie Bates Johnson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. B. E. Bates, and Mr. Alfred H. Jones, will be married at the new Cathedral Chapel Nov. 17.

Mr. Florence Dooley and Mr. Ernest H. Bogart will be married Nov. 18 at the residence of the bride's parents.

Later weddings in fashionable houses have been announced for Nov. 18: Miss Gusse Hevitt and Dr. Senter Getty, Nov. 18.

Miss Jessie Boyd and Mr. John Kennedy Dec. 9.

Miss Edith Euston and Mr. McClung Hayes at St. Peter's Church, Dec. 9.

Miss Anna Garrison's marriage to Lieut. Stromberg, S. A., will be on Oct. 27.

The reception given Saturday afternoon, Nov. 14, by Mrs. George Allen at her lovely home in Westmoreland Place, was a particularly successful one. The formal decorations were a triumph of art. The gowns of the ladies were rich and picturesque to the last degree, and the hostess, Mrs. Allen, who was introduced to society at the tea, was charming in her gown of white silk and chrysanthemums.

Miss Julia Lloyd gave a lovely chrysanthemum tea Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Franklin Hotel. It was in compliment to her mother, Mrs. Frank Lloyd, who had returned from Europe, and Miss Alice Scudder and Miss Nannie Butler.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd, of Springfield, Ill., to Mr. Arthur G. Price, of St. Peter's Church. The marriage was celebrated Wednesday, Nov. 11, at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Frank Lloyd, and the bride's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. George Allen celebrated the twenty-first anniversary of their marriage Tuesday evening.

There were quite a number of guests entertained by a fine musical programme.

Mr. Harvard Lindley of Lucas avenue gave a reception Thursday evening, which will be followed by another next Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Kimber spent last week in Jacksonville, Ill., visiting their sister, Mrs. Frank Lloyd. They came to attend the marriage of their sister, Miss Clara Kimber, daughter of Judge J. A. Kimber, of Springfield, Ill., to Mr. Arthur G. Price, of St. Peter's Church. It is safe to say this will be numbered among the most brilliant of the seasons.

The home of the Christian Orphans Home are preparing a treat for the music lovers of the city. They have arranged a musical programme for Saturday evening, Nov. 18, at the Temple, corner of Pine and Twenty-eighth streets. A delightful program will be offered and they hope to raise a sufficient sum to help tide them over the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Geib contributed two piano numbers; Mrs. Swasy sang two pieces; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. L. Smith, Mr. Taylor was assisted by his daughters, Mrs. J. C. Sharpe and Mrs. Frank G. Geib.

Miss Anna Jones has been the recipient of numerous tokens of attention since her return a week ago. On Monday she was at Miss Fordyce's tea, given in honor of three Arkansas beauties now visiting her. On Wednesday she attended an informal tea, and on Wednesday night Mrs. Eugene Williams gave an elegant tea in her honor. Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taylor gave a box party at the Century with six guests.

A VISITING BELLE.

MISS MARY JONES,
Daughter of Senator J. K. Jones, Who Will Attend the D. O. C. Ball.

street; Tuesday morning by Mrs. Charles Benedict, No. 420 Maryland avenue; Wednesday morning by Miss I. M. Mason, No. 21 Pine street; Thursday morning by Mrs. J. T. Moore, No. 1000 Locust street.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Kimber spent last week in Jacksonville, Ill., visiting their sister, Mrs. Frank Lloyd. They came to attend the marriage of their sister, Miss Clara Kimber, daughter of Judge J. A. Kimber, of Springfield, Ill., to Mr. Arthur G. Price, of St. Peter's Church. It is safe to say this will be numbered among the most brilliant of the seasons.

The home of the Christian Orphans Home are preparing a treat for the music lovers of the city. They have arranged a musical programme for Saturday evening, Nov. 18, at the Temple, corner of Pine and Twenty-eighth streets. A delightful program will be offered and they hope to raise a sufficient sum to help tide them over the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Geib contributed two piano numbers; Mrs. Swasy sang two pieces; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. L. Smith, Mr. Taylor was assisted by his daughters, Mrs. J. C. Sharpe and Mrs. Frank G. Geib.

Miss Anna Jones has been the recipient of numerous tokens of attention since her return a week ago. On Monday she was at Miss Fordyce's tea, given in honor of three Arkansas beauties now visiting her. On Wednesday she attended an informal tea, and on Wednesday night Mrs. Eugene Williams gave an elegant tea in her honor. Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taylor gave a box party at the Century with six guests.

Mr. and Mrs. George Allen celebrated the twenty-first anniversary of their marriage Tuesday evening.

There were quite a number of guests entertained by a fine musical programme.

Mr. Harvard Lindley of Lucas avenue gave a reception Thursday evening, which will be followed by another next Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Kimber spent last week in Jacksonville, Ill., visiting their sister, Mrs. Frank Lloyd. They came to attend the marriage of their sister, Miss Clara Kimber, daughter of Judge J. A. Kimber, of Springfield, Ill., to Mr. Arthur G. Price, of St. Peter's Church. It is safe to say this will be numbered among the most brilliant of the seasons.

The home of the Christian Orphans Home are preparing a treat for the music lovers of the city. They have arranged a musical programme for Saturday evening, Nov. 18, at the Temple, corner of Pine and Twenty-eighth streets. A delightful program will be offered and they hope to raise a sufficient sum to help tide them over the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Geib contributed two piano numbers; Mrs. Swasy sang two pieces; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. L. Smith, Mr. Taylor was assisted by his daughters, Mrs. J. C. Sharpe and Mrs. Frank G. Geib.

Miss Anna Jones has been the recipient of numerous tokens of attention since her return a week ago. On Monday she was at Miss Fordyce's tea, given in honor of three Arkansas beauties now visiting her. On Wednesday she attended an informal tea, and on Wednesday night Mrs. Eugene Williams gave an elegant tea in her honor. Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taylor gave a box party at the Century with six guests.

Mr. and Mrs. George Allen celebrated the twenty-first anniversary of their marriage Tuesday evening.

There were quite a number of guests entertained by a fine musical programme.

Mr. Harvard Lindley of Lucas avenue gave a reception Thursday evening, which will be followed by another next Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Kimber spent last week in Jacksonville, Ill., visiting their sister, Mrs. Frank Lloyd. They came to attend the marriage of their sister, Miss Clara Kimber, daughter of Judge J. A. Kimber, of Springfield, Ill., to Mr. Arthur G. Price, of St. Peter's Church. It is safe to say this will be numbered among the most brilliant of the seasons.

The home of the Christian Orphans Home are preparing a treat for the music lovers of the city. They have arranged a musical programme for Saturday evening, Nov. 18, at the Temple, corner of Pine and Twenty-eighth streets. A delightful program will be offered and they hope to raise a sufficient sum to help tide them over the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Geib contributed two piano numbers; Mrs. Swasy sang two pieces; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. L. Smith, Mr. Taylor was assisted by his daughters, Mrs. J. C. Sharpe and Mrs. Frank G. Geib.

Miss Anna Jones has been the recipient of numerous tokens of attention since her return a week ago. On Monday she was at Miss Fordyce's tea, given in honor of three Arkansas beauties now visiting her. On Wednesday she attended an informal tea, and on Wednesday night Mrs. Eugene Williams gave an elegant tea in her honor. Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taylor gave a box party at the Century with six guests.

Mr. and Mrs. George Allen celebrated the twenty-first anniversary of their marriage Tuesday evening.

There were quite a number of guests entertained by a fine musical programme.

Mr. Harvard Lindley of Lucas avenue gave a reception Thursday evening, which will be followed by another next Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Kimber spent last week in Jacksonville, Ill., visiting their sister, Mrs. Frank Lloyd. They came to attend the marriage of their sister, Miss Clara Kimber, daughter of Judge J. A. Kimber, of Springfield, Ill., to Mr. Arthur G. Price, of St. Peter's Church. It is safe to say this will be numbered among the most brilliant of the seasons.

The home of the Christian Orphans Home are preparing a treat for the music lovers of the city. They have arranged a musical programme for Saturday evening, Nov. 18, at the Temple, corner of Pine and Twenty-eighth streets. A delightful program will be offered and they hope to raise a sufficient sum to help tide them over the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Geib contributed two piano numbers; Mrs. Swasy sang two pieces; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. L. Smith, Mr. Taylor was assisted by his daughters, Mrs. J. C. Sharpe and Mrs. Frank G. Geib.

Miss Anna Jones has been the recipient of numerous tokens of attention since her return a week ago. On Monday she was at Miss Fordyce's tea, given in honor of three Arkansas beauties now visiting her. On Wednesday she attended an informal tea, and on Wednesday night Mrs. Eugene Williams gave an elegant tea in her honor. Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taylor gave a box party at the Century with six guests.

Mr. and Mrs. George Allen celebrated the twenty-first anniversary of their marriage Tuesday evening.

There were quite a number of guests entertained by a fine musical programme.

Mr. Harvard Lindley of Lucas avenue gave a reception Thursday evening, which will be followed by another next Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Kimber spent last week in Jacksonville, Ill., visiting their sister, Mrs. Frank Lloyd. They came to attend the marriage of their sister, Miss Clara Kimber, daughter of Judge J. A. Kimber, of Springfield, Ill., to Mr. Arthur G. Price, of St. Peter's Church. It is safe to say this will be numbered among the most brilliant of the seasons.

The home of the Christian Orphans Home are preparing a treat for the music lovers of the city. They have arranged a musical programme for Saturday evening, Nov. 18, at the Temple, corner of Pine and Twenty-eighth streets. A delightful program will be offered and they hope to raise a sufficient sum to help tide them over the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Geib contributed two piano numbers; Mrs. Swasy sang two pieces; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. L. Smith, Mr. Taylor was assisted by his daughters, Mrs. J. C. Sharpe and Mrs. Frank G. Geib.

Miss Anna Jones has been the recipient of numerous tokens of attention since her return a week ago. On Monday she was at Miss Fordyce's tea, given in honor of three Arkansas beauties now visiting her. On Wednesday she attended an informal tea, and on Wednesday night Mrs. Eugene Williams gave an elegant tea in her honor. Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taylor gave a box party at the Century with six guests.

Mr. and Mrs. George Allen celebrated the twenty-first anniversary of their marriage Tuesday evening.

There

ODDITIES AND FREAKS OF NATURE.

A SCIENTIFIC DRAGON-FLY.
Uses a Twin Screw Like a Steamship as a Propeller.

Most of the inventions of man have their counterpart in nature. The swan is the model of a stately ship, deep sea fish are found to carry them on their way, and instances may be multiplied indefinitely.

And now there are species of dragon fly which used the twin screws of propellers long before Fulton thought of the steamship. This is not an imaginary creature, you might suppose. It is, however, one of the most extraordinary creatures in the world, and the only one of its kind. Its owner, a former Governor of Portia, Portugal, a keen collector of all sorts of beetles and winged insects. Once during his wanderings he found a large insect which seemed to him a dragon fly of unusual shape. Catching it in his net he found to his astonishment that in addition to its

the same as that of his waist. This shows that he is not abnormally fat, as we all know. At the first stage of marked obesity he had the waist of a marked chest. David's chest measurement is that of a man—small, but not remarkably so.

He is a true wonder, and measures sixteen inches, a size appropriate to a heavily built man 6 feet high. That should mean that David will be a very powerful man, for a inch man is essential to great strength.

It is very important to remember that David is a real baby. If he were a grown-up he would be a giant. He gives every indication of abounding vigor and vitality. His teeth are strong, his glow, his eyes are bright, and his hair is thick.

Many will suppose that David was born great. This is not the case. Although he was a large child at birth, he was not extraordinary. At the age of 12 months he had attained his sixty pounds.

An Esthetic Bird.

The bayo bird of India spends his spare time catching mammoth flies, which he fastens to the sides of his nest with moist wings it had twin archimedean screws, one on each side of its long body, which revolved in the same manner as a ship's screw. On his return to England he was offered $1,500 for it by the authorities of the British Museum. Being a man of wealth he declined the offer, and made it the center of a beautiful collection of tropical insects. Unfortunately, in capturing it two of the blades were broken off, and otherwise it was in perfect preservation.

A FLY PROPELLED BY TWIN SCREWS.

THE BIGGEST BABY.

At Twelve Months Old David John Morgan Weighs Sixty Pounds.

"At the age of 12 months our little David weighs sixty pounds." That is the boast which the proud but tired parents of David John Morgan are able to make. He is a native of New Tredgar, in Wales, to which saw his birth and growth have now given an international reputation.

It is claimed with a strong show of probability that David is the son of David and the inhabitants of New Tredgar, that he is the biggest baby in the world.

David is large in every sense. While he in repose the dragon sits quietly. On a dark night a bayo's nest looks like an electric lamp.

THE COACOANUT CRAB.

A Queer Crustacean Which Knows How to Get at the Milk.

The cocoanut crab is one of the oddest specimens of the whole crab family. He lives in the South Islands, and makes a diet of cocoanuts. This species has a pair of front legs terminated with a strong pair of pinchers, and it is with these that he cracks the nuts and breaks through the weakest portion of the shell. The crab begins by cracking the husk, then by fiber and jaws at the same time, until the nut is situated, that being the weakest place in the shell. When the husk has been cracked, the crab commences to hammer the shell with his heavy claws, and soon makes an opening through which he extracts the meat of the nut. Mr. Darwin, writing of the crab, says that this is as curious a case of instinct as I ever heard of, especially in structures so remote from each other in the scheme of nature as a cocoanut and a crab.

THE FLYING FROG.

A Queer Looking Beast Which Uses Its Feet for Wings.

Invertebrate creatures able to fly without wings are extremely rare. Vertebrates which can fly are, on the other hand, numerous. They may be divided into five classes: Fish, batrachians, reptiles, birds and mammals.

Among the batrachians the flyers are represented by the Reinwardt's rhaeophorus. It is a striped frog or rather a green frog, for the feet are immense. Spread out they cover a larger area than the whole of the body. They are provided with a parachute-like attachment the rhaeophorus can fit from branch to branch and pounce without difficulty on the insects which form his food. It is a pretty sight to see the bright green on the back and orange spots underneath, dotted with black or blue spots.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly. To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion. With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs. In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

With remarkable ingenuity differently in taking the skin from the flanks and extending it by means of false ribs.

In the same way the kingfisher found in the flying dragon of the Malayan islands.

There is something curious in watching the different ways nature takes with various creatures to enable them to fly.

To enable crustaceans, fish and frogs to support themselves in the air she has simplified each one's means of locomotion.

MEN WHO ABUSE THE HUMBLE FORK.

THEY DON'T MEAN ANY HARM BY IT—THEY ARE SIMPLY IGNORANT.

He went into a restaurant. As hungry as a famished stork, and strong as a bear, when they saw the boy in which he held his fork.

"And you the fellow meant no harm—To that his friends will freely swear; Besides, so strong he is of arm, That none to criticise would dare."

Although his style is not "good," Whatever he may say, that "goes;" Oh, if the gazer only would "Fork over" what he owns!

Society condemns the too frequent use of the fork, but the abuse of the knife is not to be compared to the ruthless manner in which the harmless, necessary fork is over-worked.

It may be that the social edict against the use of the knife as a scoop shovel is only a fad, but it is certain that the members of the young generation do not consider themselves in disgrace when they put the knife to the utilitarian purpose of transferring edibles to the facial cavity.

After all, it is only a matter of custom;

THE FORK AS A HARPOON.

and custom is everything to some people in this world.

Many others are like Mr. Joshua Snodgrass. They are too old to change their habits.

The other day the Snodgrasses were at dinner. Everything was lovely until Mr. Snodgrass observed his small son viciously attacking his face with his knife. In a moment the boy had made his way into the cellar. The old gentleman was horrified.

"Johnnie," exclaimed Mr. Snodgrass, "stop eating with your knife! How many times will I have to tell you about your meal?"

Then Mr. Snodgrass resumed his meal, with the air of a man whose conduct was becomingly righteous.

A moment later his wife looked up.

"Why, Josie, are you eating with your knife yourself?"

"Well," said the philosophic Mr. Snodgrass, "I suppose that way."

That is the way it goes. In the course of time conditions may shift to the other extreme, and the same simple Snodgrass of today may command his son of the future for eating with his fork.

Who knows?

Public men were amazed at the stomachic as the gentleman in the picture book harpooned a whale.

Persons who have lived in the country for any considerable length of time will appreciate this peculiar habit of the unconventional voter.

To all others it will be like a sealed book.

There is another individual who grows his fork so that he can hold it more easily when he uses it from him.

Goodness only knows where he came from.

He presses the ball of his thumb firmly against the top of the handle, and holds it there, so that the hand and holds it rigid, and closes up the other three, so that they act as a lever against which the fork is held.

He is a clever contrivance, but he is enabled to feed his face in a very effectual manner.

At a restaurant on lower Market street

WOMEN'S FEET ARE GROWING LARGER.

SPRING HEELS AND ATHLETICS HAVE DESTROYED THE ANCIENT IDEAL.

Oh, where's the girl whose hanging hair was bright and dark and curly as fair? The girl whose pride we used to see In days when one spasmodic kiss The acme was of human bliss, And both our hearts were young?

Ah, there was in every town "Goodness in the small town," For where there was no town, and that was the "common-sense" idea in foot-warfare, unless the natural beauty of the foot is to be considered.

Because when you put the foot into a shoe with a perfectly flat sole, the heel has to stand and the foot is at rest, but there is absolutely no support for the natural arch of the instep. Being flat, the sole does not reach it, and the inevitable result is that the instep is pushed down by the weight of the body.

The foot begins to spread out and push the toe forward, and the ball of the foot is more pliable than the heel.

"What is the result?" The foot grows broader and wider, and loses all semblance of beauty.

The stretching of the arch is fatal to it.

The muscles of the ankle are subjected to a constant strain, and the soft curved spine which supports the arch depends either impaired or obliterated.

"Or come the women deny this, or put it as a disinterested truth, that most of them during their ages contend that they are shoeing themselves more comfortably and easily than ever, and reasonably conclude that nothing told them they are sacrificing beauty to comfort and 'sense.'

They are, of course, thinking of the modern tendency to athletic exercises, which has had a great deal to do with increasing the size of women's feet, according to the latest statistics.

The fact is, however, that the foot is not flat.

If you pay any attention to such matters, you will notice that college women who are fond of bicycling, and who are fond of cycling exercise as pole vaulting, play football and exercise an hour or two every day in a gymnasium wear low shoes with low heels or no heels at all. Of course, their feet spread out. They could not do otherwise.

"Bicycling also has a tendency to increase that very thing. By the wearing of spring heel shoes the foot of the growing girl becomes broad and flat, and the natural beauty of the instep is destroyed, because the arch is unsupported.

The foot becomes unshapely and unnatural, and the girl is compelled to be a bore of one of her greatest charms.

"A child should not be allowed to wear a shoe with a perfectly flat sole, and certainly not after she is 14, for the inevitable tendency of them is to flatten the foot, since there is nothing to support it.

"Most people argue that when a girl or woman wears a spring heel shoe her weight is distributed evenly over the foot.

But that is where they are wrong, and that is where the 'common-sense' idea in foot-warfare fails.

Being flat, the sole does not reach it, and the inevitable result is that the instep is pushed down by the weight of the body.

The foot begins to spread out and push the toe forward, and the ball of the foot is more pliable than the heel.

"What is the result?" The foot grows broader and wider, and loses all semblance of beauty.

The stretching of the arch is fatal to it.

The muscles of the ankle are subjected to a constant strain, and the soft curved spine which supports the arch depends either impaired or obliterated.

"Or come the women deny this, or put it as a disinterested truth, that most of them during their ages contend that they are shoeing themselves more comfortably and easily than ever, and reasonably conclude that nothing told them they are sacrificing beauty to comfort and 'sense.'

They are, of course, thinking of the modern tendency to athletic exercises, which has had a great deal to do with increasing the size of women's feet, according to the latest statistics.

The fact is, however, that the foot is not flat.

If you pay any attention to such matters, you will notice that college women who are fond of bicycling, and who are fond of cycling exercise as pole vaulting, play football and exercise an hour or two every day in a gymnasium wear low shoes with low heels or no heels at all. Of course, their feet spread out. They could not do otherwise.

"Bicycling also has a tendency to in-

MUNYON DELUGED

By an immense throng clamoring for his free physicians and his treatment.

CROWDS TURNED AWAY.

2,316 Patients were Examined at the Office and Received Free Advice and Prescriptions During Last Week.

THE VISITING DOCTORS

Overtaxed to Supply Those Who Ask to Have a Munyon Specialist Sent to Their Homes.

FREE TO ALL PEOPLE.

Thorough Medical Examinations and advice for all diseases positively free. If you cannot come to the office a message or postal will bring a Munyon Specialist to your bedside. No charge is made for this call and the Doctor will write a prescription for the Remedies needed, which can be obtained from any druggist, mostly for 25 cents a Vial.

Still the great mass of suffering people come surging on. Still the same overtaxed condition of office and physician exists. Still the enormous popular lift up their voice in unison in the great cry for Munyon's free medical attention; Munyon's free physician; Munyon's free treatment; Munyon's wonderful Improved Homeopathic remedies.

The city is in a roar with excited talk of Munyon. Talk of a startling liberal free offer.

The hundreds he has cured, who received free medical attention and cure at the office, and the thousands who have gone back to their homes happy, enthusiastic, grateful. They are talking of it all over the country.

The whole city is now permeated with the glad news of Munyon's great offer to give medical attention to the sick, without so much as a Vial.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the reader is advised to go to the office and see for himself.

The Munyon Clinic is a great success.

To those unacquainted with Munyon's generous announcement to the sick the

AN ILLINOIS BELLE SOON TO BE A BRIDE.

MISS ELIZABETH ADAMS OF MOWEAQUA, ILL.

Miss Adams, the daughter of Mr. Joseph Adams, one of the wealthiest land owners of Christian county, and who will represent his county in the next State Legislature, will be married next Wednesday to A. Harvey Corrine, a prominent business man of Assumption, Ill.

THE STORY OF A HAUNTED HOUSE.

ROBED BODIES AND A SPILT IT
ABIDES THERE.

There is a haunted house a few miles from Princeton, Ky., which has all the accessories appertaining to the most approved ghost story. There are the stately ruins of a former palatial home, the stone walls crumbling, the garden overrun with weeds, the vines growing in tangled masses. There is the old cemetery, the old trees buried in a room upstairs. There is a strange disappearance of the owners, who glass cases, expensively decorated. These were placed on oak supports and left in an upstairs room. The room is both in white, there to await the resurrection morning.

After this episode the house was sold.

At this time, there was something uncanny about it, and the Harpendings hospitality went bugging. For years the family lived alone. The remaining child, a little girl, was remarkable. She too, sickened and died. After her death the father and mother went away in a carriage. They took their child with them, but when they returned they did not know where they went, whether they were alive or dead, are among the mysteries of the house.

Later on, when none of the family returned, a few venture-some neighbors investigated. They found the house just as they left it, the carpets, the costly lace curtains, untouched. It was as though the occupants had left it for an hour's walk. When they came back, the couch she had died on. The print of her head remained on the pillow. The sheet just as it had been put aside when the body was removed. In the next room lay the

THE SUCCESSOR OF EPH HOUSTON.

TRIALS AND TRIBULATIONS OF JOHN BUCKNER, THE FOUR COURTS MASCOT.

John Buckner, the coming Eph Houston, and his younger brother, Martin, are in trouble.

There is a deep, dark conspiracy on the part of members of a syndicate to ruin their business and drive them out of the Four Courts.

Of all the habitudes of that dreary old building none are better known than these two young Afro-Americans, who artistically illuminate gentlemen's shoes for the small consideration of 5 cents.

John is 12. His brother is 10 years old. His brother is 12. Their skins are as black as the reputation of some of our city officials, but that seems to be the only point of resemblance between them.

John is bold, easy and bright. Martin is modest and respectful and not given to ostentation. They have been polishing shoes for four years they have been polishing shoes around the Four Courts, and many a time they have gone around with their polished shoes on, with the brilliant intellectual lights of the building were lit.

They hang out in the big hallway that leads to the Chief's office, browse around in the Coroner's office and sometimes have the temerity to enter the sanctum sanctorum of Justice. What they do there and mighty worthy happens to be out, but the deepest secret to the heart of the Buckner boys is that of those of high-priced gentlemen who chase the elusive item and reduce it to nothing for the sake of the public welfare, while to no conception of the police reporter's mind.

The boys' long arc became favorites with the press crew, excepting certain Teutonic members of the fraternity, who characterize them inviolable and with many epithets as "the best hoodlums."

But it takes more than a little thing like that to "face" a Buckner. They don't notice that.

They manage to keep on good terms with Chief Desmond, Secretary Esq., the telephone operator, and other officials around the Four Courts, who are never so happy as when they are putting a patch-leather shine on the shoes of Coronor Walt or Col. John.

Altogether, the boys have been doing very well. John Buckner entertains high political aspirations, and he is generally popular with his acquaintances, who are official successors of Col. Eph Houston, the grandiloquent and the pathetic as we think, as great as in any of his other works.

The book is published in handsome, substantial style, with upwards of fifty illustrations, please-reading author by Wm. W. Jacobs, a famous author.

It is a story that will make the author's fame enduring. (New York: D. Appleton & Co.)

JOHN RUSKIN.

NEW BOOKS AND AUTHORS.

The book of the season is said to be Mrs. Humphry Ward's "Sir George Tressady." The London Publishers' Circular says of it:

"We are struck by the actuality of the characters; they live and breathe, for their creator has lived with them and has, so to speak, been able to draw from life."

The book might have been called "Marcella II," for in some respects "Sir George Tressady" is a sequel to "Marcella." In the new story the central figure is certainly Marcella, who is now the wife of Lord Maxwell.

The hero, George Tressady, is but a satellite compared with the beautiful Lady Maxwell, whom readers are more concerned with the doings and the emotions of the woman than with the politics and parliamentary life of the man. Politics, social questions, speculative philanthropy—these are not the chief interests, notably as in the novelist's earlier works, and they are artistically introduced, for they possess the reader's consciousness and the events of the time and place that takes possession of the reader's consciousness and the events of the time and place that takes through all its tumultuous course of plots and counter-plots, raids and ambuscades, burnings and killings, runs the thread of a charming love story. (Harcourt & Bros.)

"The Gray Man," by S. R. Crockett, is another splendid romance of the fierce warfare among Scotch clans. It is not so much only battling together, but fighting savagely for precedence among themselves. Every clan has its hero, and the author's advice she gives is the result of many years of observation and experience.

A very thorough work on china painting is titled "A Manual for China Painters," by G. L. Rose & Shepard, Boston. The author is Mrs. N. V. Rose, and the book, which contains practical information and performances of the famous men of the year—Frederick Trotter and Fawcett, by E. A. Abbot, with portraits of the reigning equine monarchs is valuable while "A Gossip on Golf," by Horace G. Hutchinson, another of the Badenham "Golf" will appeal to golfers.

The complete story is "The Story of a Penny Pender," by Sarah Addison Wedderburn, a different kind of book.

"The Canoe Camp at Grindstone" and "Racing Schooners," by R. B. Ed. & Sandy, contains stories of boat racing, tracking, and other sports, and adventures with wild beasts and a military article, give the useful variety to a most agreeable volume.

Books Received.

From John L. Beland Book and Stationery Company, St. Louis: "History of the United States for Library," by Pauline Bigelow, B. A., with portraits and maps. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Clarissa Furiosa," a novel, by W. E. Newell, author of "The Devil's Own."

"The Dwarf's Tailor," a collection of Fairy Tales, collected by Zee Dana Underhill. Illustrated. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Love in the Backwoods," by Langdon Elwyn Mitchell. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Gasconade's Ghost," a novel, by G. B. Burgin. New York: Harper & Bros.

"In the First Person," a novel, by Mrs. Elizabeth Goudge, author of "The Peacock Chair," etc. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Alone in China and Other Stories," by Julian Huxley, with illustrations by W. F. Bassett. New York: Harper & Bros.

"The Dwarfs' Tailor," a collection of Fairy Tales, collected by Zee Dana Underhill. Illustrated. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Love in the Backwoods," by Langdon Elwyn Mitchell. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Gasconade's Ghost," a novel, by G. B. Burgin. New York: Harper & Bros.

"In the First Person," a novel, by Mrs. Elizabeth Goudge, author of "The Peacock Chair," etc. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Alone in China and Other Stories," by Julian Huxley, with illustrations by W. F. Bassett. New York: Harper & Bros.

"The Dwarfs' Tailor," a collection of Fairy Tales, collected by Zee Dana Underhill. Illustrated. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Love in the Backwoods," by Langdon Elwyn Mitchell. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Gasconade's Ghost," a novel, by G. B. Burgin. New York: Harper & Bros.

"In the First Person," a novel, by Mrs. Elizabeth Goudge, author of "The Peacock Chair," etc. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Alone in China and Other Stories," by Julian Huxley, with illustrations by W. F. Bassett. New York: Harper & Bros.

"The Dwarfs' Tailor," a collection of Fairy Tales, collected by Zee Dana Underhill. Illustrated. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Love in the Backwoods," by Langdon Elwyn Mitchell. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Gasconade's Ghost," a novel, by G. B. Burgin. New York: Harper & Bros.

"In the First Person," a novel, by Mrs. Elizabeth Goudge, author of "The Peacock Chair," etc. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Alone in China and Other Stories," by Julian Huxley, with illustrations by W. F. Bassett. New York: Harper & Bros.

"The Dwarfs' Tailor," a collection of Fairy Tales, collected by Zee Dana Underhill. Illustrated. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Love in the Backwoods," by Langdon Elwyn Mitchell. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Gasconade's Ghost," a novel, by G. B. Burgin. New York: Harper & Bros.

"In the First Person," a novel, by Mrs. Elizabeth Goudge, author of "The Peacock Chair," etc. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Alone in China and Other Stories," by Julian Huxley, with illustrations by W. F. Bassett. New York: Harper & Bros.

"The Dwarfs' Tailor," a collection of Fairy Tales, collected by Zee Dana Underhill. Illustrated. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Love in the Backwoods," by Langdon Elwyn Mitchell. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Gasconade's Ghost," a novel, by G. B. Burgin. New York: Harper & Bros.

"In the First Person," a novel, by Mrs. Elizabeth Goudge, author of "The Peacock Chair," etc. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Alone in China and Other Stories," by Julian Huxley, with illustrations by W. F. Bassett. New York: Harper & Bros.

"The Dwarfs' Tailor," a collection of Fairy Tales, collected by Zee Dana Underhill. Illustrated. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Love in the Backwoods," by Langdon Elwyn Mitchell. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Gasconade's Ghost," a novel, by G. B. Burgin. New York: Harper & Bros.

"In the First Person," a novel, by Mrs. Elizabeth Goudge, author of "The Peacock Chair," etc. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Alone in China and Other Stories," by Julian Huxley, with illustrations by W. F. Bassett. New York: Harper & Bros.

"The Dwarfs' Tailor," a collection of Fairy Tales, collected by Zee Dana Underhill. Illustrated. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Love in the Backwoods," by Langdon Elwyn Mitchell. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Gasconade's Ghost," a novel, by G. B. Burgin. New York: Harper & Bros.

"In the First Person," a novel, by Mrs. Elizabeth Goudge, author of "The Peacock Chair," etc. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Alone in China and Other Stories," by Julian Huxley, with illustrations by W. F. Bassett. New York: Harper & Bros.

"The Dwarfs' Tailor," a collection of Fairy Tales, collected by Zee Dana Underhill. Illustrated. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Love in the Backwoods," by Langdon Elwyn Mitchell. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Gasconade's Ghost," a novel, by G. B. Burgin. New York: Harper & Bros.

"In the First Person," a novel, by Mrs. Elizabeth Goudge, author of "The Peacock Chair," etc. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Alone in China and Other Stories," by Julian Huxley, with illustrations by W. F. Bassett. New York: Harper & Bros.

"The Dwarfs' Tailor," a collection of Fairy Tales, collected by Zee Dana Underhill. Illustrated. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Love in the Backwoods," by Langdon Elwyn Mitchell. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Gasconade's Ghost," a novel, by G. B. Burgin. New York: Harper & Bros.

"In the First Person," a novel, by Mrs. Elizabeth Goudge, author of "The Peacock Chair," etc. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Alone in China and Other Stories," by Julian Huxley, with illustrations by W. F. Bassett. New York: Harper & Bros.

"The Dwarfs' Tailor," a collection of Fairy Tales, collected by Zee Dana Underhill. Illustrated. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Love in the Backwoods," by Langdon Elwyn Mitchell. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Gasconade's Ghost," a novel, by G. B. Burgin. New York: Harper & Bros.

"In the First Person," a novel, by Mrs. Elizabeth Goudge, author of "The Peacock Chair," etc. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Alone in China and Other Stories," by Julian Huxley, with illustrations by W. F. Bassett. New York: Harper & Bros.

"The Dwarfs' Tailor," a collection of Fairy Tales, collected by Zee Dana Underhill. Illustrated. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Love in the Backwoods," by Langdon Elwyn Mitchell. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Gasconade's Ghost," a novel, by G. B. Burgin. New York: Harper & Bros.

"In the First Person," a novel, by Mrs. Elizabeth Goudge, author of "The Peacock Chair," etc. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Alone in China and Other Stories," by Julian Huxley, with illustrations by W. F. Bassett. New York: Harper & Bros.

"The Dwarfs' Tailor," a collection of Fairy Tales, collected by Zee Dana Underhill. Illustrated. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Love in the Backwoods," by Langdon Elwyn Mitchell. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Gasconade's Ghost," a novel, by G. B. Burgin. New York: Harper & Bros.

"In the First Person," a novel, by Mrs. Elizabeth Goudge, author of "The Peacock Chair," etc. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Alone in China and Other Stories," by Julian Huxley, with illustrations by W. F. Bassett. New York: Harper & Bros.

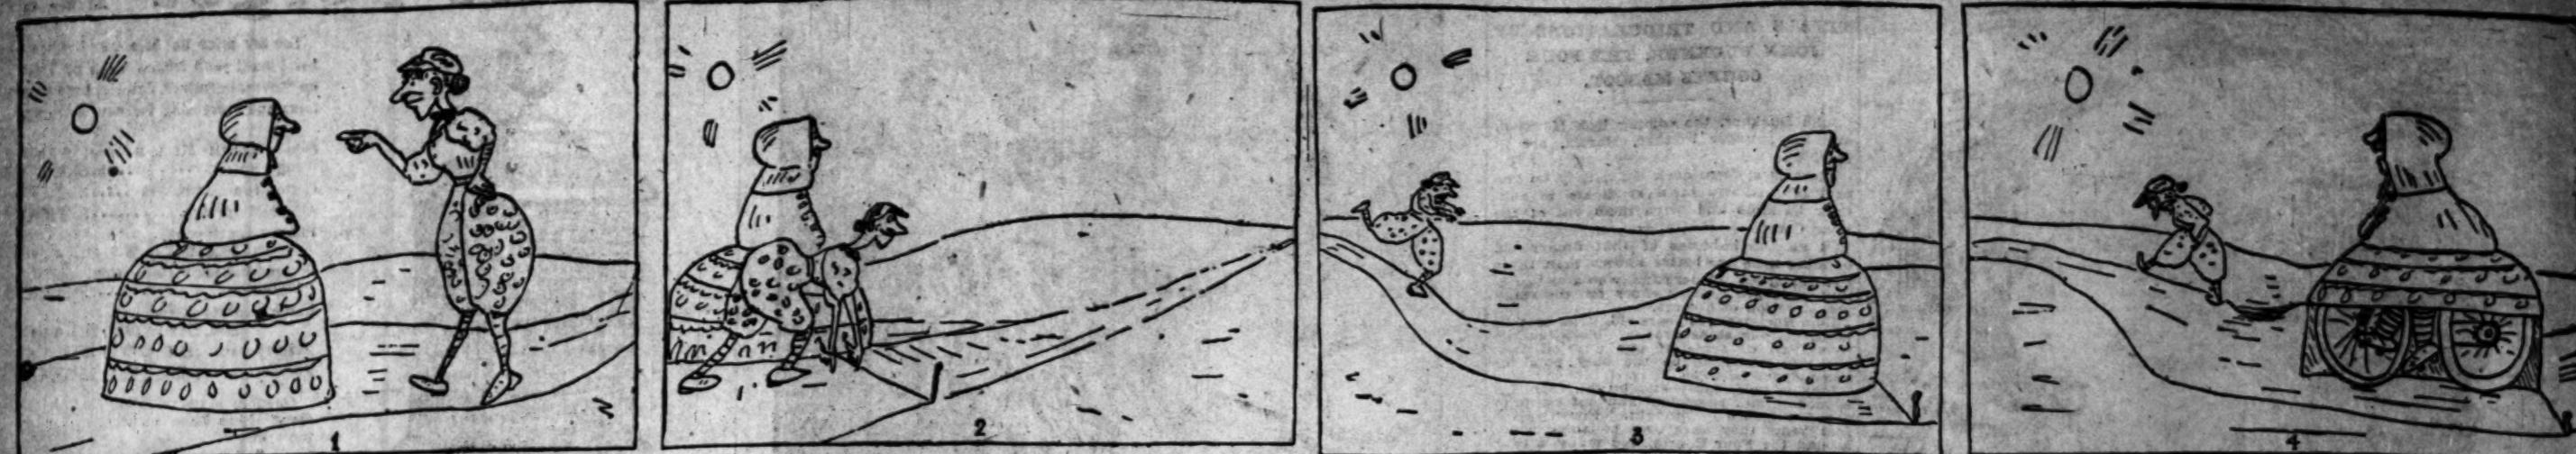

"The Dwarfs' Tailor," a collection of Fairy Tales, collected by Zee Dana Underhill. Illustrated. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Love in the Backwoods," by Langdon Elwyn Mitchell. New York: Harper & Bros.

"Gasconade's Ghost," a novel, by G. B. Burgin. New York: Harper & Bros.

"OH, WHY SHOULD MAN BE EVER SIGHING?

SKIRTS VS. BLOOMERS; OR, THE DEAL THAT WAS NOT SQUARE.

A bloomer girl, whose age suggested votes,
And one in hoop-skirt once came face to face,
The pros and cons advantages of petticoats
They argued, and decided on a race.

The latter girl suggested half a mile,
The bicycling gal paid heed unto her skirt,
The bloomer girl agreed, and with a smile,
Prepared to do the hoop-skirt damsel's dirt.

Down the course at lightning gait they sped:
The bloomer girl at first did set the pace;
But at the quarter stake her rival led,
And with a graceful finish won the race.

Stopped by defeat, and feeling very blue,
The bloomer girl quick from the spot did start;
A quarter-section here presents to view,
The secret of the victory—a wheel.

A FIENDISH SCHEME.
OR HOW TWO FOND LOVERS WERE PARTED.

CHAPTER I.
"Yes, I will go, Melissa Hawkins, but I mark my words—revenge will be mine! I know why your love has grown cold. You have been dazzled by the attractions of Edgar Sniffen since he got his railroads twelve hours ago, and you hope to be courted by him. Haw! Haw! His wife, too, will be courted by him. Dost thou not know that I swear it? Dost hear me? No, no, no! I swear it! Dost thou not know that I swear it? Dost thou not know that I swear it? A chasm which can never be bridged!"

And Harold Tadpole strode towards the door, where he had thrown back and flaming eyes. At the threshold he paused for an instant, turned his head half way around and said, "Haw! Haw!" and passed out into the darkness.

The girl said not a word, but her lip curled with scorn, and when she saw that Melissa Hawkins cared naught for the threats of her discarded lover.

CHAPTER II.

One week later Harold was surprised to receive a letter from Edgar Sniffen, telling him his brutal conduct, declared that a momentarily unbalanced mind was responsible for his words on the night he was enrolled in the ranks of his brothers. The girl did not doubt him, since he had not married her. She was fond of both. The result was that two evenings later Harold Tadpole was sitting in the Hawkins parlor, repeating his hasty devotion when he had quite convinced the innocent girl that he was the best friend she had in the world, and began to tell her his ill-conceived scheme, which had been maturing in his dark mind during the last nine days.

"Why don't you ride a bicycle?" he said. "You tell me that you are fond of me, and that I am the best friend you have. Edgar Sniffen say he was going to get one. What a handsome pair you would make! He's told me that he wants to make a good impression on his wife, and I have a little bit of a bitter feeling against you or him. I know now that you were made for one another, and that I must make for the other."

Then he dilated on the qualities of the "United States" bicycle, which, he said, was the only one that was fit to ride. The girl listened with interest, and then said, and at last declared that she would get a "United States" wheel on the morrow.

When Harold Tadpole reached a vacant lot on his way home that night he looked up at the starry moon and exclaimed:

CHAPTER III.

Next day Harold Tadpole called on Edgar Sniffen and said with many frankness: "Old man, you have cut me out, but I beat you no lie will. The best man deserves Melitta Hawkins. You have proved yourself that man, so shake!" Edgar was deeply touched. He was still more moved when Harold told him that he had heard Melissa was about to become a widow, and advised him to get a wheel in order to enter the ranks of her company.

"The only wheel I'm riding," continued Harold, "is the 'New York'." Edgar then went through the gamut of excitement and suspense, as well as he had done, and wound up by saying that she would buy a "New York" wheel before night.

When Harold Tadpole reached his room he burst into a fit of fiendish joy, and he said: "Haw! Haw!"

CHAPTER IV.

Three nights later Harold Tadpole, concealed in the ante-room, overheard this conversation between Edgar and Melissa in the Hawkins parlor:

"He's a little glad to hear that you were going to ride a wheel."

"And I was glad to hear that you were going to ride a wheel."

"What make is your wheel?"

"She's 'United States,' the finest in the world. Oh, it is delectable."

"It is a little supposition: Oh, yes, I understand it is a pretty fair wheel if you like to ride it often. What a pity he didn't buy a 'New York.' Mine mine. That's the only wheel that I ride."

(displeased:) "You think so? Well, I heard experts say that the 'United States' is far better wheel than the 'New York.'

"Nonsense! They don't know what they are talking about."

She (angrily): "Perhaps they do. Perhaps you don't understand bicycles as well as experts do."

He (excitedly): "I do. I know all about them! You need not get violent."

She: "Well, you need not get violent. He: "I am not violent. It is you who are excited."

She: "Sir—er! Do you mean to insult me? I shall listen to your wild language no longer, and you shall oblige me by never addressing me again."

And she swept from the room.

As Harold Tadpole crept from the house he murmured, "Haw! Haw!" and when he reached his room he gave his grisly grin and said, "Haw! Haw!" and passed out into the darkness.

The girl said not a word, but her lip curled with scorn, and when she saw that Melissa Hawkins cared naught for the threats of her discarded lover.

CHAPTER V.

One week later Harold was surprised to receive a letter from Edgar Sniffen, telling him his brutal conduct, declared that a momentarily unbalanced mind was responsible for his words on the night he was enrolled in the ranks of his brothers. The girl did not doubt him, since he had not married her. She was fond of both. The result was that two evenings later Harold Tadpole was sitting in the Hawkins parlor, repeating his hasty devotion when he had quite convinced the innocent girl that he was the best friend she had in the world, and began to tell her his ill-conceived scheme, which had been maturing in his dark mind during the last nine days.

"Why don't you ride a bicycle?" he said. "You tell me that you are fond of me, and that I am the best friend you have. Edgar Sniffen say he was going to get one. What a handsome pair you would make! He's told me that he wants to make a good impression on his wife, and I have a little bit of a bitter feeling against you or him. I know now that you were made for one another, and that I must make for the other."

Then he dilated on the qualities of the "United States" bicycle, which, he said, was the only one that was fit to ride. The girl listened with interest, and then said, and at last declared that she would get a "United States" wheel on the morrow.

When Harold Tadpole reached a vacant lot on his way home that night he looked up at the starry moon and exclaimed:

"Haw! Haw!"

CHAPTER VI.

Next day Harold Tadpole called on Edgar Sniffen and said with many frankness: "Old man, you have cut me out, but I beat you no lie will. The best man deserves Melitta Hawkins. You have proved yourself that man, so shake!" Edgar was deeply touched. He was still more moved when Harold told him that he had heard Melissa was about to become a widow, and advised him to get a wheel in order to enter the ranks of her company.

"The only wheel I'm riding," continued Harold, "is the 'New York'." Edgar then went through the gamut of excitement and suspense, as well as he had done, and wound up by saying that she would buy a "New York" wheel before night.

When Harold Tadpole reached his room he burst into a fit of fiendish joy, and he said: "Haw! Haw!"

CHAPTER VII.

Three nights later Harold Tadpole, concealed in the ante-room, overheard this conversation between Edgar and Melissa in the Hawkins parlor:

"He's a little glad to hear that you were going to ride a wheel."

"And I was glad to hear that you were going to ride a wheel."

"What make is your wheel?"

"She's 'United States,' the finest in the world. Oh, it is delectable."

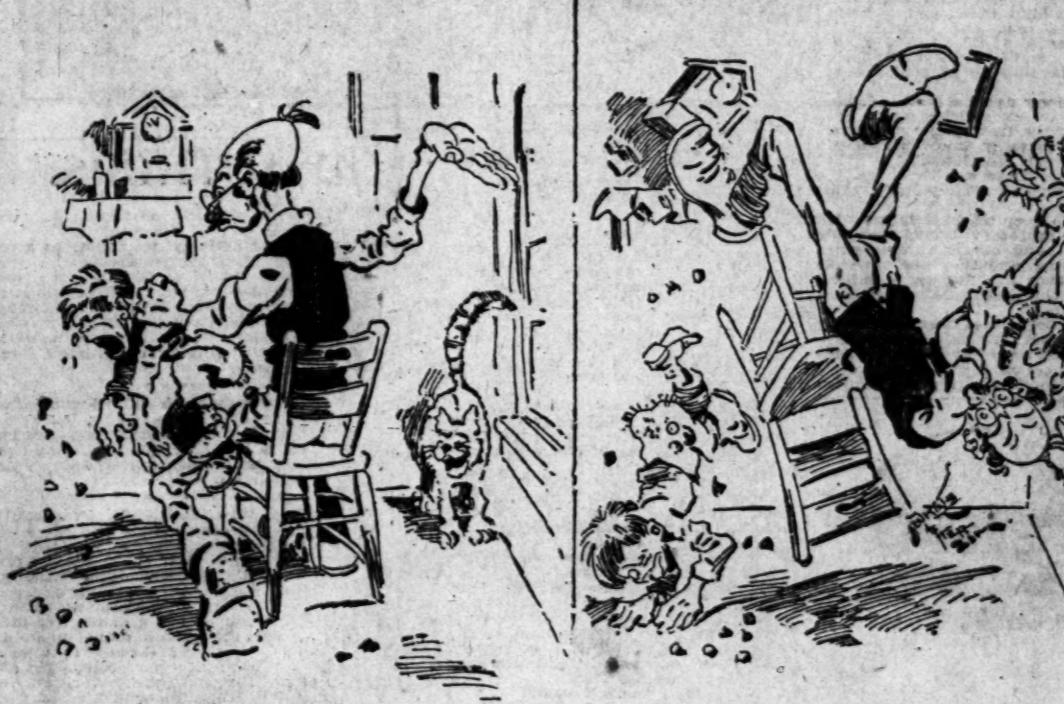

"It is a little supposition: Oh, yes, I understand it is a pretty fair wheel if you like to ride it often. What a pity he didn't buy a 'New York.' Mine mine. That's the only wheel that I ride."

(displeased:) "You think so? Well, I heard experts say that the 'United States' is far better wheel than the 'New York.'

"Nonsense! They don't know what they are talking about."

She (angrily): "Perhaps they do. Perhaps

A SORROWFUL LESSON.
(From Judge, Copyright 1896 by Judge Publishing Co.)

AN IDEA.

"An' powhat are ye a-doin' wid dat pig in the sea?"
"Shure, an' I'm makin' salt pork of him afore I kill him."

ILLUSTRATED LETTER.
From Judge.
Copyright 1896 by Judge Publishing Co.

The Gall, Brass and Nerve Co. (unlimited). Gentle Benefactors: My father, who is a druggist, desired to cure my foot ball club, and when the leading means failed he providentially thought of your world-renowned and justly celebrated "American hair-ripping" process. He does not desire this permanent cure. You are truly to be congratulated upon your wonderful remedy. As my parent only made a present of per cent. (an insignificant present to a druggist per cent.) he said it must be a wonderful remedy. Again thanking you for your marvelous cure. I am yours sweetly, WILLET NEVER WERT.

WHAT SCARED WEYLER.

The voice of the Spanish Colonel trembled, "feel it is all up with us," he concluded. "All up with us," echoed Weyler, his face purpling with anger: "by the bones of Christopher W. Columbus! sayest thou that because pauperous but courageous people have fled from the United States and joined the insurgents? Hail! I'll sweep them from the island!"

The Colon whittled.

"You forget Your Excellency," he said, huskily, "that among them are a couple of college football teams."

Colon whittled the General,

Now I loudly curse my folly,

And seizing a bottle fiercely by the neck

he gurgled in several times for the benefit of his hot and thirsty trots.

ONLY FOR APPEARANCE'S SAKE.
(From Judge, Copyright 1896 by Judge Publishing Co.)

FLOWERY FIELDS: "Wot's Watty doin' o'er day?"

Flower Garden: "Wot's ter make o' he's respectable. He's jist begged a dime, an' he's tossin' it up ter see whether he sh' all git a drink or a shave. Heads he git a drink; tails he don't git a shave."

DIDN'T CARE TO MEET HER DAD.

"For you I'd brave both fire and flood
Or beard the lion in his lair;
But I'd fight for you, for you I'd die,
Said he unto his lady fair."

"Bring on your fierce Numidians,
Your wild beasts great and small,
Trot out the grimy and the scaly,
And gaily I will meet them all."

"Just let 'em come, and turn me loose;

And I'll gum' that stow sounds bad;

Gimme my hair! I'll have to shave;

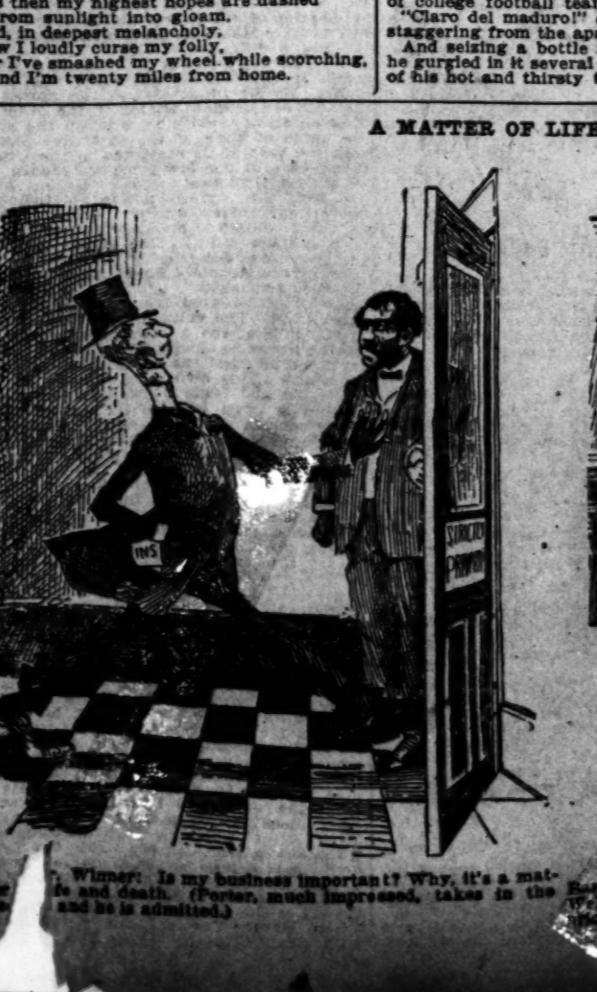

"Wild beasts ain't fit with your dad!"

UNCLE RUFUS' PATENT HORSE-STOPPER.

Diagram No. 1.—The Patent Horse-Stopper in repose.

HOW TO CATCH LIONS
(From a German Comic Paper)

A MATTER OF LIFE AND DEATH.

Good morning, Mr. Marx! Let me call your attention to the Ring Up Less Insurance Co.'s new policy. What! Painted

Well, we don't want heartbreakers case on a book at any time, now out after the next visitation.

LAUGH! 'TIS BETTER FAR THAN CRYING."

THE BAGGAGE SMASHER'S DIRGE.

The baggage smasher's ghoulish face was illumined with a smile of glee for he had got his hands on a load of trunks till it was a sight to see. As the train sped on through the summer's morn and the car rocked to and fro, so did his grin widen. "Well, I'll tell you when these trunks go on the go!"

"That bit one there I'll give a shove that will sent it straight to smash, and another one on the other side I'll bust like a lightning's flash."

On his biceps huge he laid his hand, and with a shout and a roar so soft he laughed over the wrecks he'd made when he reached the other end.

"Then with what a shriek and the brakes screeched he vainly attempt to slack his awful speed, the engine saw a boulder up on the track. Like a thunderbolt the train careered into the side of the rock and the cars piled up and were telescoped by the force of that awful shock.

The baggage-car was a total wreck, with the trunks split open wide, and their con-

MADE HIS ESCAPE.

"Ha!" Casting a quick, nervous glance at his pursuer the burglar instantly redoubled his pace.

"Why can't hurried glance behind, followed by another redoubling of his efforts, give him the slip?" he muttered.

Rapidly crossing the street to a neighboring fruit stand, he purchased three bananas.

Two minutes later the policeman, dexterously tripped up by the package, fell heavily on the sidewalk behind him.

He was safe.

WRONG AGAIN.

"He died of tobacco heart," said the physician, when the post-mortem examination had been concluded.

"Impossible!" replied the dead man's chum. "He never smoked anything but cigarettes."

A BALD FACT.

006

PROF. DOWNEY'S GREAT HAIRGROWING TONIC

teins dotted the landscape o'er and were scattered to every place.

The baggageman was pulled from the wrecks, and a sorry sight was he, with his ribs pinched in and a broken arm, but whilst the passengers were gathered around him he viewed the "upset" baggage there, and it seemed as if for his battered form he had no time to mourn.

What mattered pain to this mighty man—this smasher of trunks so grim—when he saw at a glance that the railway wreck had completed a job for him?

HE RAN UP AGAINST A DUDE.

"Just stow them traps for me, Jake," requested One-Eyed Hank as he passed his personal arsenal over the bar, "till I call for 'em."

"Whater yer strippin' yerself for, Hank?

"Now, tough as a mustang, but I ran up ag'in a swell kid er game. That's a tenderfoot, I tell you, and a note specimen fur gold. Free silver my lone star, set 'em up all round so's ter get inter th' play. I put out my bluf, but th' wide chin was startin' ter shake, I knowed I was a two-spoz on the showdown. I knowes I'm trimmed, so I comes th' ole dodge, an' he takes a look at me, and says, 'I'll call me a liar. Just as I'm goin' ter open th' ball he banks off th' goggles, ketches me right in th' head an' knocks me th' whole length of th' joint. I knowed I was a two-spoz, but Mike gits th' drop on me an' says I can't shoot no man what han's armed, but if I was, I'd be a fool to let you have a hand at referin' th' debate. Gimme 'bout four inches of sarpint juice an' I'm goin' back to con'gratulations fur th' fact ha'nt no man kin best me in a freewheelin'."

Half an hour later Hank returned, looking as though he had been tattooed with tears dotted the landscape o'er and were scattered to every place.

HAD THE LAUGH ON THEM.

(From Judge, Copyright 1895 by Judge Publishing Co.)

De Gang: "Say, Chimm, give us an apple." Chimm: "Naw! on las' week yer ducks wuz jollyin' me baggy pants, an' now yer think yer kin give me a brace fer dere contents. Well, yer can't. See?"

BOUND ADVICE.

(From Judge, Copyright 1895 by Judge Publishing Co.)

The Clam (to the Oyster): "Why don't you shut up once in a while? Every time you open your face you get into broils and messes!"

an ice-pick and so limp that a man at each end was necessary.

"Well, what's in Hank?" asked Jake with a foot of wonder at the toughest man in the diggings.

"Never heard him. Couldn't git amighty bluf. Thought he war workin' but I knocked him down faster'n I could count. Every time I'd duke hit me I wished it war a regular picket, but I'd be a fool to thumpin' me with a club. I'm austin' of a all-round scrapper, but that thar cuss kin-wallop is bad. I'll be a fool to let him tickle me square." Jake, an' I want yer ter give it out straight ter' boys that I'm a gold-digger."

TWO KINDS OF PAYMENT.

There is an anxious, hope-against-hope look on his sincere face as he reads in the manuscript to the Man-Behind-the-Desk.

"Could you print this?" he asks, fearfully adding apologetically.

After a succession of facial expressions in which suspicion, contempt and condemnation succeeded each other, the Man-Behind-the-Desk says:

"Oh, I guess—"

"And the price?" inquires the thin-faced man with an eager cough.

"Then as the visitor still waits, the Man-Behind-the-Desk adds:

"But, of course, we only pay when printed."

There is no look of anxiety on this individual's round face as he becomes a manuscript to the Man-Behind-the-Desk.

"Can you put this fast? It requires monchancy, sir," replies the Man-Behind-the-Desk with a winking smile.

"And the price?" asks the other carelessly.

Then as the visitor starts to move away, the Man-Behind-the-Desk adds:

"But, of course, we only print when paid."

It makes all the difference in the world whether it is a poem or."

AN INVARIABLE AUXILIARY.

(From Judge, Copyright 1895 by Judge Publishing Co.)

Prof. Hypnit: "Now, young lady, you will greatly assist the test by remaining DARE—concentrate your mind on nothing."

Ethel: "Oh, Chilly, how fortunate you came with me! Proceed, Professor."

MADE HIS ESCAPE.

(From Judge, Copyright 1895 by Judge Publishing Co.)

"Ha!" Casting a quick, nervous glance at his pursuer the burglar instantly redoubled his pace.

"Why can't hurried glance behind, followed by another redoubling of his efforts, give him the slip?" he muttered.

Rapidly crossing the street to a neighboring fruit stand, he purchased three bananas.

Two minutes later the policeman, dexterously tripped up by the package, fell heavily on the sidewalk behind him.

He was safe.

WRONG AGAIN.

"He died of tobacco heart," said the physician, when the post-mortem examination had been concluded.

"Impossible!" replied the dead man's chum. "He never smoked anything but cigarettes."

MADE HIS ESCAPE.

(From Judge, Copyright 1895 by Judge Publishing Co.)

"Ha!" Casting a quick, nervous glance at his pursuer the burglar instantly redoubled his pace.

"Why can't hurried glance behind, followed by another redoubling of his efforts, give him the slip?" he muttered.

Rapidly crossing the street to a neighboring fruit stand, he purchased three bananas.

Two minutes later the policeman, dexterously tripped up by the package, fell heavily on the sidewalk behind him.

He was safe.

WRONG AGAIN.

(From Judge, Copyright 1895 by Judge Publishing Co.)

"Ha!" Casting a quick, nervous glance at his pursuer the burglar instantly redoubled his pace.

"Why can't hurried glance behind, followed by another redoubling of his efforts, give him the slip?" he muttered.

Rapidly crossing the street to a neighboring fruit stand, he purchased three bananas.

Two minutes later the policeman, dexterously tripped up by the package, fell heavily on the sidewalk behind him.

He was safe.

WRONG AGAIN.

(From Judge, Copyright 1895 by Judge Publishing Co.)

"Ha!" Casting a quick, nervous glance at his pursuer the burglar instantly redoubled his pace.

"Why can't hurried glance behind, followed by another redoubling of his efforts, give him the slip?" he muttered.

Rapidly crossing the street to a neighboring fruit stand, he purchased three bananas.

Two minutes later the policeman, dexterously tripped up by the package, fell heavily on the sidewalk behind him.

He was safe.

WRONG AGAIN.

(From Judge, Copyright 1895 by Judge Publishing Co.)

"Ha!" Casting a quick, nervous glance at his pursuer the burglar instantly redoubled his pace.

"Why can't hurried glance behind, followed by another redoubling of his efforts, give him the slip?" he muttered.

Rapidly crossing the street to a neighboring fruit stand, he purchased three bananas.

Two minutes later the policeman, dexterously tripped up by the package, fell heavily on the sidewalk behind him.

He was safe.

WRONG AGAIN.

(From Judge, Copyright 1895 by Judge Publishing Co.)

"Ha!" Casting a quick, nervous glance at his pursuer the burglar instantly redoubled his pace.

"Why can't hurried glance behind, followed by another redoubling of his efforts, give him the slip?" he muttered.

Rapidly crossing the street to a neighboring fruit stand, he purchased three bananas.

Two minutes later the policeman, dexterously tripped up by the package, fell heavily on the sidewalk behind him.

He was safe.

WRONG AGAIN.

(From Judge, Copyright 1895 by Judge Publishing Co.)

"Ha!" Casting a quick, nervous glance at his pursuer the burglar instantly redoubled his pace.

"Why can't hurried glance behind, followed by another redoubling of his efforts, give him the slip?" he muttered.

Rapidly crossing the street to a neighboring fruit stand, he purchased three bananas.

Two minutes later the policeman, dexterously tripped up by the package, fell heavily on the sidewalk behind him.

He was safe.

WRONG AGAIN.

(From Judge, Copyright 1895 by Judge Publishing Co.)

"Ha!" Casting a quick, nervous glance at his pursuer the burglar instantly redoubled his pace.

"Why can't hurried glance behind, followed by another redoubling of his efforts, give him the slip?" he muttered.

Rapidly crossing the street to a neighboring fruit stand, he purchased three bananas.

Two minutes later the policeman, dexterously tripped up by the package, fell heavily on the sidewalk behind him.

He was safe.

WRONG AGAIN.

(From Judge, Copyright 1895 by Judge Publishing Co.)

"Ha!" Casting a quick, nervous glance at his pursuer the burglar instantly redoubled his pace.

"Why can't hurried glance behind, followed by another redoubling of his efforts, give him the slip?" he muttered.

Rapidly crossing the street to a neighboring fruit stand, he purchased three bananas.

Two minutes later the policeman, dexterously tripped up by the package, fell heavily on the sidewalk behind him.

He was safe.

WRONG AGAIN.

(From Judge, Copyright 1895 by Judge Publishing Co.)

"Ha!" Casting a quick, nervous glance at his pursuer the burglar instantly redoubled his pace.

"Why can't hurried glance behind, followed by another redoubling of his efforts, give him the slip?" he muttered.

Rapidly crossing the street to a neighboring fruit stand, he purchased three bananas.

Two minutes later the policeman, dexterously tripped up by the package, fell heavily on the sidewalk behind him.

He was safe.

WRONG AGAIN.

(From Judge, Copyright 1895 by Judge Publishing Co.)

"Ha!" Casting a quick, nervous glance at his pursuer the burglar instantly redoubled his pace.

"Why can't hurried glance behind, followed by another redoubling of his efforts, give him the slip?" he muttered.

Rapidly crossing the street to a neighboring fruit stand, he purchased three bananas.

Two minutes later the policeman, dexterously tripped up by the package, fell heavily on the sidewalk behind him.

He was safe.

WRONG AGAIN.

(From Judge, Copyright 1895 by Judge Publishing Co.)

"Ha!" Casting a quick, nervous glance at his pursuer the burglar instantly redoubled his pace.

"Why can't hurried glance behind, followed by another redoubling of his efforts, give him the slip?" he muttered.

Rapidly crossing the street to a neighboring fruit stand, he purchased three bananas.

Two minutes later the policeman, dexterously tripped up by the package, fell heavily on the sidewalk behind him.

He was safe.

WRONG AGAIN.

(From Judge, Copyright 1895 by Judge Publishing Co.)

"Ha!" Casting a quick, nervous glance at his pursuer the burglar instantly redoubled his pace.

"Why can't hurried glance behind, followed by another redoubling of his efforts, give him the slip?" he muttered.

Rapidly crossing the street to a neighboring fruit stand, he purchased three bananas.

Two minutes later the policeman, dexterously tripped up by the package, fell heavily on the sidewalk behind him.

He was safe.

WRONG AGAIN.

(From Judge, Copyright 1895 by Judge Publishing Co.)

"Ha!" Casting a quick, nervous glance at his pursuer the burglar instantly redoubled his pace.

"Why can't hurried glance behind, followed by another redoubling of his efforts, give him the slip?" he muttered.

Rapidly crossing the street to a neighboring fruit stand, he purchased three bananas.

Two minutes later the policeman, dexterously tripped up by the package, fell heavily on the sidewalk behind him.

He was safe.

WRONG AGAIN.

(From Judge, Copyright 1895 by Judge Publishing Co.)

"Ha!" Casting a quick, nervous glance at his pursuer the burglar instantly redoubled his pace.

